I am (my generation)

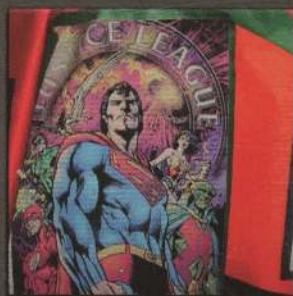

Everything that we encounter in our daily lives is an influence on the way we think, act and believe. We are labeled by our generation, and everyone is put into a classification and an ideal. We, as teenagers, come to school where we find out who we are and what genre fits us best, where we are sub-labeled in a generation. High school is an opportunity that enables us to explore our hidden talents and learn a great deal about what we want to do with our futures. As our generation travels through school and life together, we learn our own strengths and continue to build upon our weaknesses. We do things we don't necessarily enjoy just to ensure a smooth path to success. Whether it's college or a career, we all have individual ambitions we hope to accomplish. Who I am shows in our goals and thought process behind how we're going to get there. Our generation has its own unique voice and ideas that shape those choices. It is this voice that follows our generation and is a part of us. Our generation is developed by every individual within it and is reflected by all those who created it.

i am (my friends)

We travel through life seeking out people who we best relate to. It is said that school revolves around academic accomplishments, but to most of us school is a house of friendship, accompanied by learning. Our friends are a big part of who we are and who we strive to be. It is around our friends when we are most ourselves. Friends allow us to forget the conflict in our lives, and even if it's only for a brief moment, we're happy. Around friends we don't have to worry about trying to impress, and this relaxation helps us grow more at ease with who we are. Friendly environments bring out the good within us and allow us to seek out other individuals we can connect with. In high school, we often feel overwhelmed by different tribulations. With friends by our side, we are stronger and more self-aware. Sometimes a single definition of a person is created with the help of his or her relationships with others. The people you hang out with define you; I am my friends, and they are me.

I am (me)

High school is the gap between adolescence and adulthood. It is the time period where we define who we are and explore the depths within ourselves. These significant four years mark the beginning to where we're going and who we would like to become. It is in these years that we start coming into our own and expressing our individuality. We also start to appreciate the little differences that make us unique, and we come to grasp a comprehension of the diverse world around us. The person in all of us forms, and the fundamentals that mold our individuality, music, fashion, sports, movies and everything that encompasses our life, shine brightly through. I am. Two simple words but with such a powerful meaning. I am is self-acceptance. I am is pride. I am is the beauty that comes with setting your innermost personality free. This school would not be the place it is without its many I ams. It is in our different fashion styles, slang, ideas and appearances that make us who we are and that allows our true colors to show.

\to·day\ adj: Concerned with or relating to the present time

1. Jump rope for heart. Christopher White, Cassandra Eriksson and Taylor Ramirez, along with their fellow peers, jump rope to participate in the school's Jump Against Hate event. 2. Batman forever. At the end of their skit for the Senior Homecoming Float, Patrick Sarkis, Ryan Mitchell and Hillary Morris take a bow. 3. To be, or not to be. In the riveting Shakespeare Assembly, Hamlet, played by Scott Hamby, has just murdered Polonius, played by Daniel Barsky. 4. Here we are now, entertain us. At the National Art Honor Society's showcase, Charles Tichenor, a member of the Charlie T. Band, entertains the audience with his amazing guitar skills. 5. Have a ring-a-ding time. Emily Fleischer and Bavani Selvarajah get ready to enter the school's annual Valentine's Day swing dance put together by choir. 6. Check it out. Shane Morales and Mark Grinenk take a look at the artwork showcased at Barnes and Noble. 7. Happy birthday to me. In honor of his birthday, Taylor Gordon gets to wear the special birthday hat in Kerry Strothe's American Literature class. 8. Music of the night. Heather Roney along with the rest of the choir sing to serenade the crowd full of students and parents at the school's Open House. 9. Little drummer boy. Kyle Carrillo drums up a storm to shock the crowd of onlooking students in the school's annual drum-off. 10. Bring it on. Charles Esguerra is hoisted up into the air by fellow members of Man Cheer, Brandon Bullough, Chad Allan and Alex Penny.

Soaking UP the SUN

1. In the jungle, the mighty jungle. Sophomore Msgana Tamrat went to Ethiopia with her mother and sister for five weeks to visit family and her parent's old friends. She also saw many historical places that date back to before biblical times. One of the places they visited was the extremely green and natural city of Yirgalem that housed animals such as birds, monkeys and hyenas. In order to see the landscape and the hyenas, Msgana and her sister climbed this tree to get a better view.

2. Too much fun, what's that mean? Seniors Rory Hunter, Morgen Landy, Douglas James and Nolan Barickman spent five days of their vacations in Santa Fe and had the best time of their lives.

3. Up, up and away. Seniors Matthew Bernot and Curtis Baxter took a trip to the Kennedy Space Center in Florida to view a space shuttle launch and sit in on lectures given by astronauts.

4. She bangs, she bangs, yeah baby when she moves, she moves. Senior Jessica Utvich, Juniors Deidre Moseley and Ashley Winquest and Sophomore Rebecca Burzlaff performed as back-up dancers for American Idol contestant William Hung.

5. We are the youth of the nation. Over the summer, Senior Marissa Bunn was chosen along with 30 other teenagers from across the country to spend two weeks volunteering at an inner-city school in Chicago. This program is called Hope Youth Corps and is sponsored by her church, the International Churches of Christ. Through this experience, she gained gratitude, learned to be giving to the less fortunate, and learned to always show compassion to others.

6. Who's in the house? Seniors Alexandra Bond, Jamie Clark, and Victoria Palmatier went to Yosemite National Park for a four day camping adventure where they roughed it by getting firewood from the surroundings and by taking no showers except for swimming in the river. They visited the valley and saw the Half Dome and also found a secret pool that has natural water slides. In the evenings they had campfires where they made smores and cracked jokes. One night Victoria's dad dressed up in a Bear in the Big Blue House costume and would go to other campsites and sing and play his guitar to the kids.

7. Extreme Makeover: Home Edition. Seniors Sarah Davis and John Saylor went on a missions trip to Cabo San Lucas where they helped build a church.

Beaches

When students think of summer, the beach is the first thing that comes to mind to beat the heat. From the beaches of Carpinteria to Ventura to Zuma, students go to tan, surf and body board or just play in the water.

Van's Warped Tour

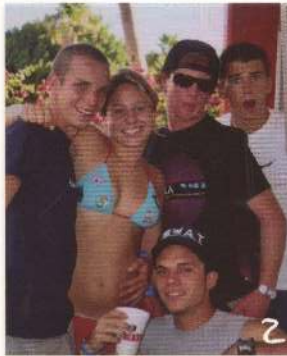

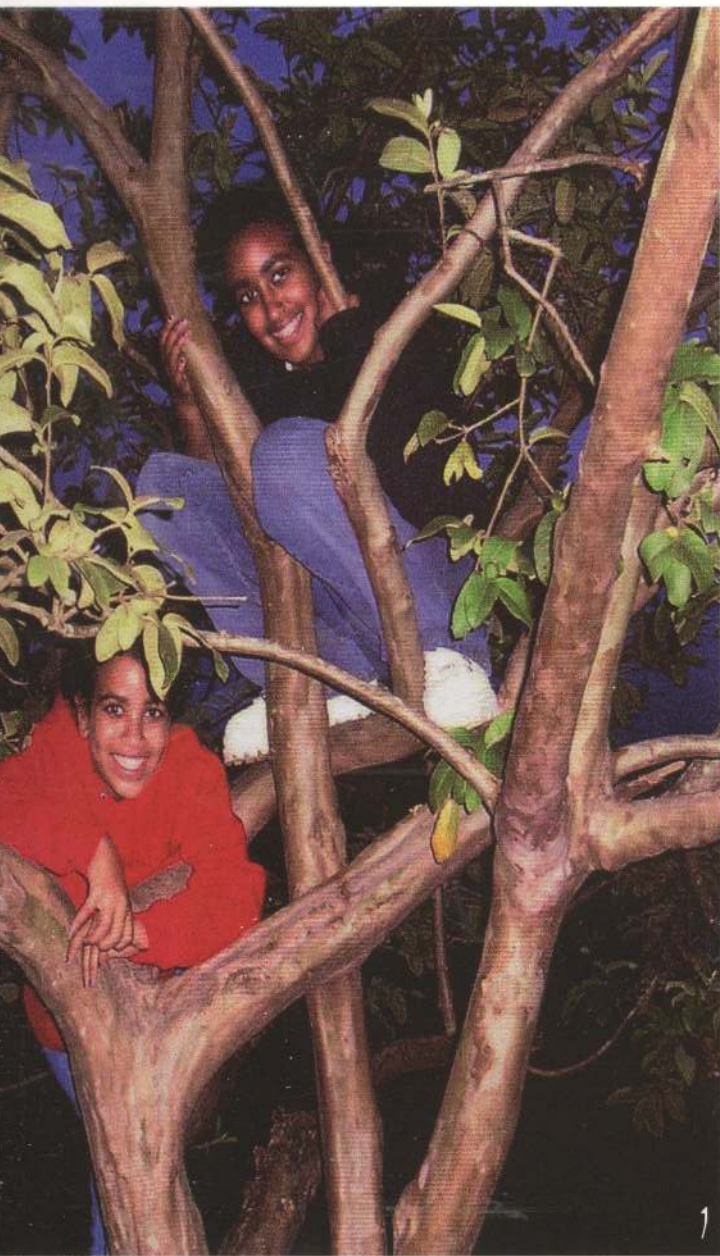

With over sixty bands on numerous stages, who wouldn't want to be at the Ventura Fair Grounds for Van's Warped Tour. In addition to the musical attraction, there are also vendors set up to represent the skateboarding as well as the music industries.

Camps

Whether they are school organized, religious or those counseling the younger generation, camps are the place to be. These environments give the perfect opportunity to grow in their purpose as well as in relationships.

Spirit Week

This year's theme was superheroes with the freshmen as Power Rangers, sophomores as Superman, juniors as Spiderman and seniors as Batman. In the week leading up to Homecoming Juniors Jenna Harbek, Nicole Kirkpatrick, Ashley Whiquist and Nicole Larz dress up in Spiderman gear.

Homecoming Game

At the start of the Homecoming game versus Burrough's, the VHS football team ran onto the field through a flock of balloons. As always, Valencia, pounded their opponent and even though the game was ended early due to an injury on the other team, it was still an amazing game.

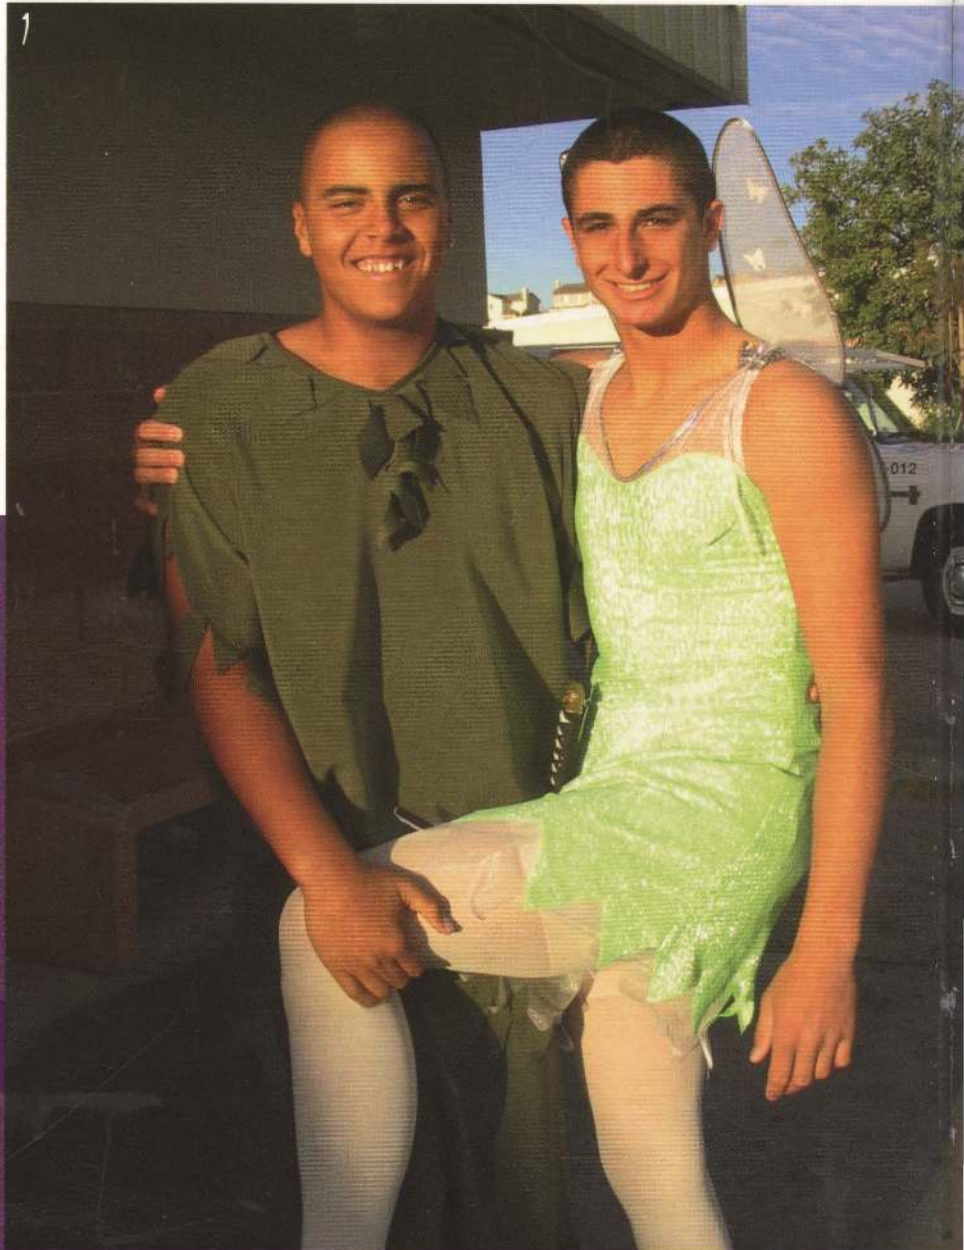

Homecoming Dance

On the night following the big game, students enjoy the Homecoming Dance with dancing in the small gym and numerous games and activities in the large gym.

"On Halloween I went to a party with my friend Paola and we visited my friends houses. We were partying all night and dancing to Casablanca by Daddy Yankee."

Janet Shin

"For Halloween I went over to my friend's house for a small get-together with close friends. We played 'Oui!', and had 'Kitty-Litter Cake' for dessert. It was really chocolate cake with tootsie rolls in it, topped with little-colored cookies and frosting in a litter box."

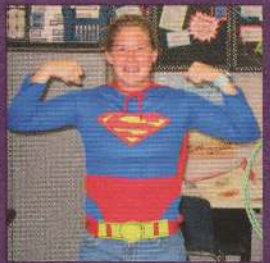

Elizabeth Suh

"I went to Bridgeport with a group of friends. It was really late, and one of my friends disappeared, and I got really scared...turned out he went to go pee in a bush. Other than that, and the fact that it was freezing, my Halloween was awesome!"

1. All it takes is a little pixie dust. For Halloween, Dennis Nelson and Patrick Demato thought it would be funny to dress up as Peter Pan and Tinkerbell. 2. I'm blue da ba dee da ba dai. Hoping to win the costume contest, Richard Huffaker, Sean Parker and Matthew Higham impersonate the Blue Man Group. 3. The odd couple. Dressed in a Disney costume to wear to a Halloween party, Daniel Fernandez stands with Amanda Phillips, who shows off her groovy-side by wearing a retro outfit complete with an afro and rollerskates. 4. Got pizza? Upset that the Ninja Turtles weren't featured heroes during the school's homecoming week, Claire Beaumont and Lindsey Dole show off their turtle pride. 5. Trick or treat. Brittany Mills, dressed up as her favorite Disney character Tinkerbell, is accompanied by her friends Cassandra Tamres, who dressed up as a martini to be different, and Jennifer Burch, an Anime fan who decided to throw on a Legolas costume at the last minute. 6. I want to drink your blood. In the spirit of Halloween, a ghost, Curtis Baxter, hides behind his friend Dracula, Christopher Zibach. 7. You don't say. Gregory Hoover imitates the impersonation of Hunter Thompson used in the movie Fear and Loathing in Las Vegas because he is one of Hoover's favorite writers, and he can do a great impression of him. 8. Charlie's Angels. Dared by his sister after they saw a music video, Thomas Miller dressed up as an angel from the celestial heavens.

Mardi-Gras Beads

Throughout the year, Mardi-Gras beaded necklaces were sold in a variety of colors, but mostly in purple and gold. Students wore them to sports games and on rally days to show off their school spirit.

Crazy Hair

Crazy hair is another way students decorate themselves for sports games, rallies and school spirited days. Varsity cheerleaders Kayla Hanley and Sarah White make their hair crazy for the Hart vs. Valencia football game.

Body Paint

Victory not only includes the team players, but consists of student spirit in the stands. Scott Fowler, Michael Hur, Sean Proul, Daniel Linkmeyer, Casey Mulligan and Justin Struts cheer on others to root for Shane Morales by painting his name on their chests.

1. We are the Vikings, the mighty mighty Vikings. Seniors Ryan Mitchell, Nicole Worsham, Patrick Sarkis, Brittany Arvizu, Cameron Slatterbeck, Christopher Stroh, Nicholas Bullock and David Yoakley paint "Vikings!" on their chests, a tradition each year at the football games against Hart High School. 2. Happy Birthday Vik. Vik the Viking gets the crowd cheering during his Outdoor Birthday Rally by dancing for the Valencia High School students during first brunch. 3. All hail Valencia. Senior cheerleaders Mallory Holland and Rebecca Summers lead Valencia High School in the Alma Matter at the Homecoming Rally. 4. Viking pride. Trevor Chase, Anthony Trovato, Daniel Malley, Stephen Jones, Cameron Elliott, Christopher Salo and Erik Wilson proudly show off their yellow Viking shirts at the pre-game party for the Hart vs. Valencia High School football game in the COC parking lot.

BUILD-A-date

There were two teams, one freshmen, the other seniors, each given $20 to plan the best date. Here are their stories.

Freshmen Kaitlin Murphey and Brent McGill

Kaitlyn started the date off with the caring idea to go buy a dozen balloons for about eight dollars, and then go to the mall and give them to little kids to brighten their day. They brought a smile to a crying girl's face and a gave balloon to a girl they saw through a restaurant window. After that it was straight to Vons to buy a loaf of bread for seventy-nine cents so that they could feed ducks at Bridgeport, which lasted for a while before another duck came and scared the other ducks away. Then they headed to McDonald's to get drinks and share fries for less than four dollars. They also felt compelled to donate their change to the Ronald McDonald Foundation. Last, it was off to Rite Aid to get ice cream for a little over two dollars. With five dollars left and their date over, they donated the extra cash to their driver for gas.

Seniors Kelly Stein and Erik Wilson

First Kelly and Erik went to the movie theatre to buy tickets to see a movie. Seeing as how the prices had recently been increased without their prior knowledge, the price of seventeen dollars for two tickets was a little more then they anticipated. So for dinner, they ventured to Costco where they felt they could get the most for their money. After looking for free samples, they lounged on a display couch and talked. Then for dinner they went to the cafeteria in the store where they got a drink, hot dog and a berry smoothie with their remaining three dollars. They shared their meal and then headed back to the theatre to see the movie.

1. Break it down. Casey Schein found out that he could break dance in the eighth grade and hasn't stopped since. At homecoming last year, Casey entered his first open circle and showed some guy up. 2. Yodel-ey-he-hew. Brittany Burton was listening to Leanne Rhymes in the bath when she was seven, and she tried yodeling too. She's been able to do it ever since that day. In seventh grade she yodeled for her P.E. class and they gave her a free yogurt pass. 3. Unbreakable. Timothy Heltmach is double jointed in both of his hands. When he was nine, he realized that he could touch the back of his hand with his fingers. He likes his special talent because it grosses people out and because he can't break his fingers. 4. Movin' and a groovin'. Jeremy Schein is an underground popper, which means he performs loosely with extremely controlled muscle movements. He didn't exactly discover this talent; he trained for over a year until he learned to control and isolate every muscle in the body. 5. I choose you Pikachu. Shelby Brown has been drawing since 3rd grade. She taught herself, no art books included. Once she started getting better, she took art classes so that she could improve her skills. 6. Standin' on one arm. Back in the day, Alex Azzam's friend Casey got him into breaking. One time at a party, Alex started breaking and on his first move he messed up and fell flat on his back. He was embarrassed, but luckily he wasn't hurt.

MAKING the BAND

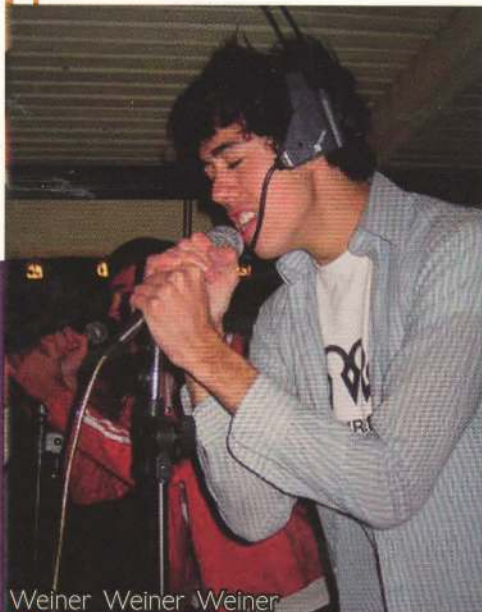

Forever Freshmen

Band for a Day

Weiner Weiner Weiner

End of Days: Robert Montenegro (Bass and Vocals), Travis Durant (Guitar) and Shane Graham (Drums). End of Days, a local Indie rock band, chose their band name while flipping through the Book of Revelations. They decided to keep the name due to its symbolic light on society's foibles. Bands that have inspired the grungy, punk sound of End of Days include Nirvana, Green Day, The Offspring and Foo Fighters. The members of the band have known each other for five years, and they all share similar tastes not only in music, but in hobbies as well, such as skateboarding. The boys use real life situations and current events as inspiration for their lyrics. "Our lyrics cover a vast variety of topics, such as the immorality of our society and whatever emotions are affecting us. In the future, End of Days would like to continue writing meaningful songs and have fun times. They hope to stay together for many years to come. Forever Freshmen: Jake Berend (Bass), Justin Alvarado (Guitar, Vocals), Christian Strickland (Drums) and Jason Antuner (Rhythm, Lead Vocals). Dale Langeveldt

"Musical I listen to a lot of world music, bands from South Africa and other foreign places."

