Facets

Facets. On a diamond facets are the flat surfaces cut into the stone to form that perfect shape. Without these cuts the diamond would only be a stone. Facets in our lives are phases. Each phase represents a number of different sides which come together and form a whole. Saugus is filled with facets ranging from learning in the classroom to the excitement of a football game, from food at Del Taco to artistic expression. Come with us as we explore the facets of Saugus High.

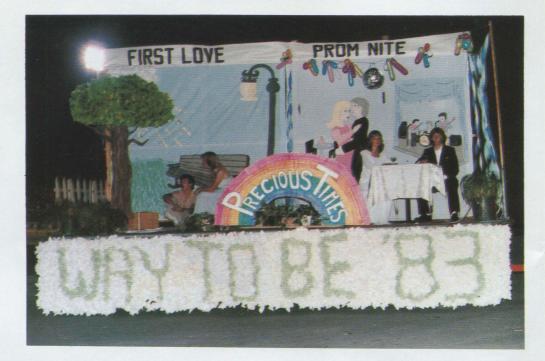

Throughout our school years we encounter many people. Within the massive crowd of acquaintanances, we have chosen a few individuals to be our close friends. There is at least one fortunate person who you love to argue with, but could never survive long and tedious classes without. Who else could listen to your soap-opera like problems and offer a smile?

Throughout all the joys, tears, laziness, and neverending insanity of high school, our friends help us survive ... if nothing else, they give us a reason to come to school!

Homecoming

6 — Homecoming

Months of planning and final weeks of feverish activity were climaxed by Homecoming week. Activities featured a "tourist day" in which many spirited Centurions showed their creativity as tourists. After Saugus emerged victorious over Palmdale, students and alumni alike attended the dance. As its theme suggested, Homecoming 1981 was truly a "Precious Time," especially for Queen Julie Fortenberry and King Brian Hicks.

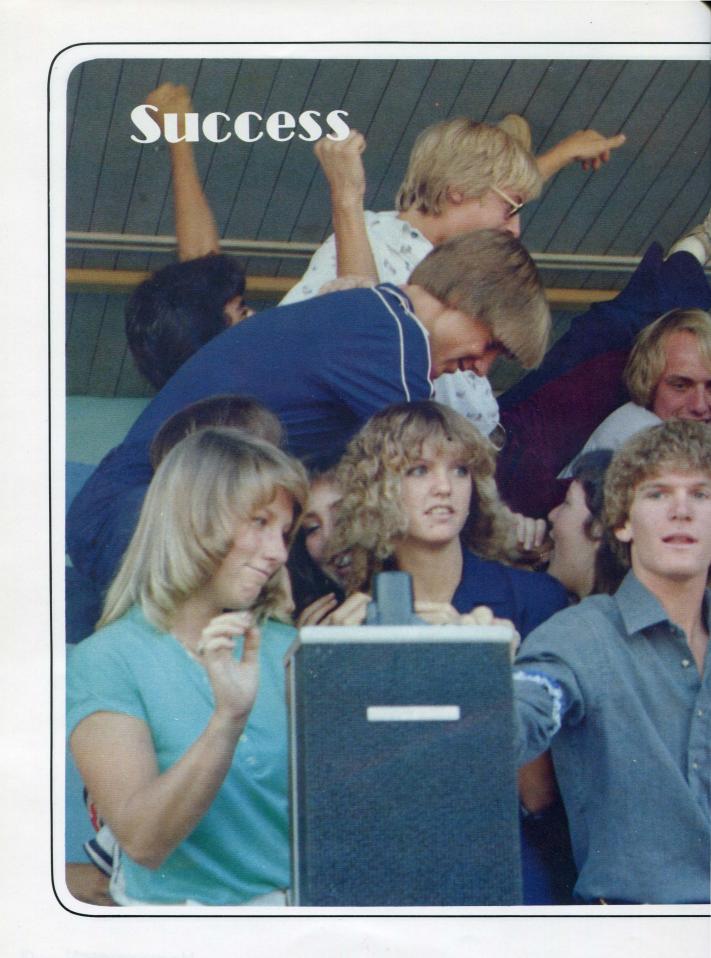

I to r: Nancy Wanjon, Steve Potter, Wendy Bradshaw, John Brooks, Maria Sipka, John Parks, Carrie Churchill, Randy Hansen, Queen Julie Fortenberry, King Brian Hicks.

Success — the attainment of a goal. Having coped with four years of high school, twelve years of schooling every graduating senior must feel some measure of success. That diploma is a symbol of having met a goal.

