Faculty

Nothing will better serve to bring back memories of your years at Placerita than this yearbook. In both word and picture it will remind you, in the years to come, of a happy time in your life. It will bring back recollections of friendships, events, teachers, a period of your life that had elements of fun, work, joy, sadness, accomplishment - and above all, a feeling of pride - pride in your school, and pride in yourself. To the people who have produced this yearbook, my thanks and appreciation. All of us will be indebted to you for providing us with a visually descriptive link to these junior high years. It is my hope and wish that this yearbook will make certain that you never forget Placerita . . . and at the same time it insures that Placerita will never forget you.

Leading the way

for a successful year was the fine administrative staff led by Mr. Mike Shuman. He was assisted by Mr. Jim Tanner, whose duty it was to see to the everyday routine of running the school. Keeping busy in student management was our Dean, Mr. Kirk Alger, whose office was often the busiest spot in school. Helping solve students' problems were the ever busy counselors who were extra busy this year trying to smooth out the problems of the new "open registration." Always on hand with a smile and assistance, no matter how high the paper work stacked, was the talented staff of secretaries.

Placerita's patient counselors were kept busy soothing out parent/student problems, guiding and counseling anxious students and generally doing what they could to keep Placerita a happy place to be. Filling these demanding positions were Mrs. Virginia Lind, ninth grade counselor, Mr. Frank Nogales, eighth grade counselor and Mrs. Judy Webber, seventh grade counselor.

Seasoned travelers through the maze of education were on hand to guide an advise. The faculty reinforced this year by 6 new teachers, and assisted by four outstanding aids, helped Miners find their way through the hazards of the school year. Ms. Cabrera PAGE 22 (soon to be Mrs. Starr) reverses the order and hands John Van Brunt last minute advice for fulfilling his responsibility for the success of the Winter Concert. Mr. Capra, BELOW the picture of patience, explaining again . . . while Mrs. "Sam" and Sue Sharp work out a problem together.

Faculty faces were seen in every phase of school life. Students soon found that teachers were not only eager to answer serious question but were also only too ready to join in any fun to be had. Mr. Hottle ABOVE LEFT was caught in a serious discussion, but Mrs. Tyler and Mr. McGrath ABOVE were right in the middle of the Christmas fun, and Mrs. Smith LEFT found a most unusual method for making Spanish more interesting.

Eager educators (otherwise known as busy teachers) managed to keep exactly that way during the fast-moving 1974-75 school year. The multi-dutied Placerita staff often wished for an extra pair of hands - or more hours to a day, and yet managed to offer extra time for special Miner activities - and always with a smile.

Helping hands from very special people lent very special solutions for many problems of the students. The I.R.C., managed by Mrs. Robertson, was one of the most popular places on campus for both academic and recreational purposes. Assisting Mrs. Robertson in keeping things running smoothly were Mrs. Tardiff, Assistant Librarian and Mrs. Stanley, Aide. Other very helpful people at Placerita were Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Tindel, and Mrs. Rosenbrook. At the semester break, Miners were happy to welcome two new, and much needed teachers, whose extra helping hands and special talents were quickly put to good use.

Miner mirth seemed to often come the loudest from wherever the ninth grade congregated. Candid shots reveal that not all was drill and grind for high school, but laughter and fun was often the order of the day.

Eighth grade miners

proved to be the most numerous in 1974-75. The class, totaling 430, filled the class rooms to the bursting point. The middle students made their presence known in every facet of campus life. A group of 8's BELOW sit attentively through an assembly. Jeff Pennala BOTTOM LEFT enjoyed Spanish class, and Colleen Waters LEFT found a cool place to study math.

Clay Bishop and Alan Cole LEFT take a moment to laugh it up, but Mike Blanchard BELOW spends many serious moments in concentration with speech therapist, Donna Bell

Moments from the past year when life seemed simpler may have been remembered by the eighth grade students. But moments of challenges to be met soon erased all but the present from active minds. Missy Foster PAGE 57 reflects a light hearted moment in the flash of a dimple and smile.

Seventh grade

Students soon found their places in Placerita campus life. In every phase of school activities, and in every corner of the campus, the new Miners made themselves known. A group of seventh grade students OPPOSITE gave full attention to the happenings at the Hart High musical assembly.