Kevin Edzant

"I mostly listen to classic rock. I like The Beatles and other old stuff."

Brittany Seligman

"I like to listen to cool music, alternative rock is the best."

Freshmen originated as a bunch of guys hanging out in a garage, but then it blossomed into a hip, punk rock band. The band has been together three years now, and it's still going on strong. However, the band says that when they first started out playing, words couldn't be made out from the piercing sounds in the background. "At our first show in the O.C., about twelve people showed up and we sucked!" But the band has come a long way from their early days, and their Blink 182, Sublime inspired music is playing smoothly. The members of Forever Freshmen are the best of friends and plan to release a new CD called New England Terminal in 2005. Weiner Weiner Weiner: Curtis Baxter (Electric Guitar) and Matthew Bernot (Vocals). The members of Weiner Weiner Weiner have known each other since they were thirteen, and their band name "just came" to them. Curtis Baxter and Matt Bernot consider themselves poets; poets who sing surrounded by keytars and fog machines. Baxter and Bernot formed their band freshmen year and their music is inspired by Thrice. "Their use of fractions greatly influences our songwriting and lyrics." Weiner Weiner Weiner's most memorable music moment was over the summer when the band got a chance to jam with the Garden State Soundtrack at the Bulldog Pub in London. Band for a Day: Andrew Yeah (Tenor Saxophone), Alexander Moore (Flute), Daniel Fernandez (Piano, Synthesizer, Lead Vocals), Eric Carlson (Violin) and Christopher Snead (Bass, Guitar). Band for a Day started off as a one-day jam session that evolved into a weekly band session, which lead to an official jazz band. Band for a Day plays jazz-fusion ensembles, inspired by Artie Shaw, Buddy Rich and other jazz legends. The band doesn't have lyrics; "we're purely instrumental." Band for a Day's music is all about making people have a fun time.

The school's stadium flooded with all of the rainfall. 4. New improvements. Valencia High School's dirt field has finally started to develop structure and progress into our new all-weather track and turf football field. 5. Look for the green cans. Senior Anna Fleischer created a recycling program for bottles and paper this year to ensure a cleaner and safer environment at Valencia High School. The Outdoor Recycling program consists of each student receiving one raffle ticket for every plastic bottle or aluminum can they turn into the recycling booths at lunch and brunch. Every Friday, one raffle ticket is drawn, and the winner gets half of all the money made from recycling that week. For the Indoor Recycling program, a container was given to every classroom on campus where students can place bottles and cans during class. The purpose of this recycling program is to have a safer and environmentally friendly alternative to throwing the thousands and thousands of papers, newspapers, cardboard, cans, and plastic bottles in the trash.

Snowboarding

Seems nowadays everyone is heading to Mammoth or Fraser Park for the weekend. Despite snowboarding being in for several years now, this year it definitely has reached a new height of popularity.

Car Magnets

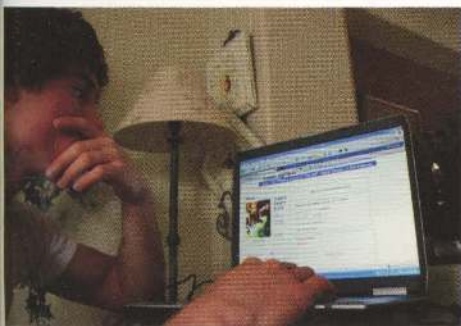

Everywhere you go, you can see cars sporting these ribbon magnets to show the car owner's support for causes such as breast cancer or the war as well as to show off their patriotism.

Playing cards

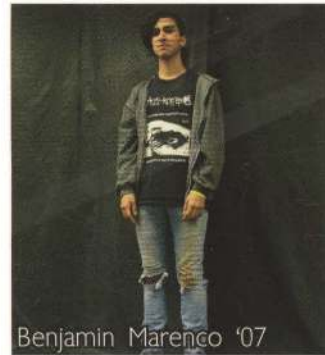

Cards have made a comeback just walking around campus you can see many people playing cards. Popular games include Poker and Texas Hold'em.

Trends are huge part of the school environment. They are all about knowing who has what and what's all the rage. When someone sees how neat a certain new product is, there's no telling what will happen next. Though it is true that trends begin to disguise one's individuality, they make us distinctive and tell stories about our generation. A variety of plastic bracelets have been created to raise money for different events that have characterized the year. Donating only a dollar, people can help out a great cause and be trendy at the same time. There are also vast amounts of technology that characterize the year. As Scott Lovercio has demonstrated, iPods provide a way to transport thousands of songs without having to carry a bulky case of CDs. Cell phones are becoming smaller and more elaborate, sometimes containing palm pilots and even miniature keyboards. For some people, the Internet may not be a significant part of life; but now more than ever, it is a spectacular form of communication. Students such as Taylor Ramirez have begun to send messages to each other through Myspace, a popular profiling system on the Internet. When people look back on us, they will see an exciting group of new trends that distinguish the year 2005.

i'm too sexy

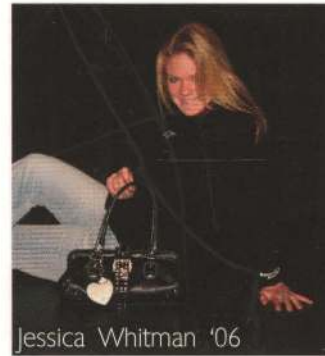

Fashion can be seen as a key to one's identity. It allows us to be different but also comfortable with our surroundings. Fashion easily distinguishes various aspects of personality, including music preferences, movie interests and the many walks of life that make us Valencia High School. Just walking through our campus, fashion is a beacon of each student's own uniqueness. This year's fashion was full of vivid clothing inspired by past generations. From vintage t-shirts to tight jeans, the 80's has made its comeback. Some girls are sporting gauchos, Bermuda shorts and long skirts, while others are seen styling brightly colored long tops, lace slips, layered shirts and even faux fur jackets. However, accessories such as low-slung belts, cut gloves, scarves and oversized purses finish the outfit. Both sexes have also begun color coordinating and accessorizing their ripped and worn out jeans with large sunglasses as well as square top hats and beanies. Past years' fashion trends of altering clothing have also spread to the painting of Vans as shown by Trevor Miller, Mallory Holland, Justine Ofreneo, Lee Perillo and the artist herself, Anna Fleischer. Each individual's style generally reflects his or her lifestyle. From Abercrombie to Hot Topic, fashion tastes give us a hint as to who they are and who they hope to be. Valencia is more than just a melting pot of fashion. Apparel has come a long way and most definitely speaks as an inner voice of our school and of our generation.

\ex-per-i-enced\ adj: Actively participated in or lived through events or activities, leading to the accumulation of knowledge or skill

1. The things a teenager will do for candy. During a Friday brunch, ASB tries to get the football team as well as the student body fired up for the Hart game as Cameron Elliot takes a whack at the piñata, demolishing it. 2. Poker. Eric Buell deals his deck of cards and prepares to play a competitive game of poker with his friends to pass time until school starts. 3. Shake your groove thing. Shannon Smith and Jummy Oshodi show off their hip-hop dance moves during the Homecoming Dance. 4. Feeding each other is loving each other. During brunch, Alissa Workman and Melissa Hampton take turns trying to aim cookie crumbs in each other's mouths. 5. Santa Clause is coming to town. The week before winter break, Jason Trujillo and Robert Jamison show their holiday spirit as they take their picture with Santa Clause. 6. Side-kicks. During the Homecoming Game Pre-Show, Ryan Mitchell and Hillary Morris portray Robin and Batgirl, as they combine forces and take on their arch enemies. 7. We've got the beat. Tyler Davis gives it his all as he plays his drum solo for the brunch drum off. 8. Saved by the bell. During fourth passing period, Pejman Roozbeh waits for James Duncan to return to his room, so he can resume his work as a student service. 9. Mummification. Kyle Schnurr participates in a timed toilet paper contest to see which grade can wrap each other the most for Homecoming Spirit Week. 10. A hero lies in you. Eric Patinio enthusiastically shows his senior spirit by dressing up in Batman gear for spirit week.

trevor miller [see also: inspirational, lovable, devoted]

Trevor Miller is one of Valencia's most devoted students on campus. He is very passionate about his religion and hopes that people will remember him as a kind and caring person who tried hard to be friendly to everyone he met. Miller looks up to his single mother who he feels has worked hard to raise him and his two siblings, Ryan, who graduated from VHS in 2002, and his sister Madi who is currently a sophomore here at Valencia. Since he was young, Miller has taken an active role in church, and here at Valencia he is a prominent member of Pathfinders Christian Club and NHS. Miller wants to receive a good education and to start a family with an amazing girl. He hopes to attend Cal Poly San Luis Obispo to study architecture but feels if he ends up anywhere else, things will still turn out for the best. For a career, Miller is interested in becoming an architect or a contractor. With the small amount of spare time that Miller has off from school and his job at Stonefire Grill, he enjoys sleeping or hanging out with his friends and family. One of Miller's fondest memories of high school is being elected to Homecoming Court four years in a row.

samantha herbert [see also: joyful, excited, loving]

Samantha Hebert is one of the kindest students at Valencia High School, and she's been devoted to helping others for the past four years. Hebert's bright smile and warm personality shines as a beacon of hope for those around her. She is always willing to lend a helpful hand or brighten up someone's day as she has shown while serving as a passionate member of the Pathfinders Christian Club. In her spare time, Hebert enjoys viewing miraculous, celestial skies. Her infatuation with the sky has led to the formation of a giant collage consisting of photographs of sunsets and sunrises. To Hebert, the skies are symbols of the great beyond and the blessing that is her life. Hebert not only looks up to the sky, but to her best friend Britt, who continues to amaze her each day. When Hebert graduates, she plans to attend a Cal State school and study to become a counselor. Samantha Hebert hopes to touch the lives of other people. She wants to encourage them to soar above the sky and let their dreams set them free.

floyd buen [see also: wacky, clever, unique]

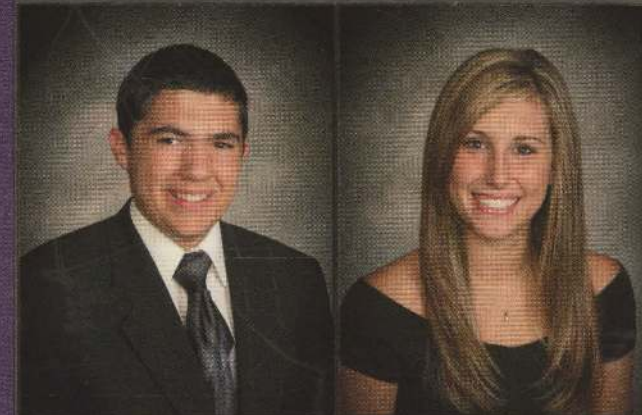

Floyd Buen is incredibly ambitious and involved in many of the clubs at VHS. Asian Culture Awareness Club, Key Club, Science Olympiad, Pathfinders, CSF and NHS are just some of the extracurricular activities Buen participates in. After school, Buen spends his time reading and volunteering at Henry Mayo Hospital so he can get a small taste of what it's like to become a professional physician. Buen hopes to attend MIT and major in biochemistry. Taking most of the medical and scientific courses available at VHS have strengthened Buen's decision to become a doctor. However, getting through these courses has not always been an easy ride. For example, Buen remembers when he and his lab partner spilled alcohol and then accidentally lit it on fire. Despite most people's first impression of Buen as a quiet person, he is actually loud and wacky and would like to be remembered as an outgoing person who always looks forward to a good time.

jael liko [see also: darling, sassy, special]

Ambitious Jael Liko has high hopes for her future. She can't wait to star on Broadway, be the voice of a character in an animated film and graduate with a Bachelor's of Art in Theater. After high school Liko would like to stay in California, attending one of the six colleges she applied to and remain close to her family. When asked what kind of person she is, most would say that she is a joyful person who loves life. Liko doesn't have much spare time, but she loves to sing, read plays, bake cookies and of course, watch television. She collects coins from the USA and abroad, is a Pittsburgh Steeler fan and also enjoys acting and playing softball. Liko will never forget the "Rosie the Riveter" project she made in Mrs. Stiman's class her junior year. She remembers how goofy she and her friends looked when they sang the "Rosie the Riveter Song" in costume. Jesus Christ, Liko's Lord and Savior, has had a definite profound influence on her life. He has helped her through many decisions and guides her down the straight and narrow pathway.

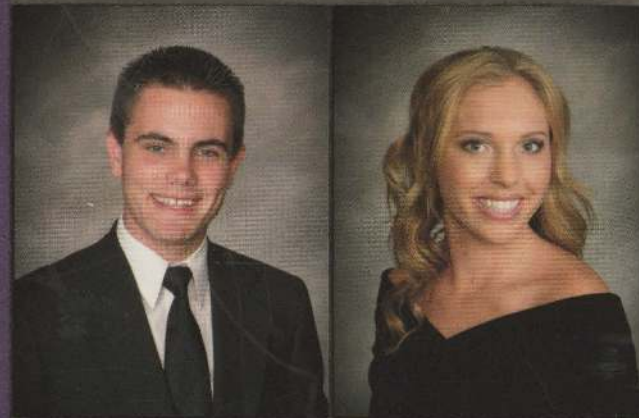

daniel fernandez [see also: opinionated, loud, friendly]

Daniel Fernandez has spent the past four years helping those around him and making VHS's day just a little bit better with his laughter. Fernandez has been a prominent member of the VHS band for all four years and a singing sensation in choir for two years. As choir president, Fernandez has made everlasting friendships and has stored endless memories. With a smile on his face, Fernandez is a very loveable and social person. He is always willing to let loose and be himself. For example, during his freshmen year, Fernandez came to school all decked out in costume on Cross Dress day. In the future, Fernandez plans to attend California Lutheran University and major in history and music. After being inspired by many of his VHS teachers, Fernandez hopes to follow in their footsteps and one day become a high school teacher. Fernandez also wants to set a good example for the world and for his younger brother, sophomore Nathaniel, by getting rid of all the wrong in the world. In a few years from now, Daniel Fernandez will make the world a better place, just as he has made our school campus.

kaitlyn weiss [see also: busy, chatty, thoughtful]

Kaitlyn Weiss, a talkative and busy girl, would like to have a successful career in which she gets to travel and help people. She plans to attend college and then go on to grad school to earn her PHD. Traveling to the East Coast for school would be nice for Weiss because she's more than ready to leave the valley. She hopes to minor in dance, but she hasn't yet chosen a major. Weiss will remember the times when she was accepted into the Harvard Summer Program, and when she was asked to join the dance company at the Millennium Dance Complex. She has been in the Millennium Dance Company for three years and has been a gymnastics coach for almost five years. Between these activities, working out and taking yoga classes, Weiss doesn't have much free time. She looks up to her mother because she is a great person who cares about others. Like her mom, Weiss would also love to be remembered for her friendly attitude.

heather coo [see also: hot, sarcastic, amazing]

Talented Heather Coo looks forward to becoming the next All-American homemaker. She has been interested in cooking for as long as she can remember and has aspirations of one day becoming a pastry chef. Known as a sarcastic girl with a sense of humor, Coo is the only child in her family. In her spare time, Coo loves attending car shows and spending time with her friends. Even though no one person stands out as a profound influence in her life, one of the most significant events in her time in high school was meeting fellow classmates Amanda Craig and Andrea Hernandez in her foods class and also Kevin Pratt. On the other hand though, her most memorable moment was falling down twice while running the mile in physical education. Coo can't wait to attend the Culinary Institute of America where she plans to study food preparation, nutrition and management. She has a bright future ahead of her.

matthew stansbery [see also: inquisitive, humorous, dashing]

Matthew Stansbery can be described as an understanding guy who knows how to have fun. He plans to attend the University of Utah where he would like to receive his Bachelor's degree in science for pre-med which he believes will jumpstart his goal to become a successful leading plastic surgeon. Stansbery's most significant achievement was his unique ability to make it to Eagle Scouts. In addition to that achievement, Stansbery also has been acting for 13 years and scuba diving for four years. Outside of his hobbies, in his spare time he likes to play his X-Box and hang out with friends. He will never forget the reaction he had when he found out that he received a leading role in both fall drama productions The Elephant Man and A Chorus Line his junior year. When asked who he looks up to Stansbery says, "I look up to all the actors who fought against the odds and made it big!" He would like to be remembered as someone who is a good listener with a great sense of humor.

casey rowley [see also: weird, child-at-heart, spunky]

Casey Rowley, an artsy person who's a child at heart, would like to be remembered as a kind person who would befriend anyone in a heartbeat. She loves creating clothes and would like to fulfill her dream job as a fashion designer. However, she realizes how difficult this road may be and instead hopes to major in journalism and become a writer. Casey's brother, Davey, who graduated from VHS in 2004, is the person whom she is closest to, and his outgoing personality amazes her. Besides being an active member of the Varsity Volleyball Team, Rowley has been playing the piano for about ten years; she now has students of her own. She hasn't necessarily had one memorable moment because her whole high school experience has been memorable, but she will treasure the time she spent on the volleyball team the most. She's been anticipating her admittance to the University of Texas at Austin, but she doesn't yet know what she would like to study.

courtney wolf [see also: sociable, cheerful, dedicated]

Courtney Wolf is an outgoing member of the 2005 graduating class. She is excellent at making people feel comfortable around her because of her friendly and playful attitude. Wolf aspires to graduate from a university with a PHD in psychology. She believes family life is very rewarding and would like to get married and start a family of her own. She will always remember her sophomore year when she and the dance team won the National Championships in the Hip-Hop category because it was such an amazing feeling to know that all of the team's hard work, sweat and tears had finally paid off. Dancing since the age of three, Courtney also loves to ride horses and compete in equestrian events, especially jumping shows. With the small amount of time she has between schoolwork and extracurricular activities, she likes to put focus on her social life. Wolf loves to spend time with her friends, to shop and to go to the beach. She would love to be like her dad because she truly looks up to him for all of his achievements despite the hardships he has faced. Her dad has taught her how to work hard for her dreams.