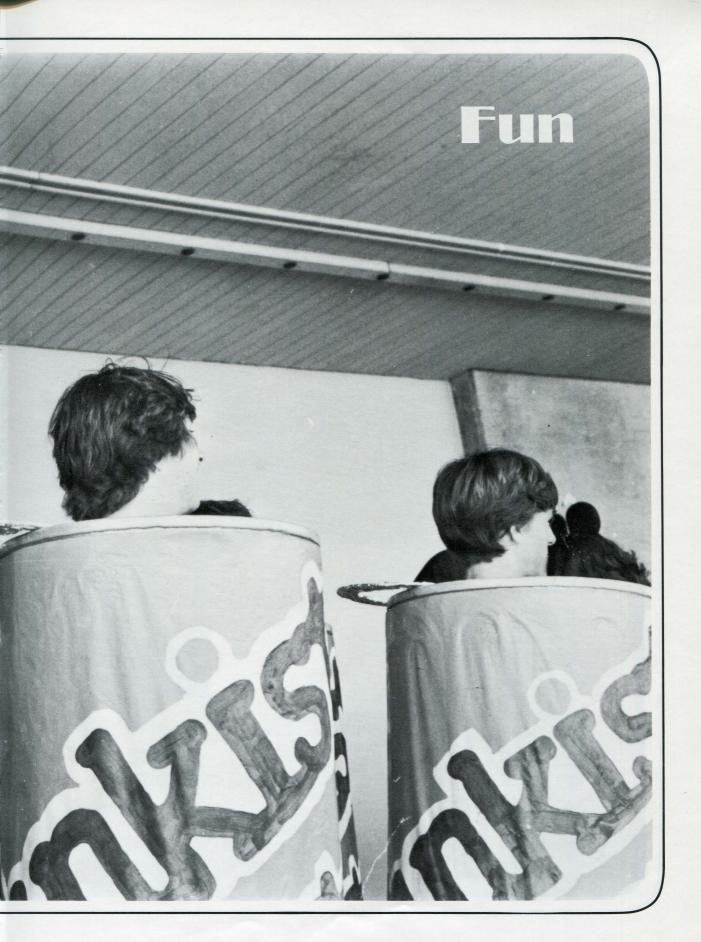

Along with formal education, other learning took place and with each lesson there were more successes. A date with a new fellow — a shared triumph over an archrival in any sport — over-coming the fear of peer pressure to say what you feel in a class discussion — the minor moments culminate in a final thunderous round of applause as the Class of '82 takes its place in the world out there.

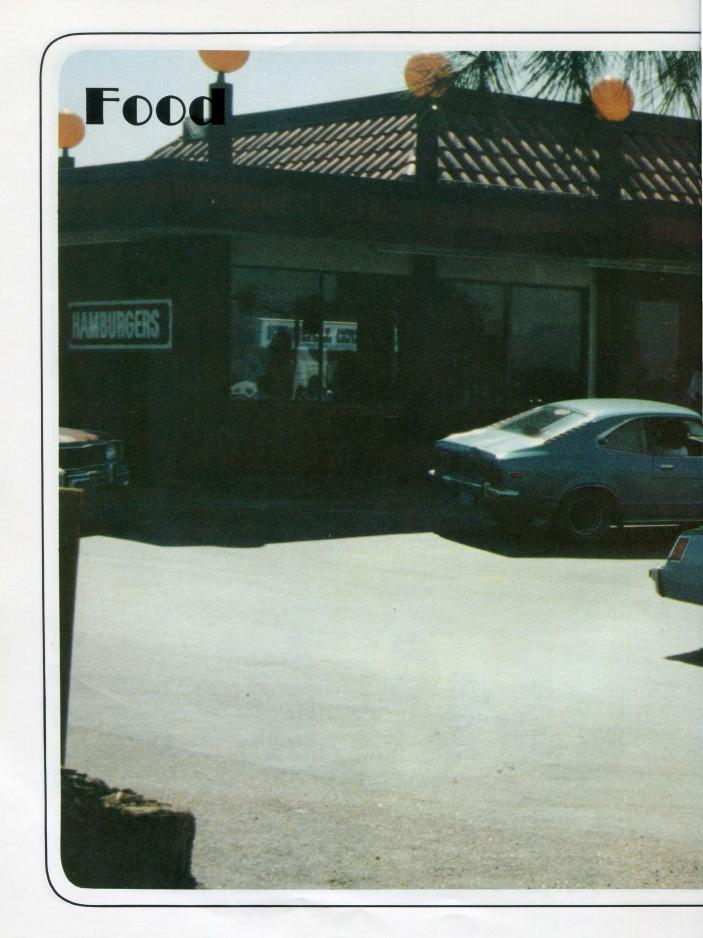

But these are only the beginnings of success . . . check back at the 10 year reunion for the next charter.

Saugus students seem to be their happiest when there's something crazy going on. Some of us have fun giving our teachers a hard time. There are other outlets for this energy, though. Dress-up days have become a great way to have fun. Tourist day, Little boy and girl day, Spirit day, and of course Halloween dress-up day have had excellent participation. Who can forget funeral day? Now there is a time worth celebrating, the defeat of Hart, and we were convinced of our victory before we even got on the field. Where would we be if it weren't for craziness? It's too awful to think about!