A new beginning was made by many new Miners as they found the going not so rough as they had been led to believe. Minor miners provided a study in varied personalities as they went about the business of doing what they did best - being themselves. In contrast, Sherry Scott ABOVE RIGHT was all serious student - at least for that moment.

Spirited seventh grade students showed their brains and enthusiasm in class. It looked like everyone knew the answer. Memorable moments of life in seventh grade were stored up by the smallest Miners as they faced each new challenge of jr. high. Each day, and each new experience offered a new gain in confidence and growth for the newest members of PJH. Nervous but confident, the seventh grade choir LEFT performed beautifully at the fall musical. Steve Bacon, PAGE 74 showed nothing but confidence as he attacked his school work, and Diane Sertic happily finished up an English Project.

Student body

activities were planned by the student government. President Bobbie Butler and Vice President Tammy Jackson, aided by the student council were largely responsible for the successful school year. In addition to the offices of President and Vice President the council consisted of the office of Secretary, held by Diana McAdams, and Treasurer, held by Greg Hammermeister. Rounding out the governing body were the class representatives and representatives from each campus organization. On hand to advise and guide was Mr. Alger, advisor.

Sounds of music filled the air around PJH as the band students practiced morning, noon and night for two highly successful concerts, and it often seemed the music filled the air simply because they liked to make music. Under the leadership of Mr. Christian, the music students showed rare dedication to their art, and gave Miners real reason to be proud of their bands.

Concert band: rows 1-9, front to back: T. Dixon, J. Nason, J. Drew, G. Deaton, G. Norton, T. Lowe, T. Jackson, S. Skidmore, K. Saathoff, R. Beasley, B. Montjar, J. Gall, L. Worden, M. Rich, K. Stage band: left to right and front to back: L. Worden, K. Schantz, B. Montjar, J. Schmizu, K. Griffiths, D. Watkins, A. Sawada, J. Drew, T. Dixon, J. Nason, G. Deaton, P. Chaplin, T. Lowe, T. Jackson, S. Skidmore, K. Saathoff, R. Beasley, S. White, J. Sipotz, Mr. Christian, J. Schiano, R. Brown, P. Shallert

The sedate formal scene shot at the Winter concert contrasts sharply with the scene of chaos taken while the marching band got into formation. Actually, what looked like chaos, was a carefully planned maneuver that put the band members right on target for their precision marching.

Beginning Chorus: top to bottom, left to right: D. Holland, S. Tanner, C. Monday, L. Keller, L. Klehn, G. Carle, K. Horton, C. Gunderson, J. Word, Lorrie Laux, A. Mickelson, C. Jones, J. Hillard, J. Girls Chorus BELOW is identified on page 81.

Music, music, music was easily the most common theme song at PJH 74-75, as students from all three grade levels flocked to music classes to learn the joy of creating beautiful harmony. Three choruses, all led by Mrs. Starr, had a successful and much appreciated year.

Advanced Chorus: left to right and top to bottom: . Van Brunt, P. Mickelson, F. Morrison, B. Ivie, R. Brown, G. Broman, T. Crescenti, M. Brandt, V. Kemsley, M. Mitchell, D. Denton, C. Zimmerman, K. Ordway, K. Gauer, S. Menninger, D. O'Shea, G. Noler, C. Shoemaker, T. Frankoin, P. Koeck, T. Koons, C. Yeah, D. Bequette, K. McDonald was the key note at PJH in 74-75. There was something for every interest - not only for those actively participating, but for those out there cheering the teams on - and there were always plenty of fans at every event. Coach Phillips, who tended toward excitability during football games, gave some terse advice to one of the Miner team members.

Girls Chorus: Top to bottom and left to right: C. Perry, G. Kaiser, L. Cole, D. McAdam, K. Stover, K. Klein, M. Scholtes, D. McAdams, K. Kassen, T. Loch, V. Stanecliffe, L. Endean, V. Catlin, T. Lang, T. Mallory, L. Craig, J. Gibbs, M. Bowman, A. Goddard, T. Raper, Mrs. Starr, K. Boskovich, J. Santillan, H. Fernandez, C. Dixon, J. Mitchell, T. Jolley, L. Huss, K. McFarlin, J. Volkman.

Variety in sports

The photographer, who tended toward excitability during wrestling matches, had a difficult time getting a clear picture of the Miner mat men in action. Take a guess for yourself as to who is who in the tangle of human pretzels.