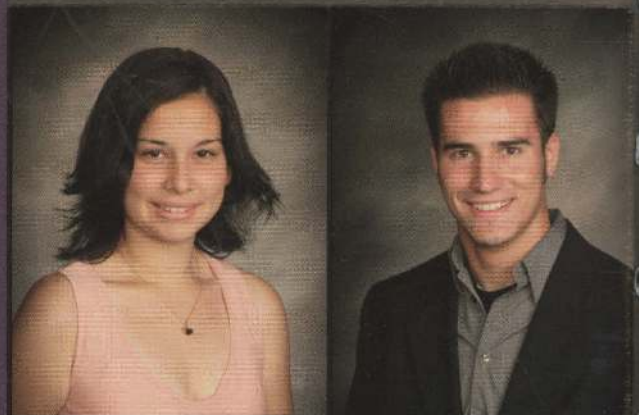

angel orantes [see also: crazy, dynamic, bold]

Angel Orantes is a charismatic and ambitious member of Valencia's Varsity Football Team. Being a part of Valencia's first ever football team to win league, Orantes' greatest memory of high school is celebrating on the 50 yard line at C.O.C. at the end of the Hart vs. Valencia game. Football has allowed Angel to make numerous close friends, and he feels without those friendships he would not be nearly the same person he is today. When he is not on the football field, Orantes enjoys going dirt biking, wakeboarding and snowboarding as well as hanging out with all of his friends in Castaic. Angel hopes to be remembered as a person with a great personality and always wanting to have a good time. He plans on continuing his education at University of California, Santa Barbara to study architecture. Looking forward to a career, Angel would like to become a doctor, an architect, a fireman, a S.W.A.T. member or an F.B.I. agent. Orantes' future goals are to live everyday as if it were his last and to possibly start a large family if things work out for him.

rosanne golob [see also: bubbly, sweet, brilliant]

Roseanne Golob is one of the many bright students here at VHS. She continually challenges herself each year at school by taking numerous AP classes and by attending additional advanced courses at COC. Balancing out school, work and play can be difficult task for many people; however, Golob manages to succeed in school, soccer, track and her job at SCORE! Educational Center. She also finds a way to support her friends when they need her. Even with such a busy schedule, Golob has participated in an array of extracurricular activities including CSF, NHS, Spanish Honor Society and Pathfinders Christian Club. She believes that her three older sisters have inspired her athletic achievements and have molded her into a free spirited and respectful individual. When looking back on Valencia, Golob will always remember the various track meets she attended and the days spent on the pole-vault pits. She wants to be remembered for her abundant energy for life and her empathetic nature that she brings to school each morning. Golob aspires to continue her education at Stanford or USC to study business administration with an emphasis in pre-law.

sarah simpson [see also: intelligent, compassionate, outspoken]

Sarah Simpson has a keen interest in world events, politics and journalism. With such a strong interest in these fields, she became the Viking Vision's Editor-In-Chief last year and has retained that position into this year. Simpson hopes to continue on with her interests and study journalism, political science or law when she goes off to college. For a career, she would like to become a political correspondent for a major news network, a politician or even a trial lawyer. She also has an aspiration to become an editor for a major magazine such as Time or Newsweek. Simpson's most recent interest is yoga which she has been practicing for the past two years. In addition to Viking Vision, she is also an active member in a wide variety of extracurricular activities including Speech and Debate, Mock Trial, Safe Rides, NHS and CSF. Simpson hopes to be remembered as a dedicated individual who can get along well with everyone she meets. In her free time, Simpson enjoys being with her friends, going to the beach, shopping, reading and tutoring younger kids. She also deeply admires the dedication of her parents and how hard they work to ensure the happiness of their family.

joshua heller [see also: squeezable, dancing, exotic]

Creative Joshua Heller awaits the day that he will become a successful businessman with people who work for him. Having the ability to be in charge excites him because other people have always bossed him around. Heller's friends would describe him as outgoing, funny, caring, considerate and energetic. With an interest in sports since he was young, Heller also enjoys hanging out with friends, listening to music and dancing. He has been on Valencia's Hip-Hop team since it began when he was in the 10th grade and will always remember the rallies that he performed at. Heller looks up to all the people who take the initiative to leave the house, get a job and use their own earnings to pay for what they need, instead of taking their parent's money. His mother has always been there for him whenever he has needed help. By teaching him right from wrong, she has made him who he is today. Heller hopes to be remembered as a good friend.

katherine holloway [see also: vociferous, comical, athletic]

Katherine Holloway is an enthusiastic girl with high hopes for her future. She would like to be remembered as a fun and outgoing person who is always ready to have fun. Holloway has loved the sport of soccer since she began playing at the age of four. She will never forget when she helped the JV soccer team win the Hart Tournament for the first time in VHS's history by scoring the winning goal. After Holloway's sister Kelly graduated in 2003, she was motivated to do better in school and plans on attending COC to get through general education classes before transferring into UNLV to either get a career in hotel management or the wedding business; she would like to start her own business one day. In her spare time she loves hanging out with all of her friends because they always have a great time. Holloway has participated in the ASB program since her freshman year. She believes that by getting involved with the ASB program, she has learned many different things about the school and its activities.

farida kakonde [see also: optimistic, talkative, fun-loving]

Farida Kakonde is an enjoyable person to be around because she knows how to cheer up others when they're feeling blue. She would like to be remembered as a friendly young lady who has treated everyone with kindness and respect. Her two biggest role models are Jennifer Lopez and Oprah Winfrey because both women share a similar background to Kakonde. They have taught her that it is important for her to remain true to herself. Farida's most memorable high school moment is when she was crowned the Homecoming Queen because she felt that it was an unexpected surprise. She looks forward to her graduation because she sees it as the transition to adulthood. Hoping to attend San Francisco State University or Humboldt State University, she would like to study film and theatre. After Kakonde has completed school, she desires to be a successful actress or director. She can't remember a time when she wasn't interested in acting, and she plans to work in the film industry for much of her life. In her spare time, Farida enjoys going to the movies, hanging out with her friends and going shopping.

gregory hoover [see also: intelligent, personable, modest]

Gregory Hoover is a personable guy with a great sense of humor who hopes to attend USC or Occidental College, studying theater and technology. He plans to have a career designing video games but would like to write novels and act on the side. Hoover has been active in the theater program at Valencia since the ninth grade and hopes to be remembered as a funny guy. His dad and Bill Cosby have both influenced his personality. His most memorable high school moment was the 2002 Cabaret Show. Hoover says, "It went perfectly and my mom loves telling stories about how she was sooooo nervous, but I wasn't!" Hoover's most significant moment at Valencia High School was in the ninth grade when he was put in Honors geometry even though he wasn't supposed to be in that class. This incident proved that he could handle the difficult course and since then, all he has had are AP and Honors classes. When asked whom he admires, Hoover says, "I don't look up to one person. I look up to lots of people. Everyone has something I can learn from."

kristen choi [see also: musical, bright, hugable]

Kristen Choi has spent the past four years wowing audiences and taking center stage. Choi has been passionate about singing and acting ever since she could say her first words. She puts her great enthusiasm and love for the arts into all her VHS drama and choir performances. Choi has starred in various plays such as Guys and Dolls and A Chorus Line. She has also captivated the audiences with her harmonious singing voice that has won her many lead positions over the years. Choir has opened her eyes to the many styles of music, and Choi's choir teacher, Mrs. Enns, has become the most inspirational person in her life. Not only does Choi act and sing, but she also dances. Choi is an active member of the hip-hop team and is always caught busting a move at the most random moments. Triple threat, Kristen Choi plans to study music at UCLA and perform one day on Broadway. Kristen Choi is bound to have her name in lights and forge ahead into the world of music.

sarah trick [see also: delightful, sporty, kooky]

Sarah Trick has been a gymnastic and trampoline champion for six years in a row. She has done stunts on the trampoline for eleven years, nine of those spent in England. Trampoline and dancing are her two favorite hobbies, but when she isn't busy with them, Trick likes to hang out with her boyfriend and her best friends Megan Briley, Emma Sargent and Rosie Endris. Her most memorable experience was during her sophomore year when she and her friend had fun hanging out and joking around at school. Trick looks up to both of her parents because they have both always been there for her, supporting her in everything she does. Friends of Trick's would say that she has a friendly and positive attitude. She hopes to be remembered for her bubbly personality. Trick can't wait to achieve her goals of becoming an elementary school teacher and improving her dancing skills. First planning to attend COC, she would then like to transfer to another college where she will take whatever courses she needs to guide her future.

tyler davis [see also: out-of-site, groovy, far-out]

Astounding Tyler Davis is a talented student at Valencia High School. He was born with the love of music, thanks to his father who played The Wall and Led Zeppelin for him while he was still inside his mother's womb. He would eventually like to have a couple of "Tyler Juniors" running around, but in the meantime he is constantly recording, writing and listening to music as well as playing guitar. Aside from working at Coldstone's, Davis is also the Roadie for the band called As in Dreams. The guys in the band are some of his best friends, and they all have fun working together. Davis hopes to attend Cal Arts and Santa Barbara Community College. At Cal Arts he plans to study jazz and music production; while at SBCC he would like to earn an Associate's of Arts degree then transfer to another university. Davis looks up to Mrs. Stimani, Mr. Nowak, and Rocket because they are so selfless and caring. He thanks them for giving so much to others and receiving only a fraction back. In describing Davis, a friend says that when someone needs a friend, he's the first to help. He has a kind and fun personality and treats everyone with respect.

victoria palmatier [see also: daring, out-going, hilarious]

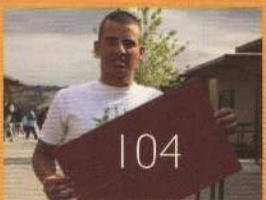

Outgoing Victoria Palmatier loves to read and create art, and she has participated in karate since she was nine years old. Palmatier also enjoys meeting new people because they're interesting and fun to be around. She thinks it would be great to be remembered as the girl whom people could always talk to. Palmatier cannot think of a certain high school event that has impacted her, but she knows that she has definitely changed. Instead of always trying to fit in, she has learned to think differently and be her own individual. Her best friend, Jamie Clark, has had a profound influence on her life because of everything that she has been through. Her boss, Kamil Majer, is also someone she looks up to. Palmatier has been accepted to San Francisco State University and plans to major in English. After earning her teaching credentials, she would like to become a teacher or a professor. Starting a family is also important to her. As she leaves high school, Palmatier finds it exciting to know that she has affected the lives of so many people.

nicholas sparks [see also: happy, funny, energetic]

Well-known senior Nicholas Sparks has made many achievements throughout his high school career. Having an overall GPA higher than a 3.5, Sparks is in the top 20 percent of his graduating class. His friends would call him the weirdest, funniest, and most random guy in existence. He is someone who always tries to make people smile. Sparks loves playing volleyball, and he remembers when he tried out for the team his freshman year. Besides participating in this sport, he likes to draw and write poems. When he is not overburdened with homework, he enjoys hanging out with his friends and listening to music. Sparks would first like to attend COC, and then go on a mission for his church. Following these experiences he is hoping to study film at USC. He will be remembered as a person who loves to help others because it makes him feel good knowing that he has made someone happy. Sparks has wonderful friends who have had an amazing influence on his life. He is the person he is today because of them.

shannon bouknight [see also: creative, adorable, lively]

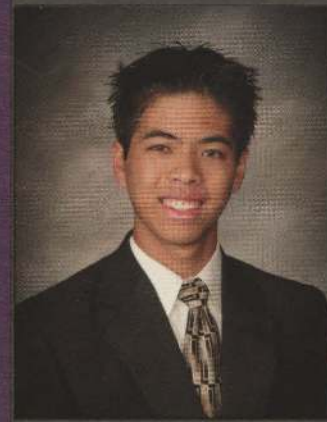

Shannon Bouknight is a responsible, creative and sociable member of the class of '05. She plans to receive a college degree and take part in a job where she may excel in her creativity. A career in advertising or marketing would be most enjoyable for Bouknight. These particular interests demonstrate her creativity that is vital to every aspect in her life. She has always loved art, music and theater and is keen on attending an art school. She has been in choir and taken art classes since elementary school but didn't become involved with drama productions until junior high school. Between all these activities, Bouknight manages to maintain a job, and she enjoys being busy. When she looks back on all of her high school experiences, she will always remember the amazing shows that she was involved in with two teachers that have especially inspired her: Mr. Whelan and Mrs. Enns. She loves performing and says she is fortunate to have performed so many times during the past four years. Bouknight leaves high school telling her fellow peers that if any of them ever need someone to listen, her shoulder is very comfortable.

robert jamison [see also: random, spontaneous, modelish]

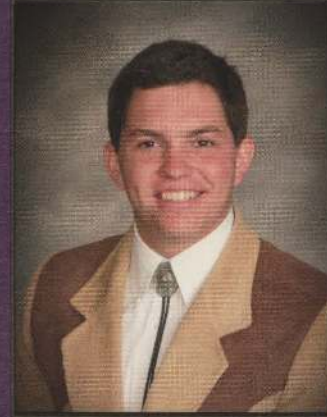

Robert Jamison, a successful student at VHS, loves to go outside and ride around on his scooter. He also enjoys snowboarding, going to the lake, and hanging out with his friends. In the future, Jamison would like to become rich and own houses in both Malibu and Lake Havasu. He looks forward to attending UCSB or UCSD and plans to major in business, with a minor in mechanical drafting. Jamison would also like to run his own specialized transportation business for paraplegics, providing them access to all types of cars, RVs and even boats. Jamison's friends would deem him random and optimistic, but in addition he would like his peers to remember him as a nice, loveable person. He will never forget the time when his friend's truck ran out of gas and he had to help push it through a busy intersection. Jamison looks up to his mother and father who he loves very much because they have successful careers, but David Schewm has also been a profound influence because as Jamison says, "He knows the meaning of life but he just hasn't told me yet."

\de-ter-mined\ adj. strongly motivated to succeed by devoting full strength

1. Spiderman, Spiderman, does whatever a spider can. In the Junior's Spiderman skit at Homecoming, courageous Spiderman (Kenneth Arbogast) rushes to the rescue to save an innocent bystander and to bring justice to the evil villain (Scott LaBonte). 2. I'll fill you in later. On a cold winter Monday during first brunch, Adam Miller and Danielle Breen tell each other about what happened over their weekends. 3. Hey, we're on TV. Ishmael Perez, Brian Moser, Kenny Butler and Nate Speak sit at the Peace Garden enjoying their lunch from the school cafeteria while they laugh and crack jokes. 4. And we're back. As it is their first year being able to leave campus for lunch, Amanda Skorniakoff and Kelsey Dolan return to school after enjoying a filling meal. 5. Can you hear me now? While chatting on her cellphone, Nicole Malinowski stops to take her French book out of her locker. 6. Do you remember when? Amber Pawlik, Shanelle Doughlin and Sophia Singletary catch up on things as they wait outside the 900's for their teachers to show up and class to start. 7. Let's get out of here. Michael Robotham and Laura LaBrada scramble into the car in order to beat the mad rush of students who try to leave the school's parking lot for lunch. 8. Girl talk. Lauren Wintroub cracks a smile as she tells her friend, Kathryn Fowler, about the new puppy she's going to get. 9. Need a hand? Angelli Robison and Shea Hawton get money out of their backpacks to get lunch as they discuss what they should do that night. 10. Who do I remind you of? Craig Jaffe and Amanda Lucas laugh at their friend, Scott McDonald, as he poses in an amusing stance.

Juniors

What band's lyrics do you connect with?

"12 Stones- 'The Way I Feel' because I really hated leaving all my friends behind, and it was/is a BIG thing to overcome."
-Meaghan Hann

"Tim McGraw- 'Live Like You Were Dying' because you have to live for the present, not the future."
-Kevin Thompson

"Switchfoot- 'Meant To Live' because it says that we are meant to live for so much more, and we just went in another direction."
-Erica Cabrera

Sing With Me...

sing for the YEARS... sing for the LAUGHTER... sing for the TEARS...

"I Do Have My Own Mind- Steriograde because kids at this school are all the same."
-Christopher Lyons

"Rancid- 'Fall Back Down' because girls tend to make guys do stupid stuff."
-Eugenio Bautista

"Killswitch Engage- 'The End Of Heartache'. I left my boyfriend when I moved here, and now I have to move on, but we both don't want to. It's the hardest thing I have ever had to deal with. Bands like Killswitch help me a lot."
-Stephanie Gerlach

"Simple Plan, where they say, 'Sorry I'm not a perfect person...' Sometimes parents expect you to do your best, but we struggle and they don't know it. We all make mistakes."

DAZED and CONFUSED

Was the first week of school what you expected?

"No. The teachers were nicer, and we received more homework than we expected."
-Chanci Fine

"It was different because I came from a private school, and I thought that public school was going to be easier than private school. I was wrong."
-Jessica Spigner

"No. I didn't think the school would be that big."
-Sammie Alvarez

"No. I made it to class on time, I did not get picked on or laughed at, and I made new friends!"
-Megan Spoon

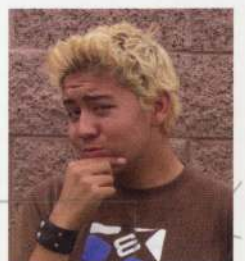

"The first week of school was so crazy! I had a little trouble finding all my classes, and the periods were shorter than my junior high. It was fun though."
-Shiloh Roberts

"No, I expected mean, cranky teachers, but instead I get nicer teachers that try to relate to you."
-Sarah Ripley

"It was what I expected. My older brother gave me tips and showed me what to do."
-Kendra Johnson

"It was very fast-paced, kept me on my feet. I expected it for the most part."

1. You're going down. During the Turkey Bowl, James DeMonbrun chases down Vince Ferry to make the tackle. 2. Never give up, never surrender. Assistant Principal Les Luxmore works diligently in his office to help the school run smoothly. 3. Happy birthday to you. As a normal tradition for female students on their birthday, Kerry Strothe brings out her puppet friend Jimmy to sing Happy Birthday as well a love song to Senior Ashley Hendricks. 4. Keep your concentration. Brenda Hunter, the Assistant Registrar, works hard to get transcripts for the students who need them to join CSF. 5. Your turn. In his business class, William Stenzel teaches his students Matthew Diaz and Layne Castro through the alternative method of the board game Cashflow. 6. Enlightenment. Michael McKee lectures his European history class and fills with joy when the class finally gets it. 7. I choose you. Enthusiastic Joseph Marcucilli is amazed to see how many of his students in seventh period are able to tell him what classifies as a gothic painting. 8. Sum of all fears. While explaining the examples he has projected using the overhead, Bill Wentz shows his students the proper way to solve the homework problems. 9. Clean up, clean up, everybody clean up. Michael Parr works to insure a clean and beautiful campus as he drives around to collect the trashcans. 10. Answer the phone, I know that you're home. A concerned mother speaks to the Counseling Secretary, Karen Switaj, about retrieving the assignments her son has missed due to his illness.

WHAT I did for LOVE...

How are you rewarded by your normally thankless job? Why do you teach?

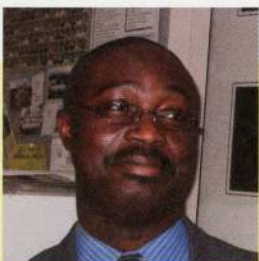

"Weekends off... to live out my insanity!"
-Janet Feeder

"Empowering my students with the knowledge they can use out in the real world and seeing them really work."
-Elizabeth Wilson

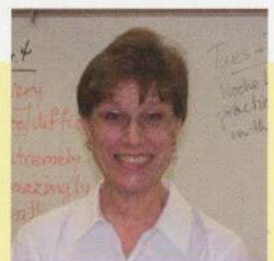

"For the most part, my students really want to learn. You can never replace the look on their face when they finally get it!"
-LaWana Clary

"I enjoy watching students blossom academically. The reward is the bright smile on their faces when they finally get a difficult concept, or after they thoroughly enjoy a fascinating lesson."
-Larry Oshodi

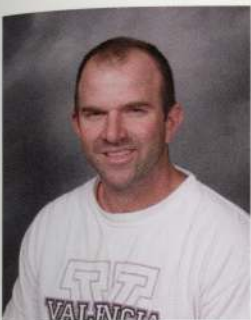

"I am rewarded daily through laughter. My students never fail to amuse me in some way. I'm never bored; there's always something going on. I teach because I have a desire to share a love of literature with my students. I also believe in the freedom education gives. I care about young people."
-Kathleen Curran

"I love working with kids and stretching their minds. When the light bulb goes 'on' I am rewarded. Also, I'm an older adult, and kids today seem to overlook us, despite our experience."

1. The smell of victory. After beating Saugus with a devastating score of 42-19 and hearing the news of Hart's loss to Canyon, Varsity football players Shane Morales, Ryan Bleeker, Torrey O'Brien and Gary Cox, along with the rest of the team, celebrate by ringing Valencia's new League Championship Bell. 2. Ready for this ball. Nick Pappas of Varsity Baseball, pitches a fast ball hoping that Hawthorne won't be able to get a good hit off of it. 3. Line shot. Alissa Workman pounds the ball to the corner of the opposite side of the court making it extremely difficult for Canyon to play off of it. 4. One handed. Lindsey Smith of Varsity Girl's Basketball, pushes into the middle of the key and jumps for the hoop in hopes that the opposing Hart player won't be able to catch up to her. 5. Quick feet. Kaitlyn Hollister of Girl's Varsity Soccer pushes her way into the middle to take a shot against Burroughs resulting in a 11-0 win. 6. Line drive. Kristen Tayo drives the ball as far as she can towards hole 1 as Andrew Raevouri coaches her from the side. 7. Wing span. Jaime Bishop glides across the pool while competing in the 200 medley relay. 8. You can dance if you want to. Karalyn Gabrielson leaps across the field while twirling her flag to the sound of the band. 9. Don't take your eye off the ball. Michelle Stock concentrates on hitting the ball in the center in order to get it back over the net. 10. I can see the finish line. Kevin Le and Robert Richardson sprint towards the finish line while racing Hart and Canyon.

Anthony DeFilippo has been playing football since he was six years old. For the past four years, he has played as an outside linebacker for VHS. DeFilippo has developed friendships and leadership skills ever since he began playing the sport. He is used to managing a lot of activities because football has been a part of his life for so long. Although DeFilippo has broken various bones and pulled many muscles throughout his football career, he is determined to continue playing the game. DeFilippo admires the attitude that his role model, Keyshawn Johnson, brings to the field. In addition to football, DeFilippo loves listening to music and hanging out with his friends. He enjoys the game because all of his best friends play on the team with him. DeFilippo says, "Everyone on the team are my brothers and they will be forever."

Gary Cox has been a dominating defensive player on VHS's Varsity Football Team for the past two years. After playing football for nine years, he has become a commanding player on the field. Before each game, Cox and his teammate, Anthony DeFilippo, go to Jamba Juice for a drink. His brothers, Doug and Todd, have been Cox's main inspiration because they introduced him to the sport of football when he was a child. To this amazing linebacker, the best part of playing football is being before the home crowd, as "it's loud and you're playing on your home grounds." While football is a major component of Cox's life, in his spare time he also enjoys wakeboarding and snowboarding. Football has allowed Cox to create lasting friendships with Torrey O'Brien, Joseph Miulli, Shane Bothwell and Shane Morales. Cox will always remember the reaction of the team and crowd when they achieved victory at the football game with their rival, Hart High School. In victory, Valencia gained its first league championship title at the end of the season.

Bring him down. Viking defense Torrey O'Brien, Erik Anderson and Anthony DeFilippo stop an Oxnard player from gaining anymore yardage.