Food! Your stomach starts growling at 9:30 AM and brunch isn't until 9:50. What to do? Daydreaming about chocolate doughnuts and steaming burritos won't help, but who can help it? Even those regulated lines at 7eleven can't keep us from our ``sugar-fix'' — a Big Gulp — 32 ounces of sheer energy. Food is fun and food is friendship. Pig out Saugus — you're only a teenager once!

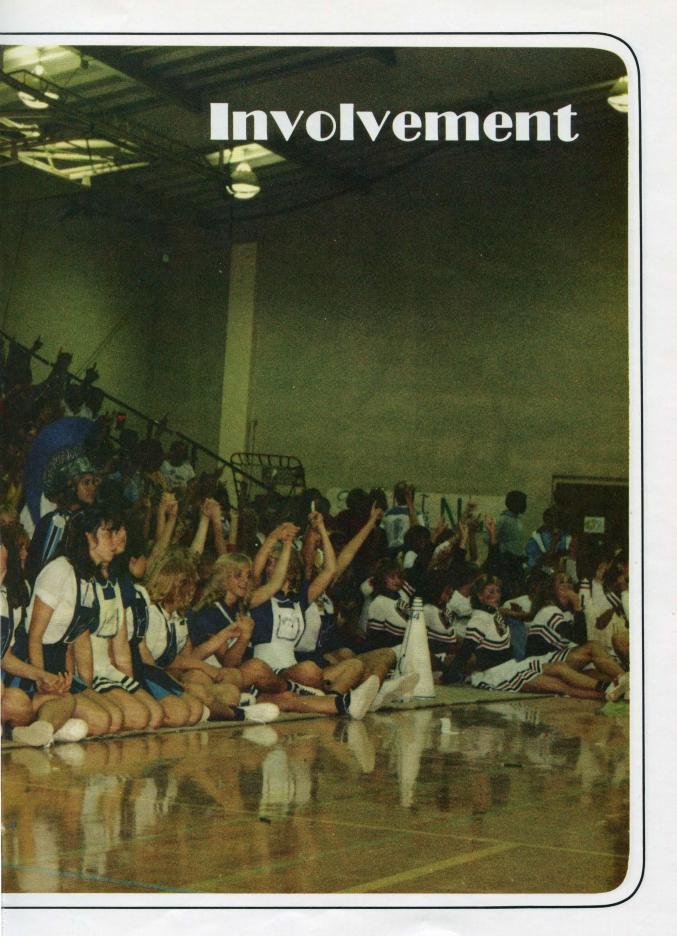

How do you feel?

"We feel good — oh we feel so good — UH!"

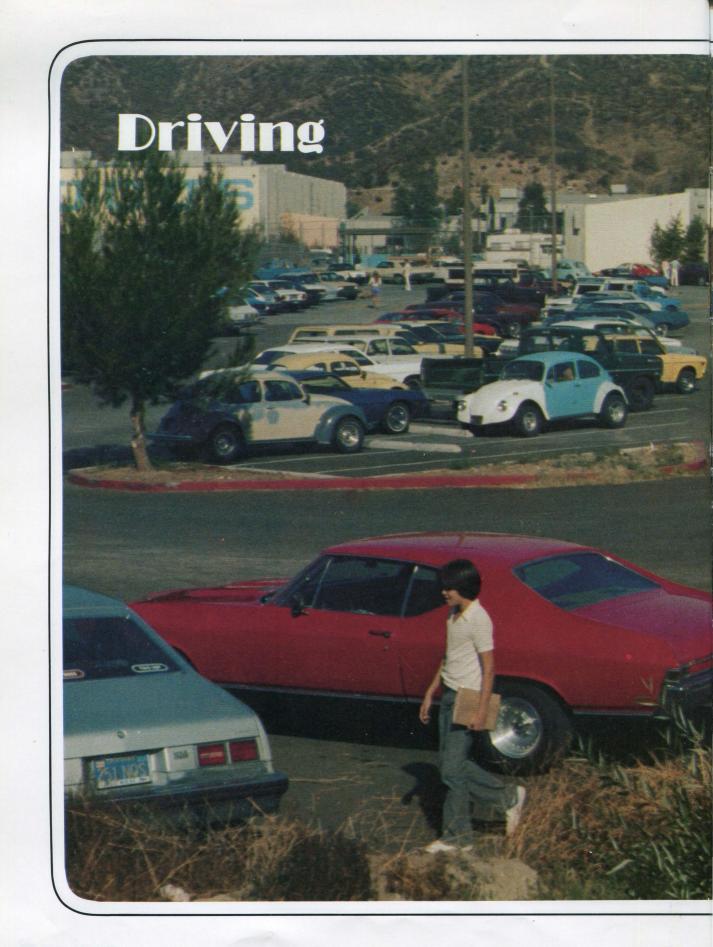

That's spirit! A thousand voices proclaiming in unison — it's fun to be a Centurion! The rally cry that led us to win Spirit Nite, to the shredding of Hart, and to all those victories in every sport reflects the enthusiasm of Saugus High.