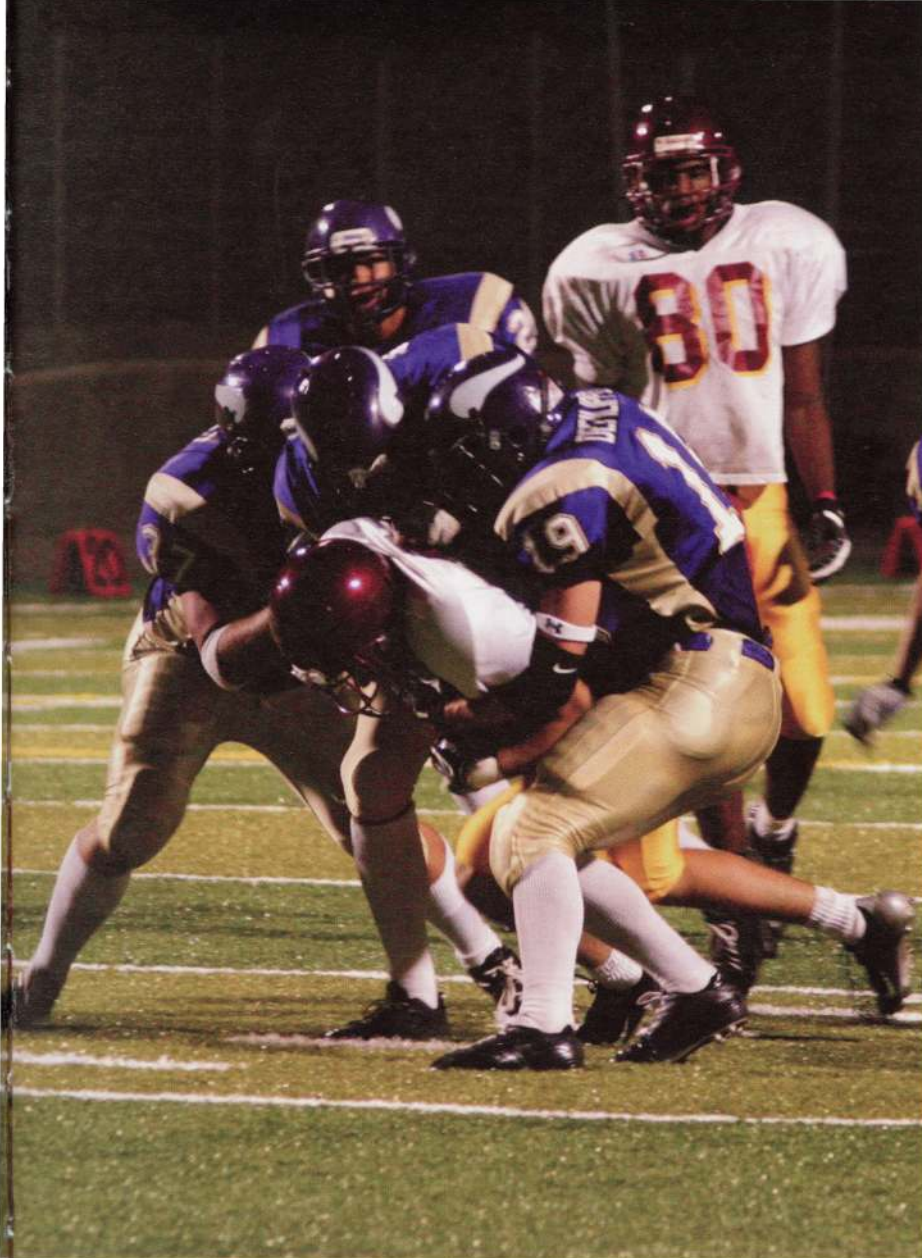

Set...kick! Anthony DeFilippo sets up the ball while Brian Malette kicks the ball to gain an extra point needed for beating Bishop Amat.

Work together. Travis Marziani and Kenny Kallen help each other to take a Norte Dame offensive player to the ground before he can gain more yardage.

VARSITY

Don't stop running. Christopher Wright uses his defensive blockers as a shield to get around Bishop Amat's defensive lines.

Take it away. Shane Bothwell flies through the air as he intercepts the ball at the Saugus game. The Vikings went on to win 42-19.

Go long. Michael Herrick prepares for an intense pass to Jason Trujillo during the game against Oxnard. The Vikings pulled through and beat Oxnard 42-6.

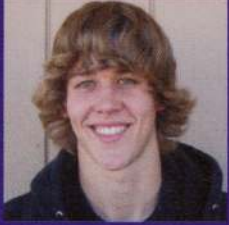

You can't catch me. Chris Vandepas blocks Hart players while Shane Vereen runs past them helping the Vikings beat Hart High School 29-10.

Zachary Boebel

Zachary Boebel is a member of VHS's JV football team and plays as a running back and safety. Even after playing for three years, the worst injury that Boebel has ever suffered was a torn MCL and fractured tibia, which forced him to sit out the last game of the season. To balance football into the rigorous schedule of a high school student, Boebel often has to stay up late to finish all of his school assignments. Boebel believes the best part about playing football is going out on Fridays and laying hits on opposing players. In addition to football, Boebel is active in paintball, hockey, and track. To Boebel, nothing compares to the impression football at VHS has had on him or the everlasting friendships he has developed. Boebel hopes to continue playing football after high school.

Richard Banuelos

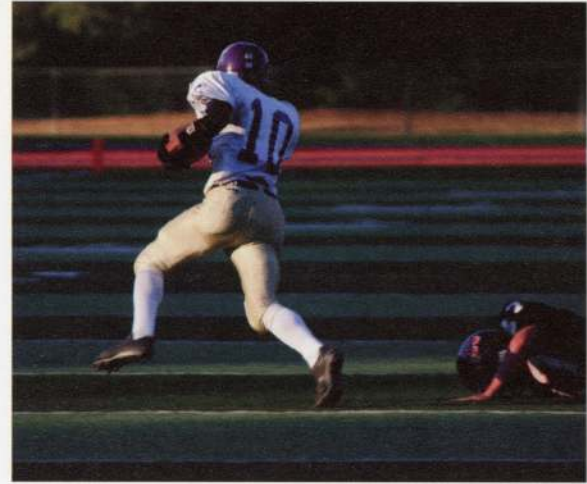

Richard Banuelos has been playing football for five years and is just beginning his football career at VHS as a player on the Freshman football team. He contributes to the team as a corner back. Banuelos manages to balance his rigorous football practices with the rest of his schedule by treating it like any other class. Banuelos has developed many lasting friendships by being on the football team and believes that he will always remember the fun he had while playing the sport. Besides paintball, Banuelos enjoys playing football in the park with his friends.

Ready...set...hike. Adam Bishop of Freshman yells commands so that his offensive players know which plays he is going to run.

One handed. Colin Davis of Junior Varsity, easily pushes off two Hart players while running the ball down the field.

The start of the Hart defeat. Sophomore Virgil Hill of Junior Varsity, makes his way to the end zone as he passes a fallen Hart player.

Getting air. Terrez Scott of Freshman, gets mad air as he smoothly grasps the ball during a Burbank game.

Run for it. Patrick Damato of Junior Varsity, easily sprints around Notre Dame to reach the end zone and gain points for Valencia.

Not a chance. Three Freshmen teammates defend Cody Munoz as a Hart player tries to tackle him.

Be aggressive. Jordan Turbyfill of Junior Varsity, puts on his game face as he sneaks around Saugus players on the way to the end zone.

CHEERLEADING

Samantha Marino, a senior on our Varsity squad, has been cheerleading for seven years, four of them here at VHS. She plans on cheering after high school, hopefully as part of the UCA Staff. If this plan does not work out, Marino would love to be a part of an All-Star squad, considering that cheer keeps her physically in shape. Her most memorable moment as a cheerleader occurred when she was a sophomore on the co-ed team. The team went to the National Competitions at Disney World in Florida, placing seventh in the entire nation. She says that this year's Valencia versus Hart High School football game was the most exciting game to cheer at because the crowd was so pumped up. Marino has met some of her best friends through cheerleading and will never forget the unforgettable years she spent on the squad here at Valencia High School.

Katie Kurowski

Beginning as a mascot for Warrior Pop Warner Football, Senior Katie Kurowski has been cheerleading since the age of five. She is a significant member to the Varsity Cheerleading Squad because of her intense leadership skills. This dedicated cheerleader looks forward to cheering after high school because of her passion for the sport. Over the years, Kurowski has accumulated many bruises, fat lips and broken blood vessels. Luckily, these incidents haven't discouraged her from continuing to compete. Kurowski also loves getting the crowd pumped up at games with the cheer, "Whose House? V-House!" Cheerleading has both helped improve her work ethics and introduced her to her two best friends. She will always remember the times the team attended cheer camp and when they auditioned for the All-Star team. Maintaining a 3.0 GPA, Kurowski takes pleasure in her film as literature class the most.

Pump it up. Sarah White and Tracy Cannata stretch into two full liberties after Valencia scores yet another touchdown against Hart.

H-O-T-T-O-G-O Vikings are hot to go. Alyssa Dibene, Jennifer Brophy and Rebecca Summers set up to push to a full lib at the Norte Dame game.

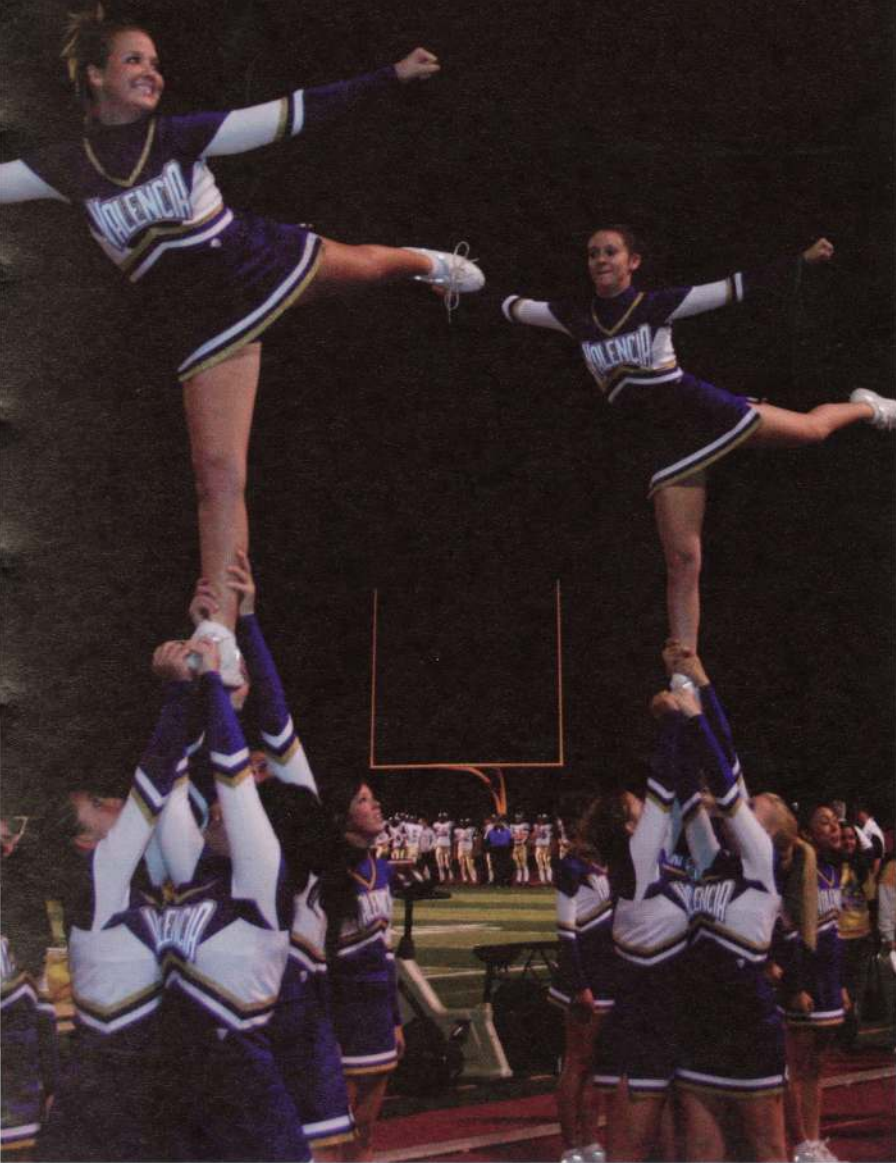

So clap your hands, and stomp your feet, tell them your a Viking and you can't be beat. Valencia cheer encourages the crowd to join in during the Notre Dame game.

Bending over backwards. Varsity cheer pumps up the crowd before the Hart game, resulting in the biggest win of Valencia's football history and destroying Hart's 15 year record.

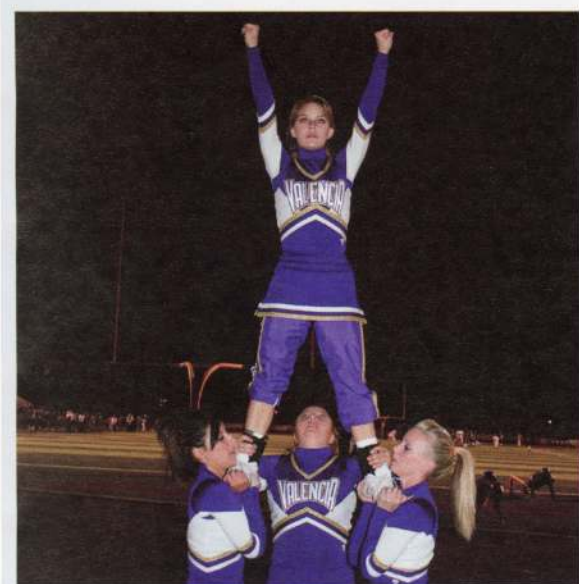

VARSITY

Vikings are the best hey hey...V-H-S. Brittany Reeves and Austin Pulley cheer with the rest of the Varsity Squad, pumping up the crowd at the Canyon game.

If you like it, yell "Go big gold, go big gold!" Austin Pulley helps to raise the volume of the squad after the Varsity Football Team scores yet another touchdown against Canyon.

G-O, let's go Vikings... G-O, let's go! Samantha Marino flies a full with her stunt group Alyssa Dibene, Sarah Hanlin and Mallory Holland at the Hart game.

Brittany Trujillo

While Brittany Trujillo has eight years of experience on the Pop Warner Cheer Team, this is her second year on the Valencia High School Cheerleading Squad. It is surprising that in her ten years of performing, she has never once had an extreme injury, just a few minor accidents during practices. Brittany's most memorable moment was cheerleading at the Homecoming Rally. She loved seeing the thrilled reaction of the crowd after her teammates were thrown into the air and executed front flips. Brittany feels that cheerleading at Valencia has given her a different perspective on her surroundings and is pleased with all of the close friends she has made. Even with a hectic practice schedule, Brittany maintains a respectable 3.7 GPA, her favorite class being math as "there is usually only one right answer."

Jana Whatley

Jana Whatley has cheered for the past three years and is currently a flyer on Valencia's Freshman Cheerleading Squad. Everyday, Whatley wears a smile on her face and pumps up the team with her energetic and outgoing personality. She prides herself in learning from her mistakes and becoming a better cheerleader. Her favorite part of cheering in high school is the experience of performing in rallies, being in the spotlight and building the energy of the crowd during games. Whatley's favorite rally was the first one of this school year. It was a new experience for her, and she greatly enjoyed it. Whatley enjoys going to practices and spending time with her life-long friends who are on the team. After high school, Whatley plans to continue cheerleading and to focus on her aspirations of developing a prominent career.

Towering above. JV cheer stands tall at the pre-game rally, taking our rightful place on and off the field before our Hart breaking win.

Triple threat. Jana Whatley, Megan Holland and Morgan Sullivan show off their scorpions to excite the crowd for the freshmen game against Hart.

Stand up for Valencia. Kathryn Gramza, Christine Farabaugh and Amber Spalding cheer for the JV football players after a first down.

Reaching up. Shannon Springer's of JV Cheer stunt group gets ready to catch her after she cradles from a basket toss.

Through rain or shine. Brianne Baldwin and Morgan Sullivan won't let rain get in the way as they sport arabesques at the freshmen Hart game.

Stick it. Stephanie Casada, Shannon Springer of JV Cheer and Jenna Lederer stick three full liberties during the fourth quarter at the Saugus game.

Free falling. The JV cheer squad prepares to catch Shannon Springer, Stephanie Casada and Jenna Lederer as they link arms and spin in a circle during the Hart game.

MARCHING BAND

Jae Tony Myung

Jae Tony Myung has played the clarinet in the VHS band for the past four years. Now a senior, Myung is committed to improving his musical skills and pursuing his dreams of becoming a professional singer. He was first inspired to play the clarinet by his mother, a piano teacher, whom he still goes to for advice when he needs it. With the support of his mother and band mates, Myung can overcome any obstacle the future has in store for him. To this clarinet player, the band has been an everlasting roller coaster of fun and excitement. His most embarrassing moment was when he helped conduct the band as an assistant and had to wear an eye patch at the same time. Myung, who is very devoted to long hours of band practice, is also the founder and president of the Character Design Club on campus.

Andee Dry

Flute and piccolo player, Andee Dry, is a senior at Valencia High School and has been playing her instruments for ten years. She loves being a part of the band because it is like a family of brothers and sisters. She believes everyone is unique in their own way but many band members share the same common goals and talents. This year Dry is one of the two drum majors of the band. Conducting for their field show and leading parades are only a few of the many responsibilities she has. Receiving various awards for being an outstanding citizen and being a part of the All-District Honor Band, Dry strives to do well in everything she does. Being a part of the band has taught her about life and about herself. It has helped her to become more out-going, self-confident and opinionated. To young musicians, Dry says, "Stay with it." Music is a part of her, and without it, she would not be who she is today.

Playing in harmony. Andrew Yeah, Gabriela Castro and Philip Ingram play their clarinets in unison to make the most beautiful sounds of music at a football game against Bishop Amat on November 11th.

Play that funky music white boy.

Paul Donoghue plays the tuba during an outside rally to celebrate Valencia's ten year anniversary on November 8th.

Music to my ears. John Olson, Nathaniel Fernandez and Ronald Tuason maintain their tempo while playing their saxophones in parallel lines.

Form a straight line. Peter Brynjegard and Matthew Fullove wait for their cue with the rest of drumline to start playing at the outdoor rally.

Put one foot in front of the other. Michael Mulli and Estephania Machiavello march in place during the homecoming game against Burroughs on October 15th.

Sounds of music. Robert Todd focuses on reading his music notes for his trombone to stay on the same page as the other musicians.

Leader of the pack. Grace Wiesmann marches with poise in front of the entire band to lead them and their sounds of music to their seats before the game.

Easy going

FLAG

Karalyn Gabrielsen

Karalyn Gabrielsen, a Junior on the award-winning Flag team, has been involved in flag since she arrived at VHS in 2002. She enjoys the sport because it gives her a sense of belonging in such a large school. Gabrielsen says that participating in flag is incredibly time consuming, considering she devotes two hours every morning and her Friday and Saturday nights to the sport. She continues to be involved in the sport because she believes that all of the practice is worth it. When she has completed her massive amounts of homework, she enjoys dancing and hanging out with her friends. In addition to dedicating most of her time to Flag Team, Gabrielsen is involved in the Spanish Honor Society, National Honor Society and Valencia's Hip-Hop Team. After high school, Gabrielsen plans to go to Cal State Long Beach because of their amazing dance program and beautiful campus.

Nicole Marinovich

Nicole Marinovich has been involved with the Flag Team for three years. To Marinovich, flag is a form of self-expression through music. Being a member of the Flag Team gives her something to work for and to be proud of. Competition is thrilling for Marinovich, as she knows that the audience and judges are watching every move she and her teammates make. She also understands that if you make one mistake it could ruin the chance of receiving a trophy for the team. Marinovich is proud that she is one of the six people on the saber line. Besides the occasional tripping over a flag pole or a dropping rifle on her head, nothing embarrassing has happened to her at a team event. Marinovich is involved in CSF and NHS and aspires to go the UCLA or another similar college. In the future, she would like to be able to spend her time as a coach or advisor for a flag team.

Last minute practice. Haley Ridenour and Cassandra Tamres show off their rifle skills while twirling and tossing them in unity with the rest of the girls on flag.

Flyers. Nicole Marinovich shows off her ribbon skills while twirling and winding them to reveal their magnificent colors.

Green streaks. Janet Shin warms up before performing live in front of the entire stadium during half-time of a football game.

Chin up. Emily Hine focuses on staying in unison with her team members while performing their field show to this year's theme of Fantasmic.

Posture, positioning, and pride. Kassandra Tamres dances with the Valencia High School Marching Band to show her school spirit and football pride.

1, 2 and toss. The entire Flag Team works on their ability to perform in harmony before they perform on the field during half-time.

Twist and turn. Emily Hines glides through the air to demonstrate flexibility and strength while performing with her flag during half-time of a football game.

GIRL'S VOLLEYBALL

Alissa Workman

Alissa Workman, a middle blocker on the Girl's Varsity volleyball team, has been playing volleyball since her freshman year. Playing on eight different teams, including club volleyball, Workman is glad her good friend and teammate, Casey Rowley, talked her into trying out for the volleyball team. She used to spend her time dancing, but she gave up her pointe shoes and tights for spandex and kneepads. Workman's main motivation is to see her proud teammate's faces and hear the crowd go wild after she crushes the ball into the other team's face. Being a part of the Varsity Team has improved her willingness to be more open to other people's personalities. Melissa Quicho is her inspiration because she is so enthusiastic towards the sport. Workman has been scouted by many schools but plans to play volleyball for COC. With this plan, she can eventually transfer into a school of design.

Harmony Tuttle

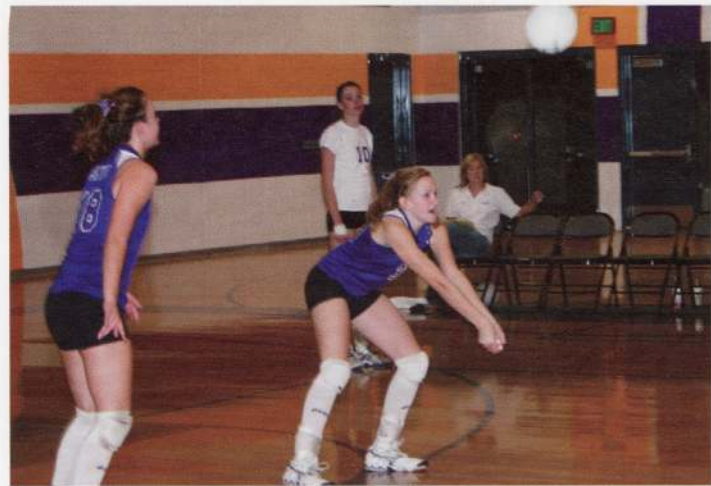

This is Harmony Tuttle's fourth year participating in VHS's volleyball program and her second year on the Varsity Team as an outside hitter. Her brother contributes to the fact that she plays volleyball because he was a volleyball player himself. In the future, she would love to pursue a career in coaching volleyball. When it comes to motivation, Tuttle is her own self-motivator, as her character and personality push her through her matches. She believes that by being a part of the volleyball team she has improved her teamwork and leadership skills. Her greatest achievements in volleyball are earning the title of Athlete of the Week and being undefeated in League Championships this year. In her free time, Tuttle is committed to her job at the Elephant Bar and spending time with her friends and family.

Shoot! Shoot! Alissa Workman and Taryn Robertson try to catch Buena off guard by running the fast and powerful "31."

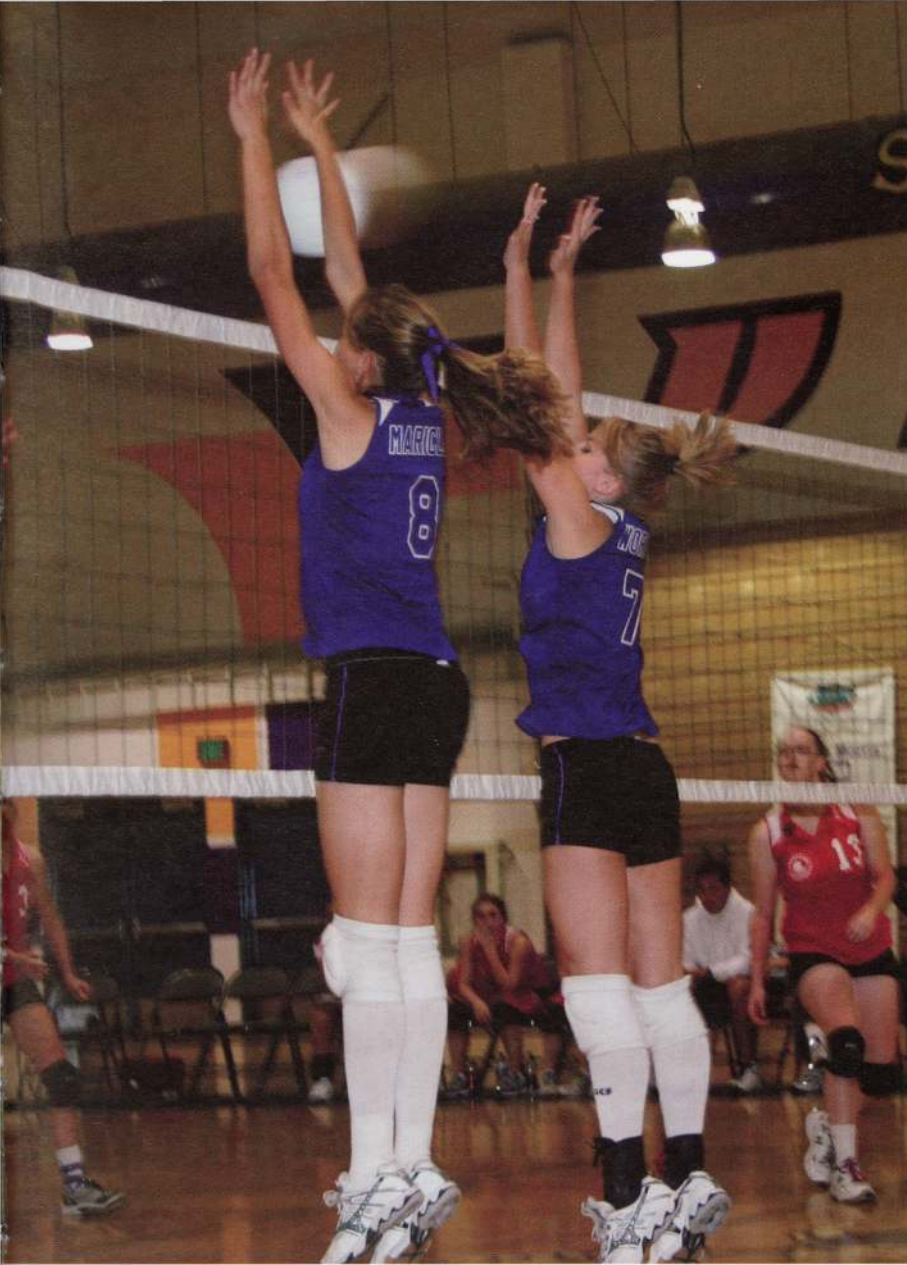

Get low. Lauren Wells perfectly bumps the ball up to the net off of a serve to give her hitters a chance to put the ball away.

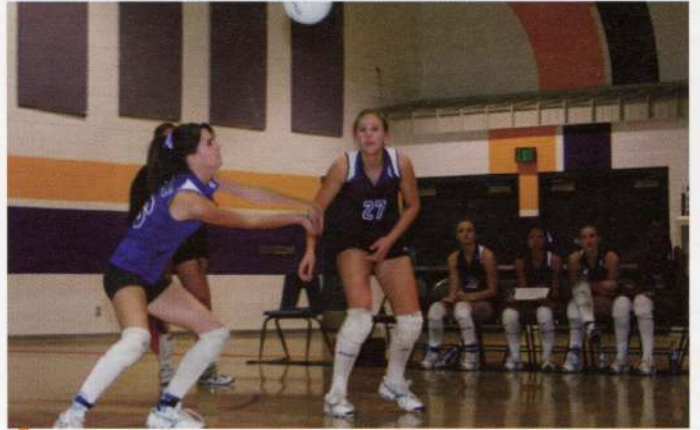

Elbows back and snap. Melissa Quicho hits the "pipe" to help lead the Lady Vikings in a victory 25-17 while at Canyon.

VARSITY

It all starts with passing. Casey Rowley adjusts her platform to pass the ball in order for Taryn Robertson to set Margaret Hank a "4".

Get on top of the ball. Harmony Tuttle snaps at the ball to aid her record of 121 kills in the season while playing Hart at Valencia.

Keep your eye on the ball. Nicole Piva "gets low" while focusing on the upcoming serve and preparing to hit the "4".

GIRL'S VOLLEYBALL

Madison Miller

Madison Miller has been involved with the school's volleyball program for two years. She finds it amusing that although she is one of the shortest players on team, she plays as a middle blocker. Miller's main motivation is to not disappoint the team. The girls on the team have helped her to bring out her school spirit. She feels that it would be more fun to lose a match to an awesome team than to be bored playing one of lower quality. One incident that set her back was when she injured herself wakeboarding, making it difficult for her to serve. She plans on playing volleyball throughout the rest of her high school career. Madison is interested in attending a college but has not yet decided where she would like to go.

Layne Castro

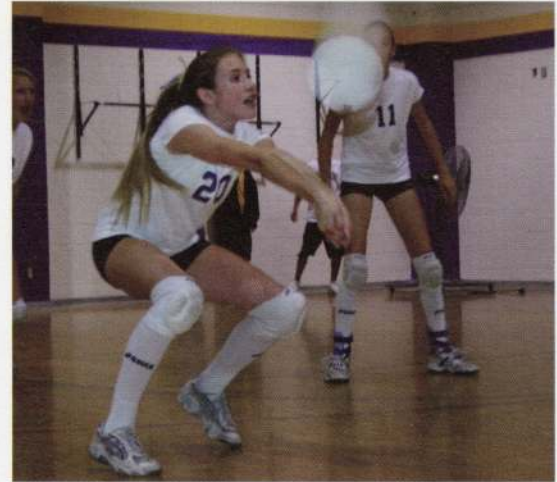

Layne Castro is an outside hitter and middle back on the Freshman Girl's Volleyball Team. After playing club volleyball for five years, she has decided to pursue the sport in high school. She has received straight A's in her academic classes since junior high school and is eager to obtain a volleyball scholarship to UCLA or Pepperdine. A friend of Castro's sparked her interest in volleyball, and she is now caught up in the excitement of the sport. Her amazing coach, Jaime, inspires her because she pushes her to develop her playing skills. Castro believes that it is most rewarding when their team beats a talented opponent they were originally not expecting to triumph over. Castro cherishes the new friendships that she has made with the girls on the team. Volleyball allows her to spend her time doing something she really enjoys.

Roooooff! Britney McCarthy goes up with power to defend areas of the court with her block and completely stuffs the Burroughs' middle to gain a point for the team.

Passing before hitting. Jenell Mielkus gets low and behind the ball to push it up to her setter in order to hit a "5".

Get that ball. Brandee Fairchild snaps on top of the ball, while hitting a "4" and sends it flying onto the other side of the court in hopes that the opposing team won't be able to dig it and run a "quick" off of it.

Stay behind the ball. Marissa Neiman forcefully sets the ball back onto the opponent's side to try and earn a point for the Valencia Vikings.

Dive for it. Chelsea Peck throws her body towards the ball to keep it from hitting the ground and in effort to get the ball up to her setter.

Flat platforms! Lani Jaimes passes the ball off of a serve to help aid the freshman Lady Vikings push through and take league.

Up! Up! Courtney Alberi makes a saving dive to get the ball up to her setter while playing Canyon on our home court.

Deanna Daglas

BOYS VOLLEYBALL

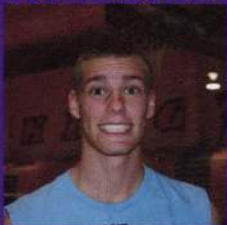

Sonny Martinez

Four-year high school player, Sonny Martinez, is thrilled to be on the 2004-2005 Varsity volleyball team. Playing the game has taught him to have confidence in his actions, to have fun and to "be chill." Martinez's favorite game was played against Santa Margarita in the final game of the Westlake tournament. The team got first place in the tournament, and Martinez was awarded the Most Valuable Player. Though volleyball sometimes interferes with his school classes and projects, he enjoys the challenge and is able to maintain a 3.0 G.P.A. Martinez confesses he is a total beach bum, and he loves the ocean more than life itself. He prefers playing beach volleyball as he loves the feel of diving in the sand. In the future, Martinez would love to play volleyball in college and someday even start his own beach volleyball team.

Neil Benveniste

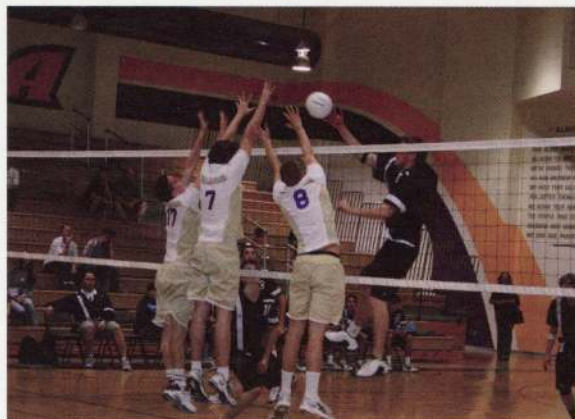

Junior Neil Benveniste has been playing volleyball for a total of four years. After spending his first years in high school on both the Freshmen and Junior Varsity teams, he has finally made his way up to Varsity. Playing at VHS has brought Benveniste many lasting friendships, and he says that eight of the members on his team are his best friends. During the game, Benveniste especially enjoys seeing his comrade and teammate Teddy Goetz "six pack" the other teams. He hopes that this year's season will bring the team's third, and his first, CIF championship. Although Benveniste loves playing beach volleyball, he admits that he enjoys playing indoor more. Off of the court he also takes pleasure in surfing and admiring old cars. With a 3.5 GPA, Benveniste's favorite class is drafting because he would like to be an architect one day. Benveniste sees volleyball in his future, and he feels that the team would not be as complete without him.

Making the hit. Ryan Worth spikes the ball over then net, scoring a point to help win in only three games with Hart getting a mere total of 41 points compared to Valencia's 75.

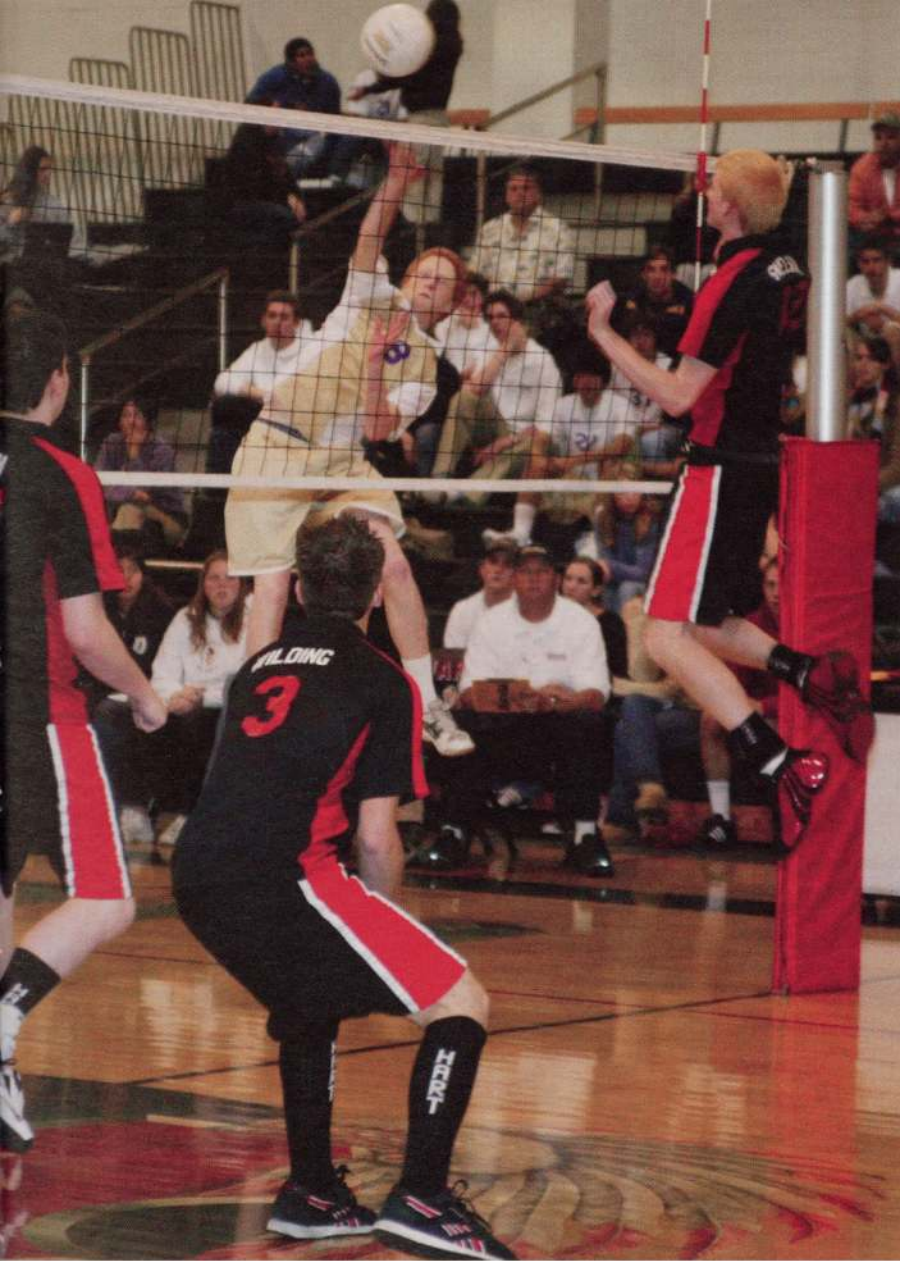

Put your hands in the air like you just don't care. Sean Carter, Stephen Cornelius and Neil Benveniste take on a Saugus player assiting us in our three game win.

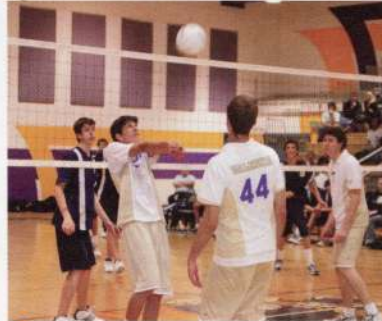

Get Low. Sean Carter dips down to the floor just in time to make the save against Saugus so that his teammates can play off it.

VARSITY

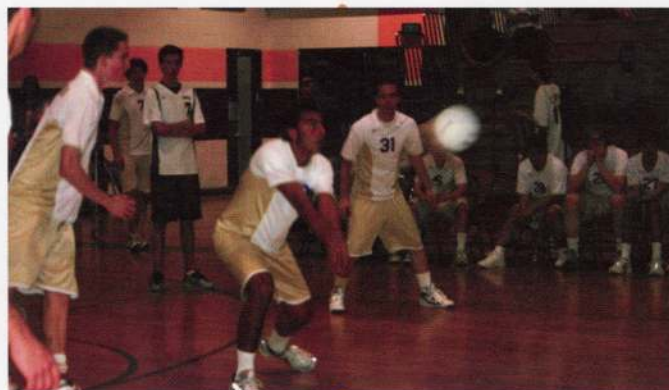

No sweat. On Valencia's third contact, James Ker bumps the ball over the net.

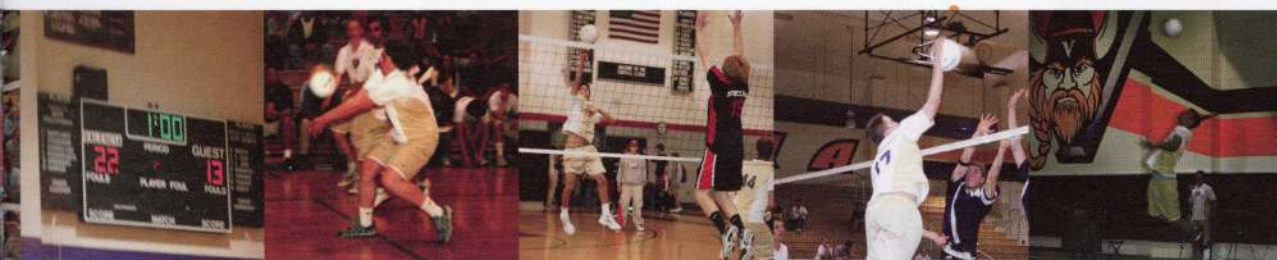

Setting up. Kevin Ker hurries into position to set the ball backwards to his opposite hitter.

Don't even think about it. Sonny Martinez receives the ball and passes it forward to be set.

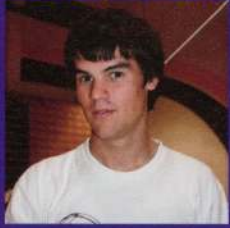

Stomping the competition. Stephen Cornelius hammers the ball into two Saugus players, putting them to shame with their devastating loss.

BOY'S VOLLEYBALL

I'm going to make it. Using great skill, Taylor Underwood spikes the ball over both the net and the hands of the opposing players.

Corey Rowley

Corey Rowley has been a beneficial member of the Junior Varsity Boy's Volleyball team for the past two years. Rowley recalls several accounts of team perseverance, but he especially thinks of the game played against Westlake. He was very proud that they came out victorious and ultimately slaughtered a team that they had lost to twice before. Rowley enjoys spending quality time with his teammates Jason Greenberg, Cary Lockwood and Azam Awan, who are now his best friends. Rowley vividly remembers a particular day during practice, when one of his teammates, Jonathan Griffith, lifted him up so that he could make a slam-dunk. Despite all the bruises he gets from volleyball, Rowley has no doubt that he will go on to play next year. Corey Rowley hopes to keep creating volleyball memories and have the sport continue to be a key element in his life.

Brett Clark

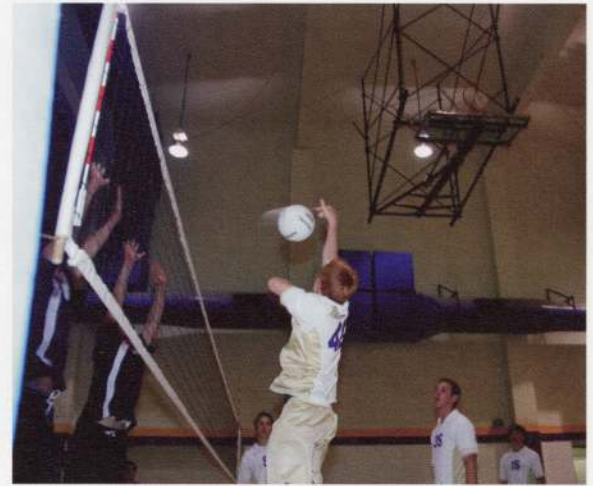

Brett Clark is on the Valencia High School Frosh team, but has been an active member of volleyball since the seventh grade. Clark's fondest volleyball memory is the game played against West Ranch in which his team worked very well together. Being a part of the volleyball team has enabled Clark to improve his playing skills and excel socially. Volleyball has given him the opportunity to meet people from different walks of life and to form close friendships. Clark says that his favorite part of the day is being able to sing in the gym during practice. Along with volleyball, Clark takes part in theatrical arts. He also enjoys going to the beach and showing off his volleyball skills. Brett Clark hopes to continue playing volleyball for the next three years and possibly play professionally someday in the future.

In your face. In the match against Saugus, Sophomore Corey Rowley spikes the ball back into the court.