Cheerleaders, band, drill team, flags... each is an important part in establishing spirit at Saugus. In the end, though, it's you — average Joe and plain Jane who makes the difference and lets the Santa Clarita Valley; know that Saugus has spirit and that's why

"WE FEEL GOOD!"

Spirit — 17

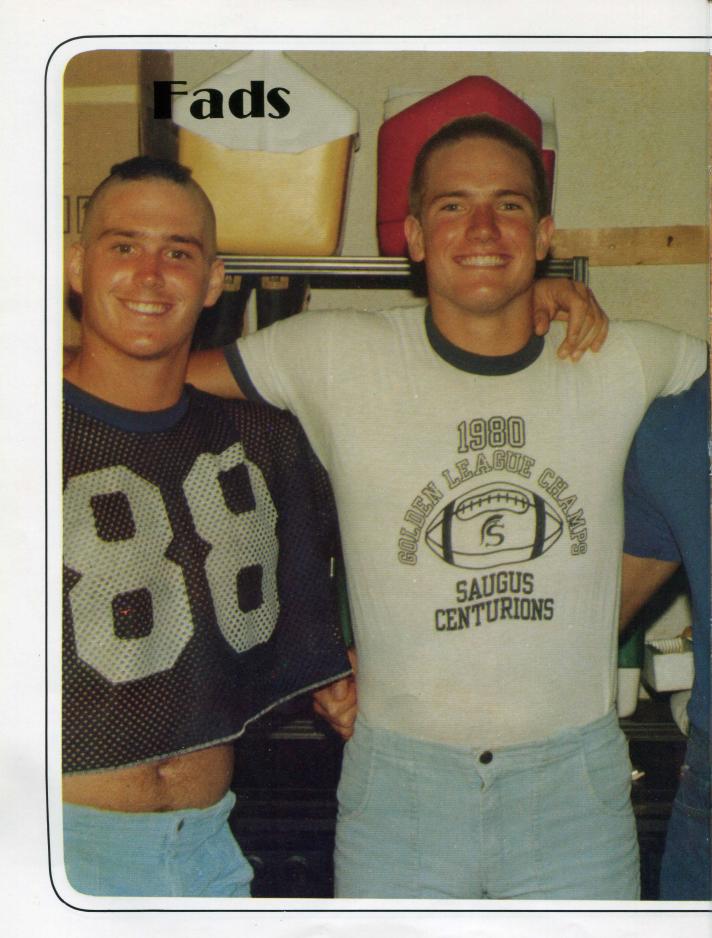

No sophomore at Saugus has overlooked the excitement of turning the magical age of 16. The age when everything changes. Being able to drive means a new kind of freedom. When simulators and behind-the-wheel are all complete, along with your new license, you can drive yourself to Del Taco or 7-eleven at lunch, instead of hanging out in the lunch area. For many of us driving poses a challenge. We all know what it takes to con mom or dad into giving us the car keys to go one place or another. But once we have those keys in hand — look out!

"Personally, I would sooner have written Alice in Wonderland than the whole of the Encyclopedia Britannica." Mr. Stephen Leacock's observation reflects the praise of the creator over praise of the scholar. Not everyone can be an artist — but how we envy those who are! To dance with grace and meaning — to throw a pot or compose a song — in his way, each artist reflects a portion of himself and his vision of the world. Fine Arts gives those gifted students a chance to display their talents and allows others to explore their own potential. With words or chalk our music or even mud, the artistic student can create a thing of beauty.

Creativity

Freshmen find that the only way to get by is to go with the crowd. To most this means following the latest fads and fashions. Students would be seen at Saugus this year wearing knickers or getting into the preppie scene. Hair was there in new cuts, and crew cuts, not to forget new waves. Headbands were also very popular. Don't worry Saugus — the freshmen will outgrow even this but what will the next herd bring?