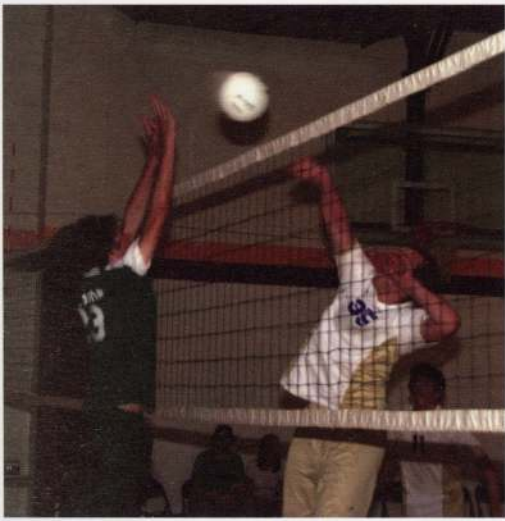

Going up. In the final game during the match against Saugus, Brett Clark spikes the ball onto the other side of the net.

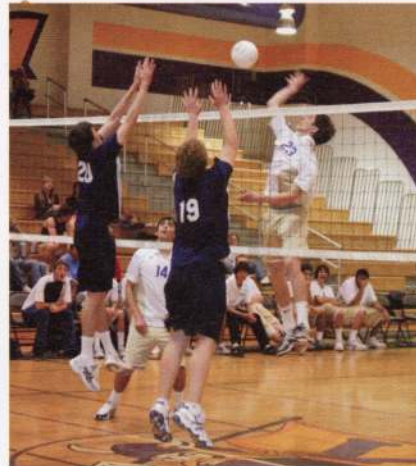

Up, up and away. Sophomore Siamach Irlilian sets the ball backward to assist his teammate in what he hopes will be an ace.

Bump, set, spike. Member of the Junior Varsity team, Freshman Eric Miyamoto, skillfully hits the ball back into the court while saving an outside set.

Bump, bump, bump. Determined, Arthur Bohning stands ready with his perfect platform to send the volleyball to his setter.

Spike it. Hoping for a sideout, Skyler Seymour quickly responds to a set and fires the ball over the net.

BASEBALL

Nicholas Margis

Nicholas Margis was introduced to baseball by his father, who always told him amusing stories about when he played high school ball. When Margis started high school, he knew he wanted to follow in his father's footsteps. Now a Varsity player, Margis fully comprehends both the physical and mental aspects of the game. Margis says that in order to be successful in the sport you must first grasp the concept of failure, which enables you to understand your flaws. Being a part of the team has made Margis more confident and more eager to lend a hand to others in need. Margis enjoys helping out the younger teams and hopes that he can one day inspire them like his teammates have inspired him. When Margis graduates, he plans to attend Mesa State and join the highly prestigious baseball program there.

Nick Ferndino

Nick Ferndino, a talented pitcher, has been on the Varsity Baseball Team for both his junior and senior year. He was encouraged to play baseball after he was a member of a tee-ball team at the age of five. During his sophomore year, Ferndino broke his arm and tore all of the tendons in his wrist. Hitting was always the most difficult for Ferndino to achieve, but after his tragic injury, he hasn't had to swing a bat since. Being a part of the team has made Ferndino some great friendships, and it has developed his work ethic. "He loves the fact that he can finish a season without looking back and saying "what if?" For Ferndino, walking off the field with no regrets and leaving no doubt in the head of the opponent is the most rewarding. Ferndino would love to have a professional career in baseball and looks forward to the bright future ahead of him.

Winding Up. Nick Pappas winds up his pitch in preparation for a killer throw.

Wait for it. Catcher Dan Linkmeyer waits for the opposing batter to strike out.

Swing, Swing. Michael Hur hits the ball with force at the game against Warren.

All eyes on you. Brian Howe stretches out to grasp a ball that was thrown to first base to get the runner out in the game verses Hawthorn.

VARSITY

Cracking the bat. Sean Proni hits the ball as hard as he can in order to win Valencia a homerun.

All your might. After Armando Gallardo tags Hawthorne out, he quickly throws the ball to first base to try and get two outs.

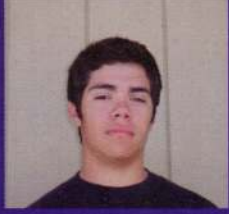

Almost home. Casey Mulligan rounds third after Valencia hits the ball out of the park at the game against Hart.

BASEBALL

Randy Guerrero

Randy Guerrero has been part of Valencia Baseball for three years, and now as a junior, he is a pitcher for the Junior Varsity team. Guerrero gets his work ethic and motivation from his teammates, who always drive him to do his best. Because of baseball, Guerrero has met many new people, and he realizes that he loves working on a team with respectable people. Guerrero believes that just being a part of the team is a reward in itself. Before all games, he listens to music, as it pumps him up and makes him more relaxed, which is a must. He is extremely proud of the fact that the last game he played his freshman year was his first League Championship game. Guerrero believes that college should always be an option and plans to go to a four-year university.

Matthew Higgins

Matthew Higgins was inspired to play baseball by his father, who played when he was young. As a child, Higgins won his first championship game at Hart, and this event encouraged him to play at VHS. Beginning his high school career on the Freshman team, Higgins can still say he loves the sport. Starting each game with a good stretch, he feels it is most rewarding when he hits a homerun because he can see how his hard work pays off. Higgins finds it most difficult to hit the ball into right field, and despite the fact that he injured his shoulder pitching and didn't play for a year, he is still determined to succeed. Being a part of a team has helped him to work better with others. As a good student who earns A's and B's, Higgins would like to attend California State Fullerton because of its great baseball program. He looks forward to being drafted and beginning a professional career in the sport.

Swing. Trying his hardest, JV batter Matthew Miller swings his bat with strength and confidence.

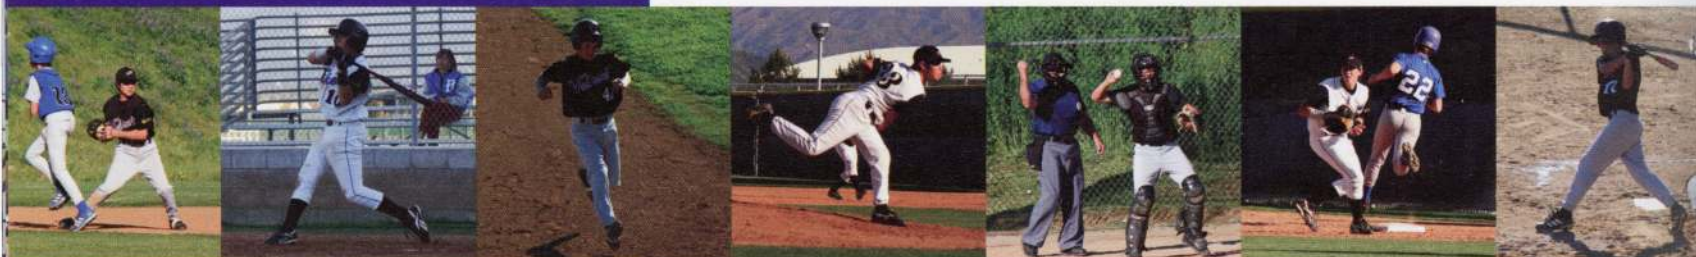

And he's safe. Struggling to make it before the third baseman tags him out, Freshman runner Joseph Ferdino sprints and slides towards the plate.

Feet don't fail me now. After stealing second, JV player Travis Margaras looks to his left to see if he has time to get to third.

He's out of there. JV short-stop Joshua Corrales quickly retrieves the ball and lunges to make a throw to first base.

I caught it. Freshman first baseman, Robert Prout-Iniguez, catches the ball as he tags the base to get the third out for the inning.

Hey batter, batter. Hoping for a homerun, JV player James Pinto slams the ball to the outfield.

Three strikes, you're out. After reading the calls, Freshman Pitcher Elijah Brown pitches the ball towards the opponent.

SOFTBALL

Breanne Javier

Breanne Javier has been playing softball for twelve years and has played on the Valencia team all four years of her high school career. What attracts Javier to the sport is the thrill of never knowing how a game is going to end. Even though she gets butterflies in her stomach before each game, she can't wait to get out there and show her opponents all she's got. Javier enjoys the softball environment and has befriended every girl on the team. Softball has enabled Javier to gain more trust in others and turn to them for guidance. During the season, practice is held three days a week, but Javier gladly shows up with a smile. Javier's great attitude and sportsmanship has granted her a full ride scholarship to the University of Central Florida. In the future, Breanne Javier hopes to be successful on a college softball team and one day make it to the pros.

Whitney Lowe

Whitney Lowe has been playing softball for a total of ten years. After playing travel ball for many years, Lowe was excited to finally be able to play ball on a high school team. Now that she is on the varsity team, Lowe enjoys being a part of the team and having the privilege of playing with the other talented girls on the team. Lowe is passionate about competing in this sport because she is already a competitive person, which makes the game even more thrilling. Being involved with the Valencia Softball Team has helped Lowe learn how to depend on and trust others. In her free time, Lowe spends time with her friends by going to the movies and shopping, just like any other teenage girl. Lowe looks forward to moving across the country in order to attend Lehigh University in Pennsylvania, where she has received a full scholarship because of her softball talents.

Swing batter batter. Junior Veronique LaVal bunts the ball and quickly runs to first base before the opposing team can get to the short ball.

A close call. After carefully watching the softball approach, Torrie Anderson slams the ball into the outfield.

Slip and Slide. Junior Danielle Maricle slides into second base after a teammate hits a single.

VARSITY

And you're out. Mallory DiFatta squats in front of the umpire and catches the strike the other team just got.

Ready for action. Sophomore Alyssa Ishibashi throws the ball she just caught to Senior Whitney Lowe to get the runner out at second base.

Toss it. Number seventeen, Jordan Taylor pitches the ball to a Chaminade hitter and strikes them out.

Wham. Senior Breanne Javier viscosly hits the ball at a home game against Chaminade High School.

Crazy
Nicole Matson

SOFTBALL

April Rosas

April Rosas has been playing softball since she was five years old. She decided to try out for the VHS team because she wanted to get the feel of the high school sports experience. After being a part of a team, Rosas realizes the true meaning of victory. She now sees victory as team effort and not as an individual's action. Rosas recalls the time when her team worked together, made it to nationals and finished in the top twenty-five. Through softball, Rosas has learned to work out problems with others and accomplish each task at hand. When Rosas isn't practicing for softball on the field, she spends her time eating sour candy, watching movies and swimming. When Rosas graduates, she aspires to receive a scholarship to a prestigious Pac-10 school.

Brianna ODonnell

Freshman Brianna ODonnell has been playing softball for four years. Her love for the sport led her to try out for the high school team. For ODonnell, it is fun to yell and cheer when a ball is hit or a good play is made. Hoping to be on the Varsity team one day, ODonnell enjoys the way it feels to win and learn new skills. Practicing over ten hours a week, she works hard and always tries to have a good attitude because she knows it affects everyone around her. In the little free time she has, ODonnell takes walks, eats, watches television and talks to her friends. Having three other sisters, ODonnell would love to receive a full ride scholarship to college because she knows it would help out her family. She looks forward to the day when she is able to earn a degree and support herself. But for now, she can't wait for next year's season to come.

Hit and run. Kelly Armstrong gives the softball her undivided attention as she swings to hit the curve ball ahead.

Just within my reach. Frosh player Danielle Jimenez falls to the ground for a catch.

Make way. JV player Erin Murphy gets ready to slide to homebase.

Field of dreams. JV pitcher, Allison Rosso throws an overhead ball in hopes of striking out the batter.

Am I safe? After Frosh player Kelly Beswick slides to second, she looks to see if the referee called her out or safe.

Batter up. Alyssa Garza takes a few practice swings before she is ready to hit the ball.

Catcher and the rye. Danielle Jimenez of the Freshman Team prepares to throw the ball to get an out.

Energetic
Alyssa Jucksch

TRACK & FIELD

Michael Restivo

Michael Restivo was introduced to track and field by one of his good friends who used to pole-vault. Now in his second year in Track and Field, Restivo has broken many school records as a pole-vaulter. He prepares for each meet by concentrating on the task at hand and telling himself that he can accomplish anything. He also eats several power bars before each meet to give him more energy. Being a member of the team has taught Restivo life lessons on how to prioritize his time and learn from his mistakes. Restivo's dedication and passion for the sport has definitely paid off this season, and he plans to set even higher records in the years to come. When Michael Restivo graduates from high school, he aspires to go to Cal Polly San Luis Obispo and eventually go into business with his father.

Courtney McGrath

Courtney McGrath was always running around as a child, and she began to take the sport seriously when she turned eight years old. Having been associated with track for ten years, McGrath has learned winning is never a self-act. McGrath says that winning a race involves more than just the runner; it takes the support of others to ensure victory. McGrath puts in ten hours each week to condition and prepare for upcoming meets. One of the most vigorous races she has competed in was when she had to run in the pouring rain. Despite harsh running conditions, McGrath enjoys the time she spends on the field with her fellow teammates. Her fondest memories of track are those pertaining to bus rides to and from track meets at other high schools. With many friends on the team, McGrath has never had a dull moment in track. After high school, Courtney McGrath plans to work for a sports team as a physical therapist.

Free flying. Brittany Gilmore jumps over the bar after making a good approach against Hart.

Leap frog. Scott Labonte runs through his long jump steps then leaps into the sand with all his might.

Wind up. Nicolae Bernal throws the discus without foot-faulting while his coach watches his form.

Success goes to the aggressor. Samantha Cals finishes her high jump without hitting the bar and successfully completes her jump.

Pass the bar. Evan Richards sprints up to Terrez Scott to pass off the bar and hopes that he can catch up to the Hart runners.

Count your lefts. While continuing to lower his pole, Sean Parker counts every left step he takes to know when to plant his pole and jump over the bar.

Team encouragement. Jordan Recchia runs behind Paulmichael Contreras during the long distance races and keeps him running strong by giving him words of encouragement.

CROSS COUNTRY

Keep on running, keep on running. Within yards of the finish line, Varsity runner Keene Kernstine begins to sprint, past the Saugus opponent.

Glenn-Marie Endris

Glenn-Marie Endris is an ambitious junior on the Cross Country Team. In the eighth grade, Endris discovered that she was easily capable of running more than a mile. On this note, she decided to become a serious runner, just as her mother once was. The Cross Country Team has taught her that it is important to work together with others in order to improve. Endris has also come to the conclusion that practicing and conditioning is most effective in improving her running skills. One of Endris's fondest memories is from camp, where she and her friends created jokes while they ran. In the beginning of the year, she set a goal for herself: to think positively about every race. She is proud that she has been able to meet this goal. Endris doesn't have a solid plan for her life after high school but hopes that running will definitely contribute to whatever her future holds.

Robert Richardson

Robert Richardson, captain of VHS's Cross Country Team, has been running competitively for six years. Richardson has improved his running skills since he has been involved in cross country, becoming a faster runner. Even with this improvement, he believes that there is more room for him to develop his running skills. To Richardson, this sport has demonstrated that he can become a dedicated athlete and excel in it as well. His most embarrassing moment on the team was when he tripped while running down a hill in the ninth grade, falling onto a pile of rocks. He was not discouraged because he knew that everyone on the team was eventually going to have his or her own embarrassing moments. Richardson prepares for each Cross Country meet by eating pasta and getting plenty of rest. Though he is not sure of what he wants to accomplish after high school, Richardson plans to further his education by going to college.

She'll be coming around the corner when she comes. Girl's Varsity runner Briana Hidalgo runs around a corner on the Central Park course with Hart runners on her tail.

Dash away. Natalie Leal of the Varsity team dashes across the Central Park field.

Put your heart into it. Kenneth Westbrook of Boy's Varsity gives everything he has in the last stretch of the race.

Along side. Jordan Recchia and Paulmichael Contreras jog in unison as they pass opposing runners from Saugus and Canyon.

Stay together. JV girls Kelly VanAmberg, Brianna Werner and Sarah Abbott stay close to help maintain a slow and steady pace and conserve their energy for the end.

Building endurance. Varsity's Kienan Lafferty leads Hart in the last leg of the race at Central Park and follows through to beat them.

BOYS' BASKETBALL

Chad Allan

Though soccer was Chad Allan's first sport, he has been playing basketball for as long as he can remember. His father sparked his interest in the game, and he soon made it a part of his life. By playing ball, Allan has made new friends whom he hangs out with in his free time. Basketball keeps him out of trouble, and he loves the ankle breaking and slam-dunks. Aside from being on the court, Allan also loves to surf, wakeboard and skim board. Allan is very proud of the two years he has spent on the Varsity team, finishing once in third place and once in first place. He says it has been the best two years of high school, and he couldn't be more pleased. With a love and talent for the game, Allan can safely say that basketball will remain in his future.

Joseph Robinson

Senior Joseph Robinson has been involved with basketball since the age of six, when he remembers seeing his father play. After watching his older sister when she attended VHS, he decided he also wanted to be part of the team. Basketball is now one of Robinson's favorite sports because it requires him to simultaneously be an athletic individual and a team player. Since Robinson has been on Valencia High School's Varsity team, he has made many friends and has learned many of life's values. He finds it thrilling to journey to the championship and overcome all the obstacles that may arise. Robinson is very proud that the team won the Foothill League Championship this past year. It would be nearly impossible for him to be any happier with the way his high school career went.

Like walking on air. Chad Allan dominates Saugus with an awesome shot as his fellow teammate, David Horst, watches hopefully from the side.

Dribbling down the court. Eric Sevilla sprints down the court, passing the defenseless Burbank players and leading the team to an exciting victory.

Double trouble. Christian Bluford and Kevin Delange team up to get the rebound at the Saugus game.

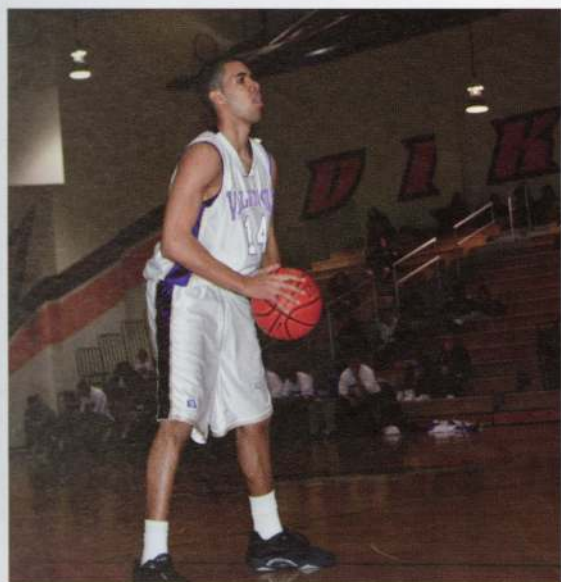

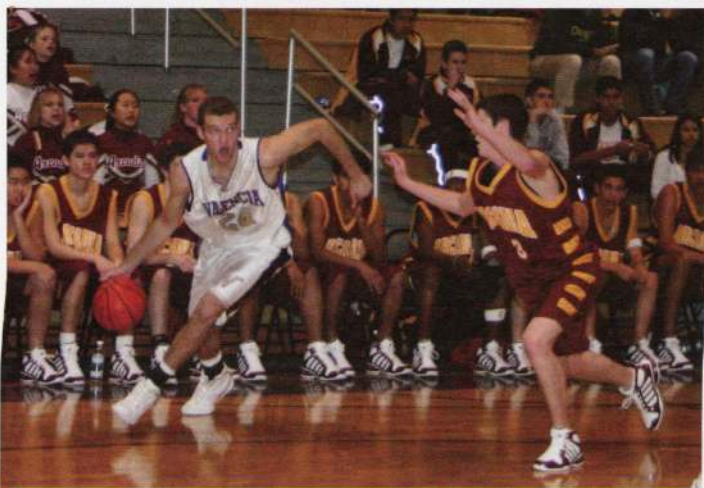

VARSITY

Nothing but net. Joseph Robinson jumps up and stretches for a rebound in the Burbank game.

Weave and weave and shoot. In the first play-off game versus Arcadia, Junior Teddy Goetz quickly finds an opening and goes in for a hoop.

I've got it. In a struggle to keep control of the ball, Kevin Delange and Brandon Bullough work together to prevent the other team from gaining possession.

I think I can, I think I can. Junior Chester Wyche takes a deep breath as he prepares to take a free throw.

Hardworking
Jason Nicholson

BOYS' BASKETBALL

Shoot for the gold. Jordan Bottenfield manages to take a shot while being defended by three opposing Burbank players.

Mickey Crockett

Mickey Crockett's life has revolved around basketball since he was five years old. He recalls watching Michael Jordan play on television at an early age. Since then, Crockett has been inspired to become a professional basketball player. He loves the game because of the thrill and feeling of being unstoppable. Crockett's passion and performance of the sport has been greatly enhanced due to the powerful friendships he has acquired over the years. When Crockett is not on the court, he is either practicing or playing late night games at his friends' houses. Not only have his teammates inspired him to excel in basketball, but his family has as well. Crockett's parents have always supported him and have never failed to take him to his games and practices. With the endless memories, intense practices and millions of laughs, there is no doubt in Crockett's mind that he will return to play on the Varsity team next year.

Ryan Peters

Ryan Peters has been playing basketball since he was seven years old. He feels extremely accomplished now that he proudly wears a Valencia High School basketball jersey. Peters loves being a member of the Freshmen team, as he and his teammates get to work together for a common goal. Basketball in general is the most fulfilling sport for Peters because it is an exhilarating and fast-paced game which involves strategy and teamwork. Being a part of the team has made him feel compelled to work even harder, as he realizes it is his responsibility to his team. Peters' greatest achievement while on the freshman basketball team was when he led the team to earn second place in the Foothill League. Both his family and coaches have inspired him to continue excelling in the sport. They have encouraged him to work hard, to play his best and to pursue his goals.

Breaking through the wall. After racing through Hart's defense, Brandon Thrush goes for the hoop.

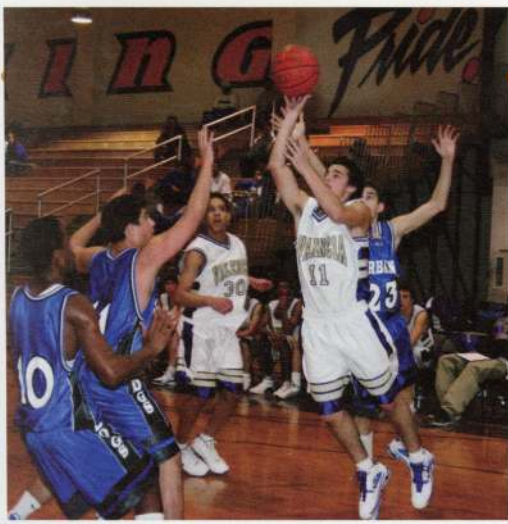

Flashing the game face. Junior Kevin Ker fiercely looks through intimidating Burbank players and finds an opening to make a shot.

Raising the ball to the net. With Saugus unable to stop him, Raphael Anumba launches off the ground for a lay-up.

This is how we dazzle, no dribble. To baffle the opposing Hart players, Mychal Rivera uses some tricky footwork to dribble before faking to the right.

Going for the gold. Jordan Bottenfield takes advantage of the lack of defense to go for a three-pointer.

Over and out. Freshman John Otavka throws the ball above the block attempt to add another two points to Valencia's score.

GIRLS BASKETBALL

Daviyonne Weathersby

Daviyonne Weathersby's passion for basketball started because of her father's devotion to the sport as a coach. She started playing at the age of five. Now, as a matured player, Weathersby enjoys playing as a Varsity member of the girls' basketball team because of the fast pace of the game. Weathersby plans to continue playing basketball at Cal State Fullerton, where she has received a scholarship. This dedicated player is one of the few accomplished members on the team who has been on varsity for all four years of her high school career. When Weathersby isn't competing or practicing on the court, she enjoys reading, relaxing and spending time with her family. Basketball has taught her how to get along with others with diverse backgrounds, and she is very grateful for having this amazing opportunity.

are not only successful but also fun to be around. Tarver feels honored to have been able to be a part of the girls' Varsity team for four years, as not many people get this opportunity. To Tarver, the most thrilling part of the game is being able to know that there is nothing to be worried about. She says the sport is relaxing, and gives a rush that clears the mind of anything else. While on Varsity, Tarver has been nominated to play in the McDonald's All-American Game, which is an opportunity only for eligible top seniors in the nation. Throughout her high school experience, Tarver's family has been the most influential to her. In the future, Tarver plans to play college ball on a full scholarship to Cal State Bakersfield.

Kelley Tarver

Basketball has been a huge part of Kelley Tarver's life since the fourth grade. As a member of the Varsity team, Tarver enjoys being a part of a great group of girls who are not only successful but also fun to be around. Tarver feels honored to have been able to be a part of the girls' Varsity team for four years, as not many people get this opportunity. Keep your eye on the ball. Mikala Fricke moves past two defensive Burbank players and shoots the ball, making another two points for the Vikings.

Going for it. In their first CIF match, Cassie Galuppo takes a lay-up after stealing the ball and running down the court, resulting in a win.

Swoosh. Kelley Tarver makes a free throw shot, helping the Vikings to win the nail-biting game against Canyon.

Over to the left. Pushing herself around the opponents, Diana Dellso makes her way to the basket.

VARSITY

I can make it. With her teammates watching hopefully, Kelley Tarver makes a wild stretch for the basket.

Flying high. Senior Brittany Sansone tries to avoid the block and goes up for a shot.

Get away. Micaela Sulham uses all of her force to get the ball up and knock her opponent's hand out of the way.

Energetic
Alison Ceppi

GIRL'S BASKETBALL

Chelsey Hastigan

When Chelsea Hastigan found out she made the Freshmen Basketball Team, she was ecstatic. Now that she has been involved with the program for almost a year, her passion for the sport has strengthened. Hastigan loves the fact that she and the other girls on the team can relate to each other as sisters, which helps improve their teamwork on the court. Hastigan's father has supported her entire basketball career and always encourages her to excel. Hastigan gets a thrill when she hears the crowd go wild after shooting a buzzer shot, and she states that the feeling is almost indescribable. Hastigan was also overjoyed when she won a three-point contest in Las Vegas, winning the event for her team. This dedicated basketball player loves to play basketball in general, as any sport is fulfilling when you have the skills to play well.

Jessica Brower

Jessica Brower has been a passionate basketball player since the third grade and now enjoys playing for Valencia High School's Junior Varsity Team as a junior. Brower feels that the other girls on the team are like her sisters because they are all able to be themselves. Coach Skip has been the most influential to her because he believes in her ability to be a great player and gave her a chance to shine on the court. Brower will never forget when she scored ten points in the game against Saugus, all in one quarter. Basketball now consumes most of Brower's life, yet she still manages to make time to hang out with her friends. Thanks to her father, Brower has developed an everlasting love for basketball.

Conquering Burbank. Nerida Peever chooses her path of distraction at the game against Hart on February 8th.

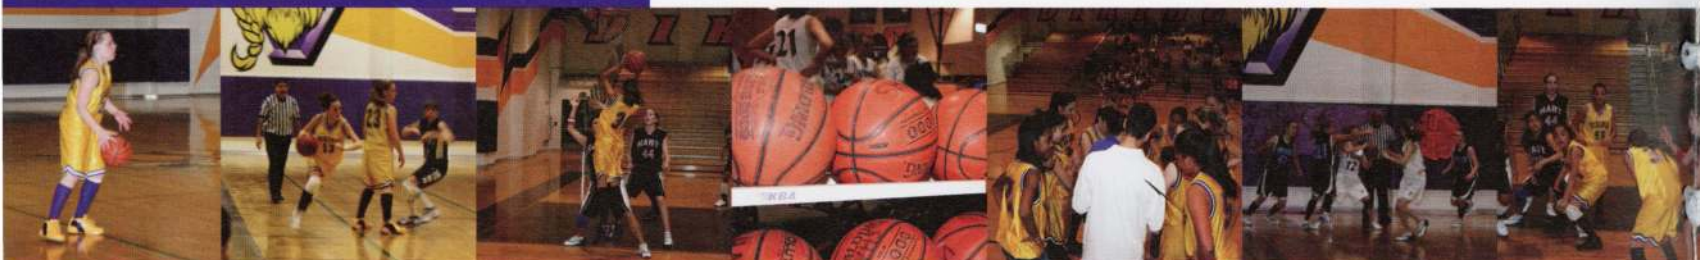

Rising above. Sara DeMonbrun dominates a Burbank player as she passes the ball to a fellow teammate.

Flying high. Vanessa Hebert prevails over Burbank as she jumps high into the air to score Valencia points.

Smoking the competition. Portia Ignacio smokes Saugus as she jumps high to make the shot.

Teaming up. Lelani Berdardino and Chelsey Hastigan team up to clobber Saugus and win points for Valencia.

Psyched out. Chelsey Hastigan psyches out a Saugus player as she keeps control of the ball while dribbling down the court.

Quick thinking. Jennifer Tisdale and Portio Ignacio race down the court, quick to move the ball to our net.

BOYS' SOCCER

Nicholas Gerardo

Since he was a young boy, Nicholas Gerardo has had only love and passion for soccer. Making the Varsity team without even trying out was an honor, and it helped increase his determination towards the sport. Since the first grade, Gerardo has been playing soccer in California and New Jersey on various club teams. The excitement of making a great one-on-one save has kept him fascinated with this sport. Being on the football team at VHS keeps Gerardo pretty busy with practices everyday, but he still finds time to hit the field for soccer at least three times a week. Gerardo can think back to when he made a game winning save off of a penalty kick in seventh grade. This leads him to say, "The game is most rewarding when you know you've made a difference in the outcome."

Timothy Harmon

What may seem like only a social gathering as a kid, has turned into lifetime memories for Timothy Harmon. Playing soccer for eleven years, it has now become a major hobby as he continues to turn heads. The competition and fast pace of the sport has kept Harmon working out daily to improve his skills. Being a part of the team has taught him the valuable lesson of teamwork, and that he should work hard for everyone's benefit. Continuing to score many goals every game, Harmon loves the feeling that you get when you score, and the chills that run down your body when you hear the crowd yelling your name. Harmon participates in track along with soccer to stay fit and healthy. He will never forget when he broke his collarbone at age twelve, and when he hyper-extended his knee last year. These fallbacks won't get in Harmon's way, as he continues to push himself and not let such small things pull him down.

Get to the ball. Corin Steir jumps up, hoping to head the ball away and prevent the other team from receiving it.

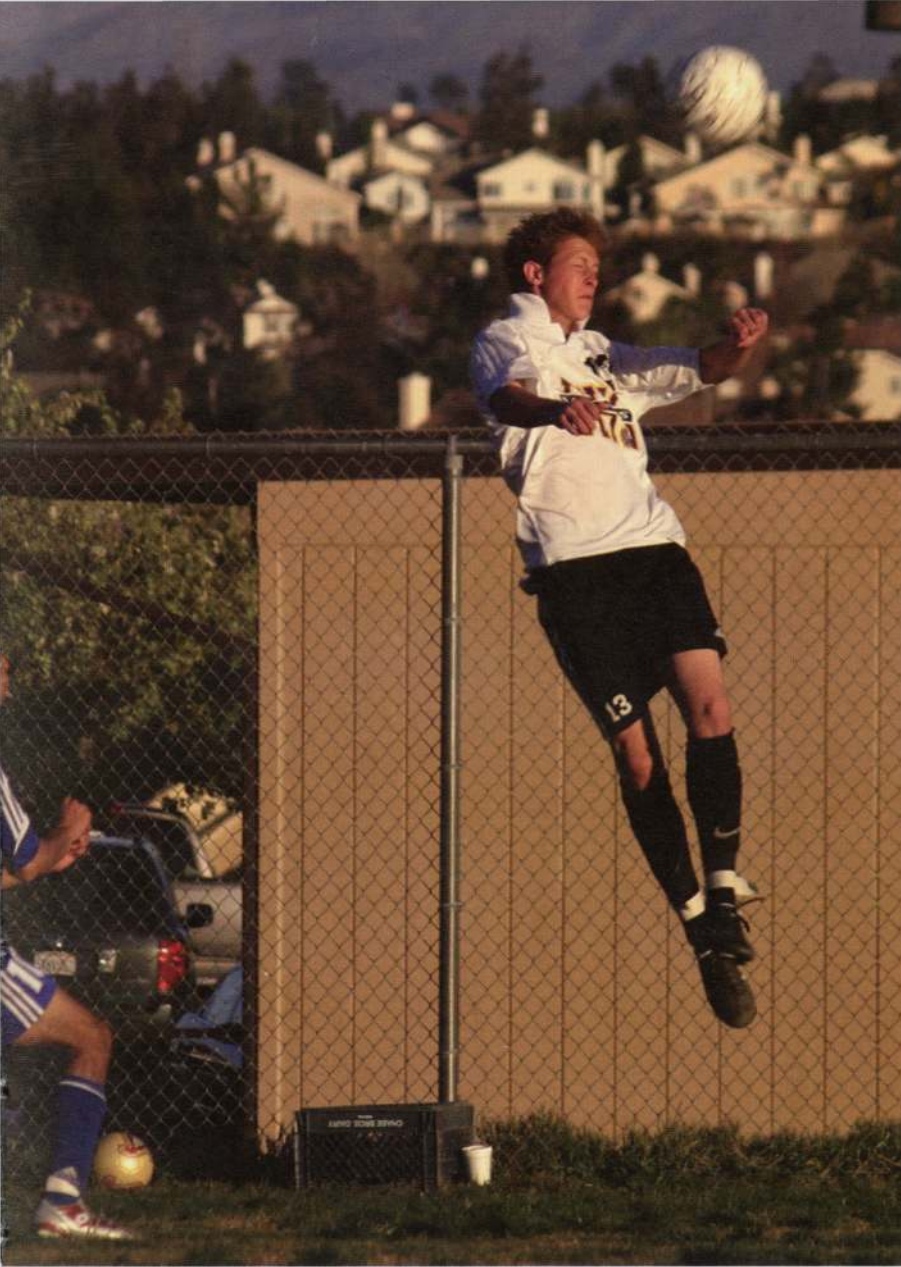

Don't back down. Jonathon Schreiber charges at an opposing Saugus player to obtain the ball and move it up the field.

Juggling. Christopher Koshak moves the ball down the field to the net while keeping it out of reach from the other team.

VARSITY

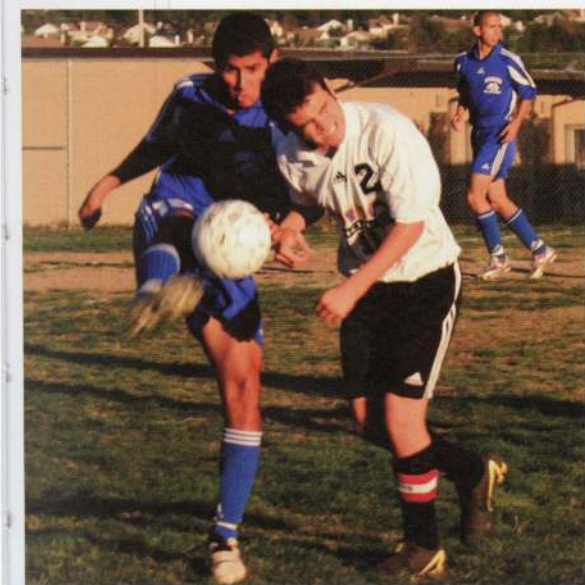

Put a head on it. Craig Jaffe steps up to head the ball back towards the opposite goal to help his forwards score.

Full sprint until the end. Michael Eckelberry sprints towards the goal with the ball before anyone can catch him to stop him.

Shelding. Timmothy Harmon blocks the other team from reaching the ball by instantly stopping and throwing them off.

Heads up. Manuel Pardo tries to get his head on the ball while forcing the Saugus player out of his way.

BOYS' SOCCER

David Kuratomi

David Kuratomi can only thank his father for contributing to his passion for soccer and his encouragement throughout the years. The fast pace and competitiveness of this game continues daily to keep Kuratomi interested and focused on improving his skills. The fact that there are many different tricks that one can do keeps Kuratomi fascinated and pushes himself to do better every time he touches a ball. Kuratomi will never forget the friends he made during the soccer season and will continue to hang out with them even when the season is over. His tournament in Las Vegas was one of the most memorable moments in his soccer career and their overall win there has only inspired him and his teammates to strive for bigger goals.

Inspired by his cousin, Kevin Landefeld started playing soccer at seven years old. Landefeld is proud to represent his school, improve his skills and be a part of a group on the Boy's Freshmen Soccer Team. The adrenaline rush has helped Landefeld to lead the team with great communication skills. Three days a week, for two hours each day, Landefeld puts his heart and soul into every practice that he has in order to improve his skills and push himself to reach big goals. Landefeld will never forget when he broke his ankle during a game but continued to play and score a goal. To this day, Landefeld can still feel the pain in his ankle every so often when walking on it. Kevin Landefeld strives everyday to become a better athlete.

Jump for the stars. Richard Drake jumps into the air to head the ball towards the goal before Burbank can get to it.

It's a race. Daniel Guzman races to the ball in hopes he can direct it toward his forwards.

Quick, get rid of it. Kyle Whiteley kicks the ball with all his might to get it out of the opposing team's defensive zone.

Determination. Michael Murdock flies past opposing Hart players while moving towards the goal with determination to give his forwards a perfect pass.

JUNIOR VARSITY/FROSH

GIRLS' SOCCER

Adrianna Hermosillo

As a little girl, Adrianna Hermosillo would watch her father play soccer. His immense love for the sport inspired her to begin playing the game at the age of five. Hermosillo decided to try out for the high school team because she wanted to represent her school while playing a sport that she loves. Hermosillo admits that soccer is her favorite sport because it is a both physical and mental game. The competition is most rewarding when she accomplishes the goals that she sets for herself before each game. Being a part of a team has provided Hermosillo with leadership skills, mental toughness and the ability to be a team player. With all the time she spends on the field, it wasn't a surprise when she fractured her left cheekbone. Recovering from the injury, Hermosillo quickly rebuilt her confidence and continues to excel today.

Ashlei James

Extremely happy to have reached a goal that she had been striving for, Ashlei James is proud to say that she is on Valencia's girl's varsity soccer team. Even though this team practices every day of the week, James continues to strive as she works out on her own and with a trainer on the weekends as well. James has been involved in this sport since she was six years old and wouldn't be where she is today without past coaches, Michelle Loucks, Joel Govea and Scott Christie. Playing soccer not only taught James to work together with others to accomplish goals but helped her to make many unforgettable memories and friends. She will never forget when she went in for a header and hit heads with another player and woke up the next morning with a huge bump on her head and a black eye. James' willpower and love for this sport will help her get far in her career as she continues to show leadership and strength on the field.

Quick get away. Kierra Scalerio flies past a Burrough's player to get the ball out of the defensive zone.

Put some power behind that ball. Mackenzie Bear sends the ball out of her defensive zone to prevent any chances of the other team obtaining it.

Reach for it. Kyle Schnurr stretches out to narrow the amount of space the Saugus player has to send the ball to her teammate.

Making quick decisions. Ashlei James decides where to put the ball before the Burroughs player can take it away.

• VARSITY

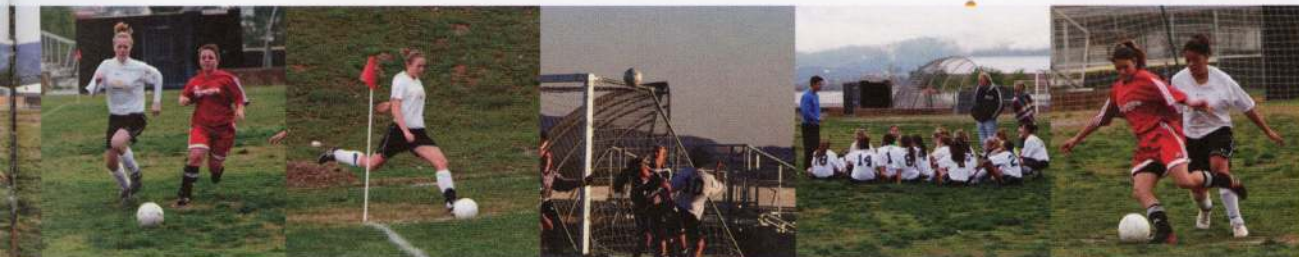

Do anything to get that ball. Adrianna Hermosillo pushes her way to the ball to clear it out and pass it up the field.

Send the ball down the field. Laura Gingrich quickly gets the ball away from Burbank while kicking it high in the air down the field.

Put a head on it. Kaitlyn Hollister jumps into the ball off of a corner kick, in hopes that she can direct it towards the goal.

GIRL'S SOCCER

Jessica Whitman

Junior Jessica Whitman did not realize that what started as just a sport to play, in which her brother and friends also participated, would soon turn into a talent.

Coming into high school, Whitman felt it was the natural thing to try out for the team, seeing as she had played for such a long time before. When she made the JV team as only a freshman, she was thrilled. Whitman feels most rewarded when she's completed a play or when others can see she has played her best. The intense feeling she gets to beat and play out her competition pushes her to succeed. While soccer is the only sport that Whitman is active in at school, she also loves to surf because it is calming, relaxing and intense. Whitman will never regret trying out for the sport because not only has it made her that much more of a strong and determined person, but it has helped her gain life long friends.

Crystal Koshak

With her friends along side, Crystal Koshak pushes herself each and every day to become a better soccer player for VHS's Freshmen Soccer Team. After trying many sports, Koshak found that only soccer interests her, which is one reason why she is still on the field today. As winning and working hard is her favorite part of this sport, Koshak can still say that so far she has not been severely injured while playing. Koshak has kept interest in the sport because of the feeling that winning gives her. She participates in soccer to keep her on her toes and interested in the sport. Koshak is proud to be known as a major aspect to this year's Girl's Freshmen Soccer Team.

Full sprint ahead. JV player Monique Delacruz sprints up the field to keep away from Burroughs as she tries to send the ball to her forwards.

Man on from behind. Ashley Henderson leans in to steal the ball away unexpectedly from Saugus in a JV game.

Here we go ladies. Freshmen Team's Markie Bear puts all of her power and concentration into kicking a perfect corner kick.

Quick attack. Freshman player Danielle Jiminez sends the ball out of their defensive zone in order to keep Hart from attacking their goal and to get the ball moving the other direction on the field.

Watch out for flying feet. Alma Melchor attacks the ball while dodging a Hart Frosh player to avoid getting kicked and continue to play without getting injured.

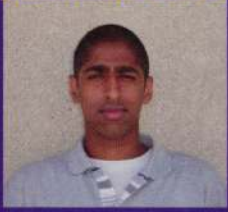

Juggling. JV's Hannah Crocco moves the ball in and out of the opposing Hart team to move the ball towards the goal.

BOYS' TENNIS

John Joseph

Senior John Joseph began playing tennis with his father when he was six years old. Playing for a running total of ten years, Joseph now knows that the most important thing to do while playing tennis is to focus at all times, because if you lose focus, you can't be consistent. His most memorable moment occurred last year, when they beat Burbank to clinch the league championship. For Joseph, the game is more rewarding when the team wins as a whole because you feel that you have helped to accomplish a greater goal. Off of the tennis court, Joseph plays poker and basketball, and he follows professional sports. He does not plan to play tennis after high school because his experience playing for the high school team has been so great, that he fears any other tennis would not live up to it.