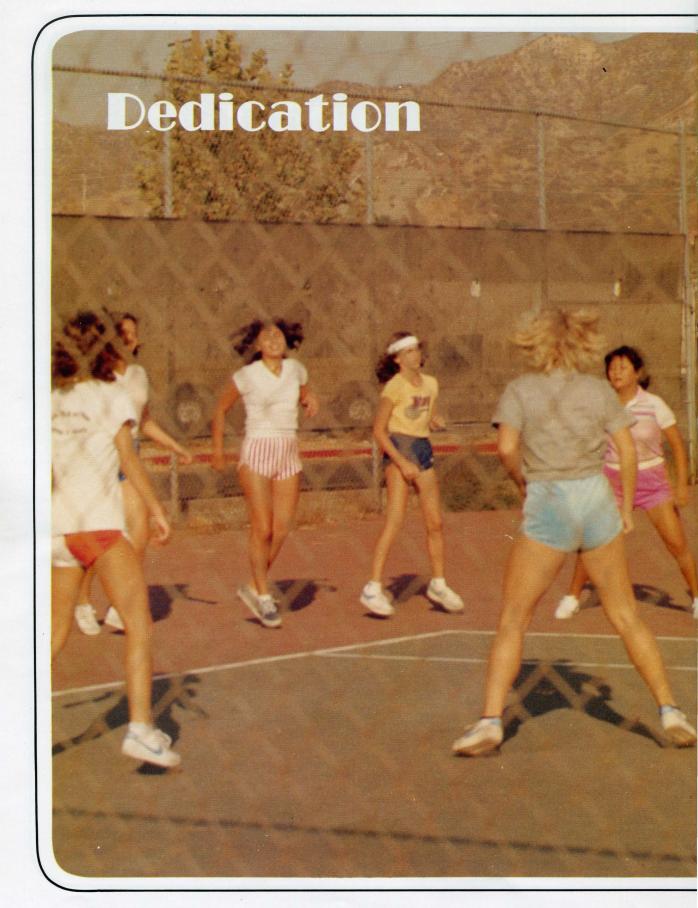

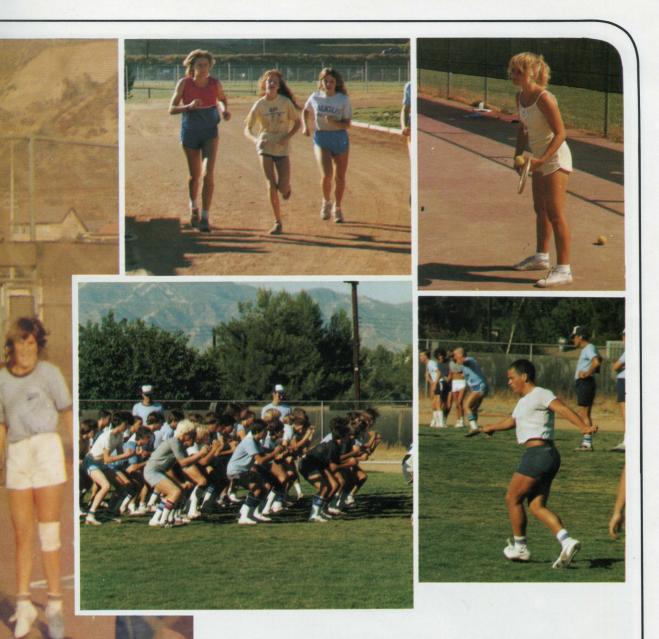

Learning. What a frustrating, time-consuming task! Teachers spend their entire working lives trying to provide their students with not just learning but a love of learning. As a student proceeds through his high school years, his attitudes towards learning changes. Freshmen stated that learning is "taking in information and storing it in their brain for later use." Yet sophomores feel, "learning is a chore!" The juniors expressed learning as an "experience." Not surprisingly, seniors agree that although learning is a chore, it is also "the process by which one's knowledge of self and his life's goals are attained." Maybe it all comes down to this: "Learning is finally seeing what has been in front of you all of the time." Now we ask what is your definition of learning?

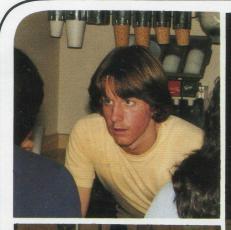

What makes one athlete more noticeable than another? Outstanding athletic ability is a determining factor, but this skill and ability is achieved through constant practice and dedication. Personal gratification is also a determining factor that allows an athlete to work endless hours to achieve a goal that at times seems completely unattainable.

Pain, sweat, or frustration can not stop the dedicated athlete from attempting to reach his goal. Dedication is what it takes for a football player to practice play after play, for a tennis player to practice serve after serve, for a basketball player to shoot a basketball a thousand times, and for a baseball player to pitch a baseball until his arm is sore. All these athletes are trying to reach one basic goal; they want to win! Even though they do not always win, they know that just in the attempt there is victory.

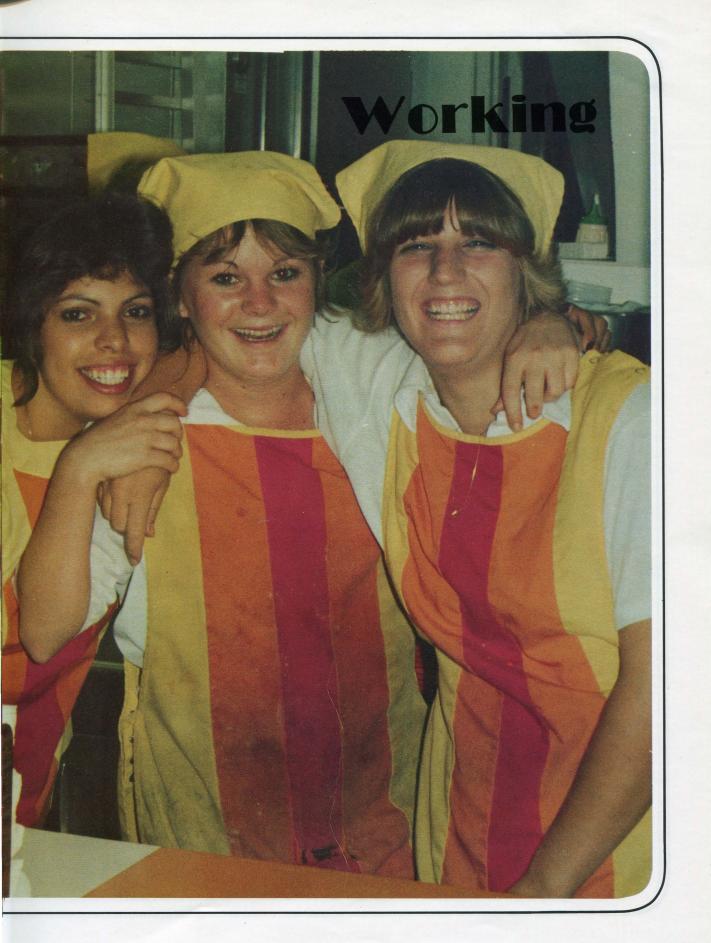

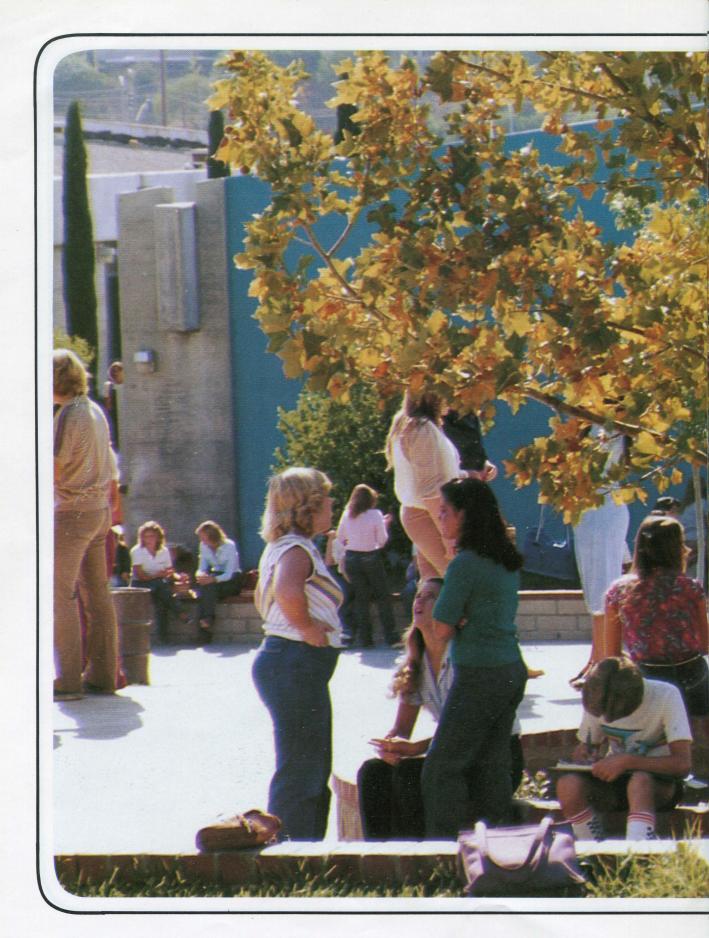

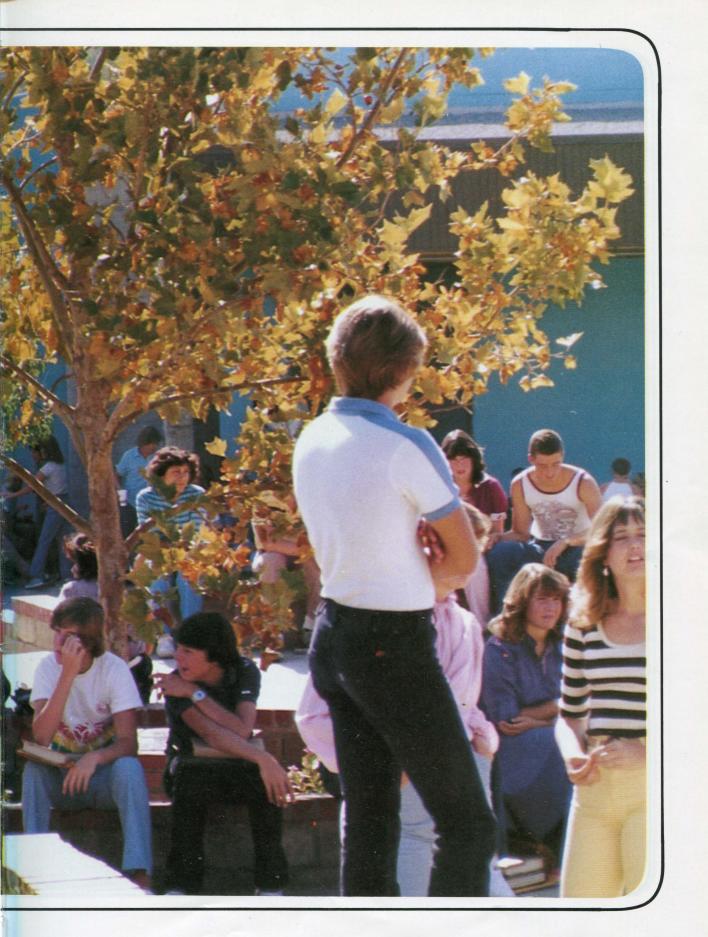

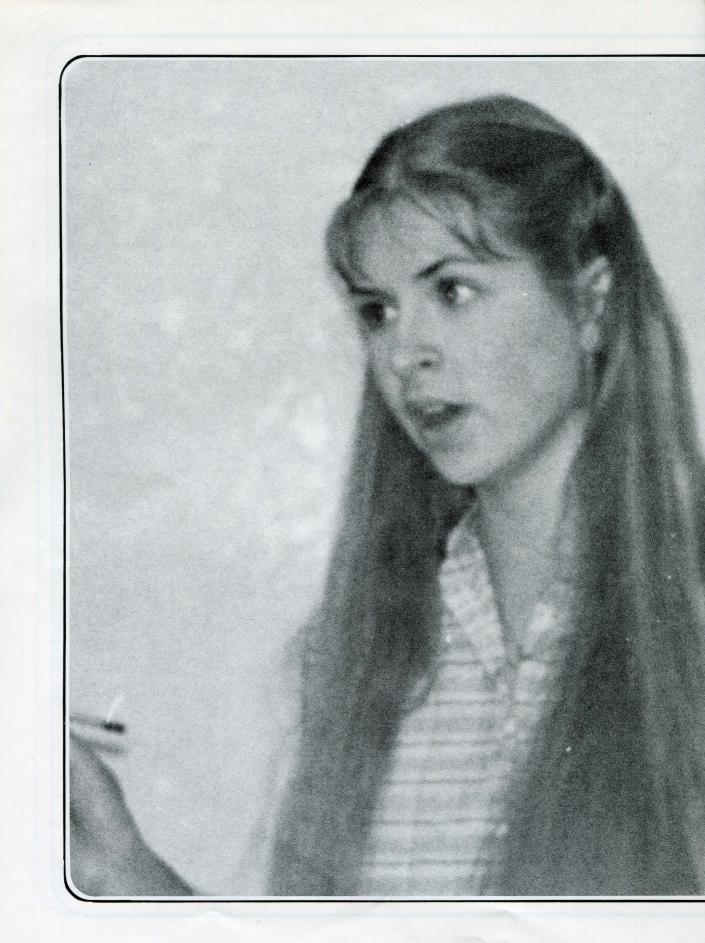

"9 to 5" and "Take this Job..." were both popular songs and movies this year about the working world. However neither one captured the unique feelings of Saugus toward their employment. Finding a way to make some money is no longer a luxury — it has become a necessity. Since parents are coping with inflation, the teens in the house have to become more responsible for providing their own spending money for gas, records, pizza, college tuition the list is infinite. So whether you spent your weekends sweeping sidewalks, pumping gas, or greeting tourists (enjoy your day at Magic Mountain) just remember, you weren't the only one who missed every Roadrunner re-run on Saturday and never slept late on Sunday. Most of the students at Saugus work — maybe misery does love company!?

Captains Boys' Varsity Julie Fortenberry Girls' Varsity Shelly Revitzer Spirit is a key word when discussing cheerleaders and their responsibilities. Their main duty is promoting spirit and getting everyone involved. To be able to do this, the girls attend camp for a week during the summer, take cheerleading as a summer school class in order to make up routines, practice everyday after school to perfect these routines, and perform at rallies and games. Cheerleading may seem to be a very glamorous job with little work involved but the cheerleaders do work very hard to boost Saugus spirit and make everyone aware that Saugus IS the best!

A single ray of sunshine breaks on glass and disperses into a spectrum of color. And you, in a manner much the same bring out the colors in me.

I saw myself reflected in the water, but it wasn't me. transformation, perpetuated by a golden sunset bounced between the waves, and my soul caught in each tide as a photograph marks memories to never again be seen. I fell forward to make the image my own, a melding of halves creating the fantasy Isaw within the reflection. But I surfaced, wet with the sunset, and gazed at myself reflected in the water.