William Spaniel

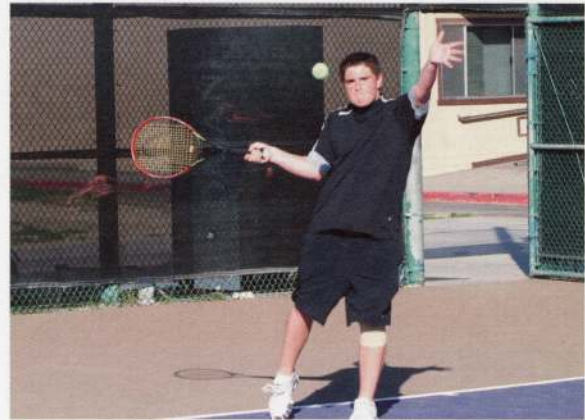

William Spaniel is an intelligent member of the Boy's Varsity Tennis Team. Though he initially tried out only because all of his friends were, his feelings quickly changed after he was cut from the team his freshman year. This incident did not stop him from succeeding, and the following year Spaniel tried out and made the team. Using both his sophomore and junior years to improve, he is now the team captain. Spaniel holds his racket differently than anyone he knows. His strategy is to simply get the ball back, so he can hold his racket in a way that he can get more backspin on it. Spaniel says the game is most rewarding when you win a game that nobody expected you to, simply by out-thinking your opponent. Spaniel believes that to be successful, you must use your athleticism. He would like to tell all young athletes to never stop trying.

Is it in you? Bryan O'Rourke takes a swing at the ball, hoping to hit it perfectly over the net while playing singles.

Is that all you got? Tosh Sivertsen reaches to back hand the ball to keep it in play while playing doubles against Crescenta Valley.

I'm going to get you. Justin Oh runs across the back of the court to backhand the ball over the net.

Just a little bit closer. Kevin Song reaches to the ball to make the game winning hit.

Got you now. JV tennis player Jacob Park stretches forward to make an outstanding save in order to keep the ball in play.

Victory is sweet. Spencer Greenberg reaches high into the air to get a soaring ball and keep it in play.

GIRL'S TENNIS

Allyn Westover

Allyn Westover has been involved in tennis for five years. She first started taking lessons through Parks and Recreation in the eighth grade and has continued to play throughout her high school career. Coach Kellogg has been her main inspiration because she has taught Westover more than just how to play tennis. In addition to succeeding on the court, Westover succeeds in school, as she is on the honor roll here at VHS and has been a member of CSF and NHS for multiple years. Westover looks forward to attending a four-year college and pursuing a teaching career. When she is not in school, at work or at tennis practice, Westover is usually spending time with her friends. With the support of her mom, step-mom, friends, and teammates, she continues to excel in tennis and school. For Westover, tennis has been the most thrilling experience of her high school career.

Chandra Kawewat

Chandra Kawewat has been involved in tennis for about five years. Since Kawewat has been on the Varsity Tennis Team, she has learned that it is most important to remain focused while playing. After high school, she plans on playing tennis just for fun. Before each match, Kawewat and the other tennis members make sure to practice for a couple of extra hours. Allyn Westover, her teammate, inspires her because she is a hard-worker who never gives up. Kawewat enjoys being Monique Palmera's doubles partner since she makes the game more exciting. Kawewat once injured her ankle while jumping for a volley, twisting it as she landed. She has also popped her shoulder during a serve. Her advice to other young athletes is, "Enjoy each season while it lasts, as the years fly by and the experience is unforgettable."

Just a little closer. As the ball reaches Junior Varsity tennis player Courtney Kaska, she tries to hit the ball and score.

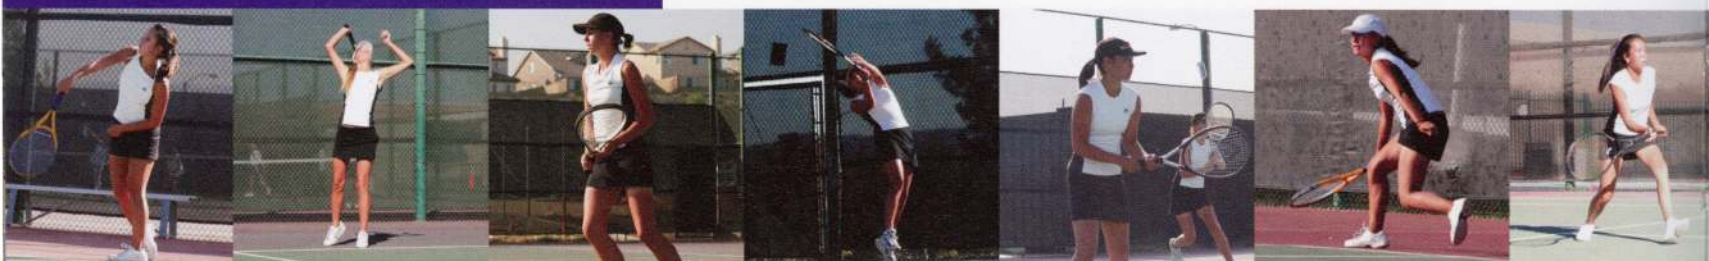

Trading Spaces. Doubles partners, Alexandria Bonnette and Christina Baltes take advantage of their break between points to discuss their game plan.

Are you ready for this? Varsity player Michelle Stock waits for the ball to come to her.

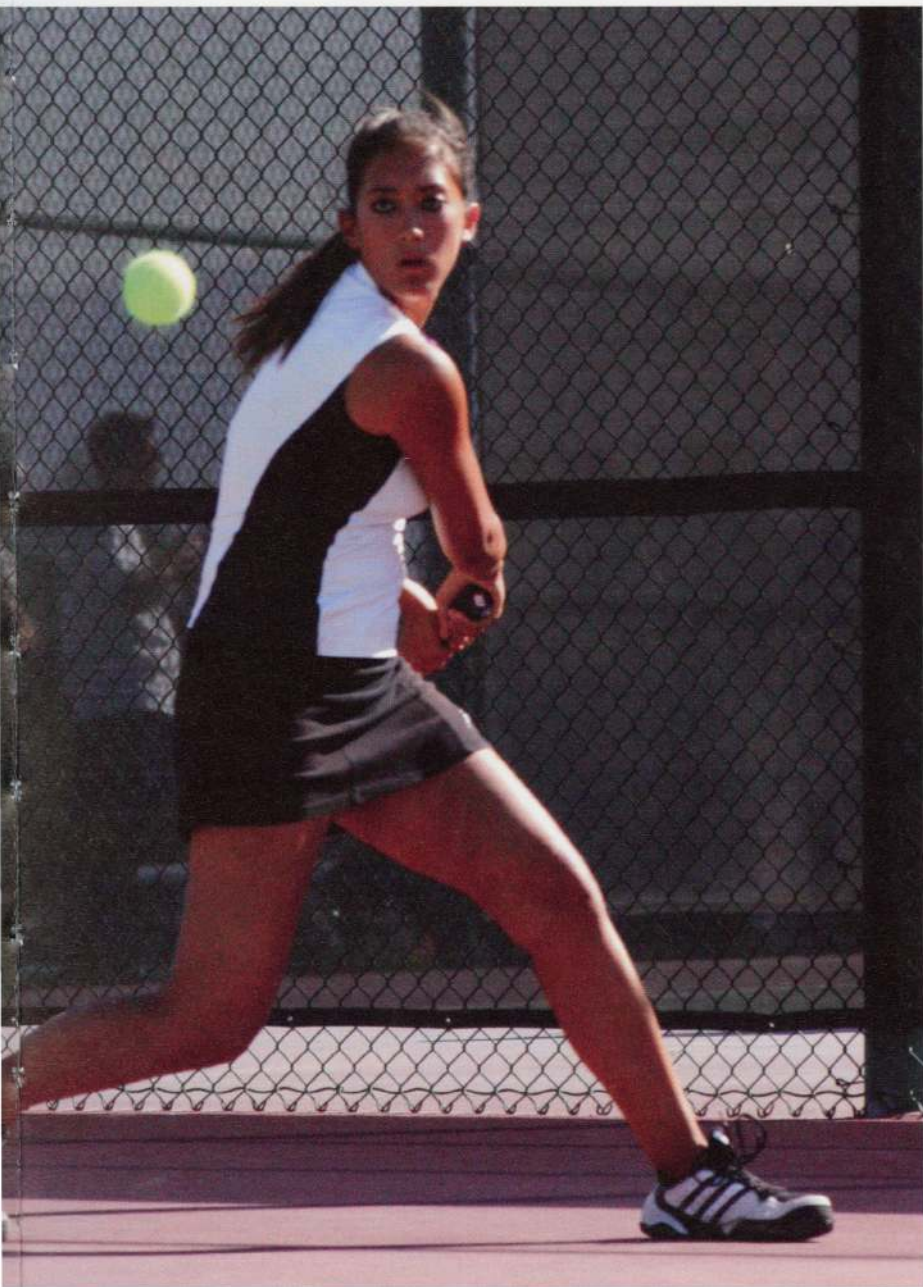

Here it goes. Cassandra Strange stands ready to hit the ball in response to her opponent.

I think we can win. Kristen Choi and Carissa Eisler prepare for their successful game against Hart.

Bop it. Jayme Friedman eagerly swings her racket to force the ball across the court.

Jump start. As she jumps to hit the ball, Varsity player Alessandra Horii prepares to hit the ball over the net and score against Burbank.

GOLF

Casey Ceman

Casey Ceman became interested in golf because he has several family members who play the sport. After playing five years competitively, he admits the competition is what has kept him interested. Ceman has golfed a total of ten years, and he believes that the worst conditions that he ever played in occurred this past season. Despite the harsh wind and rain, he played one of his best matches of the year. Playing in high school has allowed Ceman to compete with other schools and make friends with people he would have never met if he didn't participate in the sport. He loves preparing for matches with his teammates and getting to know people from all over Southern California. For college, Ceman would like to play golf and attend either UCSD or UC Berkeley. He plans to major in business, and then go to graduate school following his first four years of schooling. Ceman also looks forward to spending a year abroad in Italy.

Stevy Loy began her golfing career only three years ago during the summer of her freshman year. She is grateful that she became involved in golf because it has improved her personality, communication skills and ability to focus. Loy feels that by being familiar with her fellow team members' personalities, the girls can play off of each other's strengths and weaknesses. Loyonce had to tee off in the dense fog at Torrey Pines Golf Course for Callaway Junior Worlds. It was the first hole, a long par five, and it was so foggy that the course was not even visible. Fortunately, this hindrance did not discourage her or her teammates. This year was the first year that the team earned the Foothill League title. As high school goes on, Loy continues to excel in both the classroom and on the fairway.

It don't mean a thing if it aint got that swing. With grace and accuracy, Junior Michelle Mannix watches her ball fly towards the green.

Going, going, gone. Kevin Landefeld makes a perfect swing at the ball while opposing Burroughs players watch.

Ready, aim, fire. Andrea Ferris watches the ball that she just launched down the runway.

Follow through. Michael Hart follows his shot through with a perfect finish.

Going, going, gone. On a low par hole, Stevy Loy fires her ball toward the fairway.

A perfect hit. Corey Lind hits at the ball down the course while hoping he can get the ball close to the hole.

Swing, swing. After taking all external factors into account, Kristen Tayo sends her golf ball down the course.

DANCE

Melanie Howe

Melanie Howe has been dancing since she was five years old. Now, as a senior on the Valencia High School Dance Team, she practices at least thirteen hours a week, not including competitions and extra rehearsals.

Her favorite genre of dance is lyrical, which is a combination of jazz and ballet. To Howe, the most rewarding part about being on the Dance Team is getting to share her passion for dance with many other girls who have become her second family. Howe's most embarrassing dance moment was when she fell during her solo at a competition. Her adrenaline was so high that she kicked her leg too hard, causing her bottom leg to slip. Howe's advice to future Dance Team members is to cherish the time you have with the people on the team. "High school goes by so fast. There is nothing I would have rather done then spend the last four years with you girls."

Amanda Mezo

At the age of three, Amanda Mezo fell in love with the art of dancing. Since then she has always enjoyed performing for others. When she first began, Mezo had trouble learning, as it takes time to become flexible and develop your muscles. Being on the Valencia High School Dance Team has allowed her to compete and perform with a talented group of dancers. It has also led her to be more involved in school activities and have more school spirit. Dance has taught Mezo how to step up as a leader in a group and how to focus on more than one thing at a time. She admires the fact that the girls on the team can make her laugh and just have fun dancing. Usher and his performers inspire Mezo because they always seem well rehearsed. Besides being involved in the Dance Team, Mezo practices and performs with Valencia's Co-ed Hip-Hop team.

Make a funny face. After the first half of the football game against Burroughs, Brandyn Castro and Alexandra Mezo perform their difficult hip-hop routine.

Work it. Alexandra Mezo and Riley Bennet give up their Friday night to dance at the game against Canyon in November.

And walk, two, three, four. Brandyn Castro gives 100% effort in dancing for the crowd at the Saugus football game.

Shake it. Melanie Howe and Amanda Skorniakoff lead the team in a performance at the game against Notre Dame.

I can move it like this. Claire Beaumont and Marissa Velasquez shake it on the football field during half time in the game against Notre Dame.

Break it down now. The Valencia High School Dance Team performs their hip-hop number for an outdoor rally.

Christopher Clinkscales

Christopher Clinkscales has been swimming ever since the first grade, when he lived in Venezuela. Although Clinkscales swims the butterfly, backstroke, freestyle, medley and freestyle relays, he loves freestyle the most because it is short and sweet. The best part of being involved in swim, Clinkscales says, is that he is able to stay in shape. Clinkscales always looks forward to swim meets because of the competition and social interaction. Besides committing all of his afternoons to swim practice and meets with the Valencia Swim Team, Clinkscales is also involved in Canyon's Aquatic Varsity Swim program. In addition to swim, this dedicated student is interested in history, archeology, music and foreign culture.

Sara Peever

A talented senior at our school, Sara Peever has been swimming competitively for six years. Participating in the 50 freestyle, 200 freestyle, 100 butterfly and relays, it's impossible for her to pick a favorite event. Peever is inspired by all of her teammates in different ways, and she considers her friends to be her good luck charms. Peever loves the adrenaline rush she gets when she's about to dive into the water during a relay or an individual race because everyone is screaming and cheering. She will never forget the time when an official fell into the pool at the League Finals her junior year. Besides swim, Peever participates in a game similar to basketball, called netball. In this game, you are not allowed to dribble the ball, and there isn't a backboard. She is proud to play for the U.S.A.'s Under 21 National Netball team.

Push it. Christopher Clinkscales swiftly swims in the 200 Individual Medley Relay against Quartz Hill.

Splish splash. Eric Malmquist dives into the Santa Clarita pool to swim the 200 Medley Relay with his teammates.

Take a deep breath. Laura Taylor swims a 50 breaststroke and takes the lead against Highland for Valencia at the Santa Clarita Pool.

A close race. Enoch Kim swims the breaststroke during the 200 yard medley relay against Highland and helped the relay take first place.

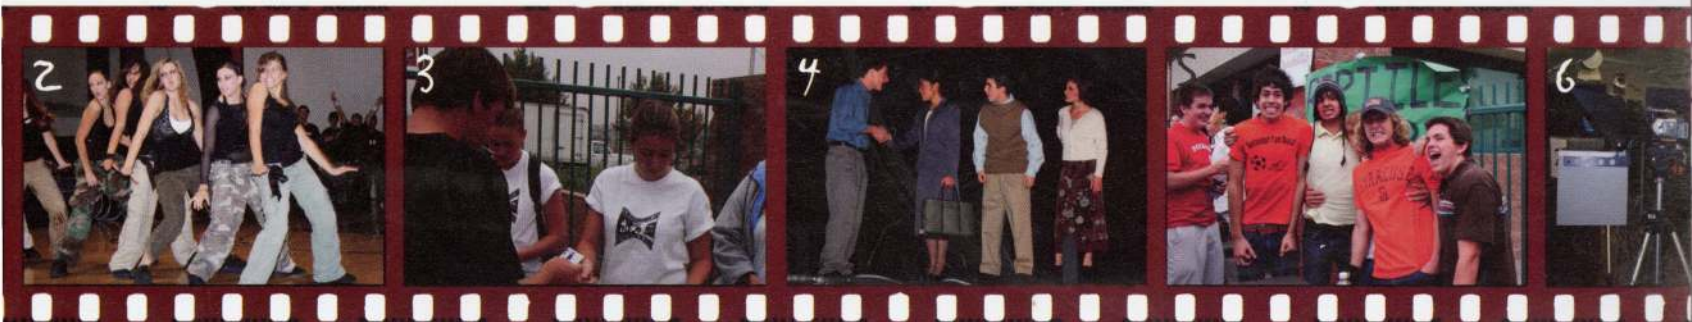

Stick straight. Melanie Teichner does a perfect streamline while diving into the heated Santa Clarita pool during a warm up before the first meet against Highland High School.

Meet One Couple Who Is Rooted in the Community

Santa Clarita's own Terri & Wade Reynolds bring A World of Experience to real estate.

Terri & Wade Reynolds have lived everywhere from Atlanta to Argentina, but to this dynamic couple, there's no place quite like home. As proud Santa Clarita Valley residents, Terri & Wade Reynolds love everything about this wonderful part of the world. After meeting in Southern California many years ago and traveling the world for business, when it came time to settle down, Terri & Wade knew exactly where they were headed.

Today, as a leading real estate team serving the Santa Clarita Valley, you can sense the pride with which they serve their clients from the moment you meet them. It's this passion for the area, combined with years of business experience and friendly, outgoing personalities, that make Terri & Wade the best choice for all your real estate needs. "We love this community and consider it a privilege to help our friends and neighbors with such a significant part of their lives," Wade says.

When the time comes for your next move, put A World of Experience on your side. Call Terri & Wade Reynolds today to schedule a complimentary private consultation.

My dearest Roy & Floyd,
 Coming into high school, I was naive, and truly thought I was ready to take on the world - jump to college, and skip this so-called "high school process." But over the years, your friendships have kept me grounded - and i cringe and CRY (of course) at the idea of us having to go our separate ways eventually. The two of you have done so much for me, and I am eternally grateful. Remember to always aim high and strive, the both of you will go so , so far. Though we won't always be physically close enough to see Roy's many facial expressions, Floyd's...awkward tendencies, and my constant crying...know that I love you both, and always will...

Kirsten

Dearest Floyd & Kirsten,
 Potato tree forever! I can't thank you two enough for everything you have done for me. I'm so blessed to have two friends who I can depend on so much. I love that we can finish each other's sentences and be comfortable around each other (we can talk about any topic...haha.). Although we'll probably end up in different places, I can guarantee that our friendships are strong enough to overcome anything that stands in our way. You are both so sweet and intelligent and I wish you both lives full of health, happiness, and success. I'll never forget going to UCLA together, concerts, spending Valentine's day together, being the only ones laughing in the theatre, and getting ready for parties together. You two will always hold very special places in my heart. Thank you for making my high school years so memorable. Congratulations! Best of luck! Live life to the fullest & don't take anything for granted. You both are beautiful people and I love you two so much!

Roya

Dear Janet & Krissie,
 Who would have thought that a potato tree could make us grow closer than ever? I guess what I'm trying to get at is that you two have been like guardian angels, guiding me through life's sometimes unforgiving moments. The memories of our wacky adventures to UCLA and the times when neither of us could stop laughing about air bubbles will stay with me forever. Now that it's time to graduate and move onto wherever life takes us, I know that there is nothing that could ever make me forget you two. I pray for the best. I L-O-V-E you guys like a fat kid love cake. Maybe one day we'll read all the jokes we've written down in our notebooks. The sky will always & forever be blue.

Zach Legreid, a sophomore at Valencia High School, was killed while riding his bike to the mall the evening of October 1, 2004. Zach will always be remembered for the things he taught us during his 15 years of life-to smile, to love, to laugh and to hope. He wanted to attend the University of Kansas after he graduated high school and then become a sports writer or broadcaster. While these dreams will go unfulfilled, the dreams he had for his friends at Valencia High School can still come true.

Zach spent a lot of time listening to the group Modest Mouse. One of the songs he played most often -- "One Chance" -- is especially meaningful to those of us who knew him, because Zach took his "one chance" and we think he got it right.

*We have one chance.
One chance to get everything right.
We have one chance,
One chance.
And if we're lucky we might.
My friends, my habits, my family,
They mean so much to me...*

why purple?

Have you ever really looked at the index? Sure, you flipped through it. But did you really look? Using purple was our attempt to make you, the yearbook reader, look twice. We took advantage of the first color yearbook to spice up this under appreciated, yet vital list. Seniors are in purple. So, look again. Hours of work, and four people went into these 30 pages. Years from now, you can browse through these pages to find the people from your past. Feel free to look twice, we hope the purple helps.

Disclaimer: This index isn't perfect, but then again what is?

Thanks to all the staff who let us trample through their classrooms as well as responded to our emails. Your effort and concern means a lot. Thanks to all those in the office who helped us get the information and resources that we needed including Dr. Priesz, the assistant principals, the registrars, the counseling office and the ASB office; a special thanks to Mrs. Yagmur for checking all our beautiful pages, dealing with our run on sentences and getting us our computers. Thanks to our Jostens representatives Nadya and Brian Partridge and Jostens tech support, especially Mike and Rick. Thanks to O'Connor for being at the games, helping us take the best pictures and running over CDs; thanks Miguel, Dan, Richard and Ali. Thanks to Mr. Rosenast and Mrs. Curran for emotional support. Thanks to Shea Hawton for making us all of our yearbook shirts. A super special thanks to Lee Perillo for helping with the index because without him there wouldn't have been one, purple! Yearbook takes a lot of time and effort, especially with the small staff of eight. A special thanks to Leta and Mary Fritz and Allison and Jim Shiraishi for their over and above dedication. Oh yeah, and Jake Dollman.

-Sarah Prieto

After four sixteen hour days, the yearbook was sent early Wednesday morning. Where were you on your spring break? We were in yearbook!