Tickled Toes It falls from the sky an autumn leaf so free and wild It looks upon a vast new world with trees of green and waters of blue until it rests on it covered ground with friends of his who have come to rest only to be Stepped on and Killed by excited feet and tickled toes.

On Death And yesterdays Spent wishing on the sun Forever reaching in the dark of night Oh little one . . . delete your dreams for now . . . for now comes reality: The placid sea is no more, rather it is hungry to inundate your life. Show your boldness little one proceed onward and leave your dreams . . . . for later.

The Diary of Anne Frank

"The Diary of Anne Frank" was performed this fall by the Saugus High Theatre Co. The tense spirit of the play was felt throughout the performance. Mr. Best, who directed the play, and the crew all worked on an elaborate stage design and on coordinating complicated lighting and sound effects. The play was well received as the M.P.R. was filled every night.

The Dancer Sweat streams down their hungry faces; Arms are wrought and wrung in pain. Yet still the speaker heeds no graces; Silent screams are met in vain. Still it's heard "again, again . . . " Limbs are gripped in lurid vises; Waiting for their quick release The dream of pleasing so entices; Sweat and pain all but decrease. Still the voice "again, again . . .' Their eyes revert to tired trances. The speak calls; once more they bend. Then the dancer finally dances. Artists all, The dance begins.

When I accepted the editorship of the 1982 Sword and Shield, Ihad no idea of what awaited me. Despite the fact that often I was faced with deadlines and missing pictures, and even missing copy, I found that this has been a rewarding experience. (Well, at least an experience!) My sanity was saved by a patient advisor and a dedicated staff. (Well, a usually patient advisor and a mostly dedicated staff.) Yes, it is true that we faced financial ruin and we did lose the ladder, but these were only minor details. We still managed to produce a unique look at the 1981-82 school year. Good luck to all, Kris Tompkins

Editor-in-chief

In the beginning . . . there was inexperience. There were problems. There was confidence. As the two former slowly solved themselves and the latter became justified, so flourished the SCROLL. This year's staff put much time and effort into publishing a first-rate paper that Saugus can be proud of. We feel that we have done so and have set the example for future SCROLL staffs to follow. Working on the paper was fun, informative, a little wild, and certainly was an experience! We feel that it was well worth the effort.

The Forum was changed considerably this year; rather than focusing on current events, the social studies club channelled its interests into the Medieval and Renaissance periods of history. The Forum members were avid supporters of Homecoming 1981. Not only did they sell cornnuts on Junk Food Day, but they also built and presented a beautiful float complete with a castle. The forum hopes to sponsor a guest speaker and organize some kind of school fair where they can have Renaissance activities.

At these meetings, used stamps are exchanged among the members or are given away by Mr. Glahn, who also sells unused stamps. A post office is also run on campus for the use of both faculty and students. Most meetings involve looking at stamps and coins as the name suggests and discussing the annual field trip. This trip is usually taken to the Queen Mary in Long Beach where a stamp and coin show is held.

To my fellow Centurion Leaders:

Student Council All that you have done to date is but the foundation for what must be built for tomorrow. You have a great responsibility to recreate our values and continue our traditions through our students. You must continue to accept the challenge and develop bold new programs designed to involve youth in high school activities. You can do this by dedicating yourselves to the task. Remember who you are and what we have accomplished this year. If you reach within yourselves to your deepest roots, you wil find the strength to fulfill your missions. You have and will continue to meet the challenges before you; I am so proud of you.

The California Scholarship Federation requires that its members take certain classes and maintain at least a B+ to A average. Its main objective is to raise scholarship monies to be presented at the end of each year to worthy senior. Gold seals and tassels are given in recognition of those members who have been in CSF for at least four semesters, one of these must be in the senior year. Fund raisers for this year included a raffle. Fun activities were also planned which include a trip to a play, such as Peter Pan, and the annual CSF night at Disneyland.

The Air Force Junior ROTC program is designed to teach the high school student matters dealing with aerospace, particularly as they relate to the United States Air Force. The program is also designed to develop the student's leadership potential. It helps promote habits of orderliness, personal honor, self-reliance, and discipline. It will give the student an opportunity to acquire basic military knowledge and a deeper appreciation for the traditions of the Air Force.

The Computer room became known as the Computer Educational Center, the home of the new Computer Club. The club experienced great success in its first year with twenty-five members joining the roster in the first two months. Their room was made available at lunch time for programming and game playing. The price for games was set at fifty cents per lunch period. the members employed the profits to purchase new equipment and games. Such a club should make Saugus students more aware of the practical and entertaining values of the computer.

This year's tennis team started off with only four returning lettergirls. With nine new players coming in, they were fortunate enough to hold on to a third place standing after the first round. As a result of their season, our girls' tennis team finished fifth with a record of 5 wins and 7 losses in league and 5 wins and 9 losses overall.
